General Dentz Agrees To Negotiate According To England's Plan

EXPECT FREE FRENCH TO BE GIVEN RIGHT TO RULE

Matters Discussed Of 'Military Rather Than Political Importance'

CAIRO, July 12.—(AP)—British troops ceased firing in Syria today and began to negotiate an armistice on British terms with the Vichy forces of Migh Commissioner General Henri High Commissioner General Henri

Tonight, between hushed battle lines, the British-Free French and the Vichy military men were making satisfactory progress in their talks, a British Middle-Eastern communique said. Some details remained to be settled, it was stated. Meanwhile, hostilities continued suspended.

But within a few hours after Syrian hostilities ended, German bombers served explosive notice that Britain would have to fight to keep her Middle-East foothold. A German raid on the vital Suez Canal route for American aid caused "some material damage," an Egyptian communique acknowledged.

Shooting in the war which started June 8 ended at midnight, a Middle-East communique announced, "after General Dentz agreed to negotiate on our own terms for suspension of hostilities." The French commander's hands had been freed by the Vichy government, although it previously rejected the British terms.

A French delegation crossed the British lines under a flag of truce this morning and met the British delegation at Acre (Biblical Galilee) in Palestine. A statement that discussions were of "military rather than political importance" indicated the Vichy forces would be required to submit to Free-French occupation rule in Syria, as British armistice terms had demanded.

52 In District Of Columbia Held For Excessive Use Of Fuel

WASHINGTON, July 12.—(AP)—Fifty-two District of Columbia motorists received today a sample of what may be in store for automobile drivers throughout the East due to the shortage of gasoline in this area.

Their exhausts were fuming at such a rate as to indicate excessive use of the fuel. They were escorted to police headquarters, and there some of the drivers did a little personal fuming, while their cars were inspected.

A special testing device showed that 50 of the automobiles were using excessive quantities of gasoline. "Red stickers" were issued against their operators and they were given 10 days in which to make mechanical adjustments. No defect was found in two of the cars.

It was all a part of a campaign by Interior Secretary Ickes, the defense petroleum coordinator, against waste of gasoline. He announced this week that he would ask officials of eastern states and cities to arrest drivers for using what he described as "oil-burner cars" and for making "jack-rabbit" starts.

ECUADOR ACCEPTS TRIPARTITE OFFER

QUITO, Ecuador, July 12.—(AP)—Ecuador tonight announced acceptance of a tripartite neutral offer of good offices in this country's boundary dispute with Peru, which recently led to sporadic border clashes.

The Ecuadorean foreign office communicated this government's decision to the envoys of the United States, Argentina and Brazil, which had offered July 9 to cooperate in an effort to reach a peaceful solution of the century-old controversy.

(In Lima, an official spokesman said the impression prevailed in high official circles that Peru would accept the plan provided it is offered as good offices and not as mediation.)

The tripartite proposal, among other things, would provide for establishment of a "safety zone" 30 kilometers (18.6 miles) deep along the present disputed frontier.

$25,000,000 Pipeline From Monroe Planned

Will Be Constructed By Hope Company To Southern West Virginia

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., July 12.—(AP)—A $25,000,000 pipeline, running 826 miles from the heart of the Louisiana gas fields to southern West Virginia, will be constructed by the Hope Natural Gas company, officials announced today.

The line, representing the largest lump expenditure by the big West Virginia gas concern since its establishment in 1898, will start at Monroe, La., and end at the Cornwell compressor station about 20 miles north of Charleston.

At that point, the line will connect with the Hope's main distribution system.

Officials of Hope Natural Gas, which is a subsidiary of Standard Oil of New Jersey, said plans for the gas line call for laying of a steel pipe 20 inches in diameter with a cover 24 inches in diameter.

Starting at Monroe, the big line will go through a corner of Arkansas, cross the Mississippi river near Greenville, Miss., pass through Tennessee about 15 miles from Nashville, through Kentucky about five miles from Lexington, through West Virginia about five miles south of Huntington and five miles north of Charleston to the Cornwell station.

Compressor stations will be built at intervals of about 150 miles. The gas brought from the Louisiana fields will be sent to the Hope distribution sys-

NEW REFORM ACT RULING IS ASKED

Court Requested To Reverse Decision Or Clarify It Fully

NEW ORLEANS, July 12.—(AP)—The state today asked the supreme court to reverse—or at least explain the full implication of—its June 30 decision nullifying the reorganization amendment, a main prop in Governor Sam Jones' "reform" plant to streamline the state government.

A petition for a rehearing in the case, filed by the office of Attorney General Eugene Stanley, declared that until such clarification is forthcoming the functions of the state government may be hampered and confused.

Three alternatives were offered in the petition but all revolved around act 384 of 1940, the reorganization amendment itself, and act 47 of 1940 which sets up the reorganization machinery.

The "streamlined" 20 departments of government provided in act 384 are likewise provided for in act 47. The high court has declared the former unconstitutional but has not yet acted upon the latter, although District Judge James D. Womack in Baton Rouge has declared it invalid.

Appeal from Womack's ruling was taken to the supreme court but so far no date has been set for hearing. Womack also had declared act 384 invalid and was upheld by the supreme court ruling last month.

The petition declared:

"Unless and until this honorable court passes on the validity and constitutionality of act 47 there will continue to exist confusion, uncertainty and doubt as to the legal effects resulting from the judgment rendered in this case which will in all probability seriously interfere with the orderly functioning and operation of the government of the state.

"Because of these complexities, interferences and uncertainties, and the confusion that will result therefrom, this court should grant a rehearing in order that its decrees may be clarified by proper order and per

Merchants Plan Biggest July Sales In History

Starting tomorrow and lasting through Saturday, a Twin City-wide July summer clearance sale of merchandise will be conducted in Monroe and West Monroe sponsored by the retail merchants' division of the Chamber of Commerce, of which David C. Silverstein is chairman.

Mr. Silverstein has named the following committee to direct the week's sales: H. J. Barham, chairman, manager of Montgomery Ward and Company; A. M. Jones, manager of W. T. Grant Company; H. E. Winger, manager of Frank's Smart Shoes; H. R. Arlig, cashier at Hunt and Whitaker; M. Glazer, manager of Style Shop, and Joe F. Smith, manager of Smith's Men's Store, West Monroe.

Merchants insist that the public can buy for less at this sale for bargains such as never before given will be the regular thing and advance indications are that a new high record for sales and for the giving of substantial values will result.

The business houses of Monroe and West Monroe want to see cash and a dollar bill will buy a surprising amount of merchandise, for stocks must be cleared out to make room for fall goods. There will be six big days and those who come early will be well repaid for their efforts.

The public will come by bus, by plane, by train and by private cars, according to advance information, and everybody will get plenty of bargains.

Store managers confessed Saturday that they had never, in all their experience here, cut prices to such a low level as they are to do this coming week, but the goods on their shelves must be moved, for in a few days the largest fall supply of merchandise that has been bought for years will begin to arrive.

The advice to one and all, old and young, is to come to the Twin Cities and take advantage of bargains that will send each and every purchaser away happy at his good fortune in the making of shrewd purchases.

HIT-RUN DRIVER ARRESTED HERE

Miss Thelma Ryals Of Crossett, Ark., Admits Striking Soldier

The hit and run driver who injured seriously a visiting Camp Claiborne soldier here Thursday night was identified early yesterday as Miss Thelma Ryals, about 20, of Crossett, Ark., according to Acting Police Chief B. L. Brantley.

Victim of the traffic accident was Corporal Rip Smith, a member of the 151st engineers regiment, which was visiting in Monroe while executing a training problem. He suffered a compound fracture of both major bones of his leg leg, a severe blow on the head and muitiple lacerations of the face. After treatment at St. Francis Sanitarium here, Corporal Smith was removed Friday afternoon to the base hospital at Camp Claiborne.

Miss Ryals was arrested about 3 a.m. Saturday at 416 Wood street here after a search that led investigating officers to Crossett and El Dorado, Ark., and back again, Chief Brantley stated. Charges against the girl included reckless driving, causing personal injury, failure to stop at the scene of an accident and failure to report an accident. She was released after posting $500 bond.

In a semi-hysterical condition, Miss Ryals accompanied officers to the police station and admitted that she was the driver of the car which struck the soldier, Chief Brantley said. The girl told police that two soldiers were crossing the street, and that she tried to dodge one and hit the other, according to the chief. Terrified, she fled the scene of the accident and was afraid to return or report the occurrence, Miss Ryals related at headquarters, Chief Brantley stated.

The arrest was made after investigating officers pieced together meager clues that sent them on the Arkansas trail. From information secured by Patrolman E. N. LeVasseur, Sergeant Louis Meek of the city police and Sergeant Omar Muckelroy of the state police, the girl was apprehended. They were accompanied by Captain Fred Hunt, Jr., in charge of one company of the visiting military men.

The accident occurred early Thursday at the intersection of DeSiard and Ninth streets. The car which struck Corporal Smith was driving west on DeSiard, threw the youth several feet in front, ran across the body, swerved into a parked car and sped away, according to the report of investigating police.

The 22-year-old soldier, a native of Hartsell, Ala., is stationed with company C of the first battalion of the engineers regiment.

HOLLAND PLANS TO LEAVE CENTENARY

SHREVEPORT, La., July 12.—(AP)—C. O. Holland, executive vice-president of Centenary college for the past three years, announced tonight that he will leave Centenary next month.

Mr. Holland said he planned to leave the college "sometime in August" to return to Minden, La., to open a general insurance business. He has not yet tendered his resignation to the board of directors.

Two months ago announcement was made of the resignation of Dr. Pierce Cline, president of Centenary since 1933, and Mr. Holland. Neither resignation was accepted by the board.

Paul M. Brown, chairman of the board, at that time defined Mr. Holland's powers as "full charge of business and financial affairs of Centenary."

Prior to January 1, 1938, Mr. Holland was president of the People's Bank of Minden.

SEVERAL OPPOSE LEGISLATION TO HOLD TRAINEES

Drastic Overhauling Of War Department-Sponsored Plan Seen

Says This Would Help To Increase Regular Army Enlistments

WASHINGTON, July 12.—(AP)—Suggestions developed in the senate today for drastic overhauling of war department-sponsored legislation to retain selective service trainees in the army beyond one year and to lift the ban against sending them outside the western hemisphere.

Chairman Reynolds, Democrat, North Carolina, told reporters he would ask the senate military affairs committee to start hearings on the measure next Wednesday.

Although he introduced the legislation at the war department's request, Reynolds made clear he did not favor it in its present form.

"When I voted for the draft act," Reynolds declared, "I did so with the clear understanding that the men would not be sent out of this hemisphere and that they were making a contract with the government to serve for only one year."

As an alternative, Reynolds suggested that selectees might be given "some inducement, perhaps higher pay, to reenlist."

Another to suggest changes was Chairman George, Democrat, Georgia, of the senate foreign relations committee. Telling reporters "that some compromise will be worked out," George suggested a plan whereby selectees could enlist for one, two or three years, in their discretion.

Enlistment of trainees would accomplish the ends of the legislation since there is no restriction on where regular army troops may be sent.

George conceded that his idea might not, however, prove practicable. "Those who enlisted might not be the

$5,000,000 SHIP CHANNEL OPENED

Jones, Making Dedication, Predicts 'New Era' For Lake Charles

LAKE CHARLES, La., July 12.—(AP)—A "new era" for southwest Louisiana was predicted by Governor Sam H. Jones today at ceremonies dedicating Lake Charles' new $5,000,000 ship channel.

Six boats, bearing about 200 persons, formally opened the outlet to the Gulf of Mexico with a round trip down the 41-mile waterway and back, after which a barbecue concluded the celebration.

In an interview, the governor declared the event "opens not only a new waterway, but begins a new era for Lake Charles and southwest Louisiana."

"Naturally I am pleased," he said, "with the completion of the new channel because it means so much to the state and to my own section. On behalf of the state I both congratulate and thank those participating in the movement which made the channel possible."

The governor was not present when the procession left Lake Charles in the morning, but arrived by plane and

BRITISH BOMBINGS EXCEED GERMANY'S

LONDON, July 12.—(AP)—The British air offensive against Germany has reached a point in tonnage of bombs dropped surpassing the heaviest German attacks upon England, it was stated authoritatively today, as the R. A. F. continued its non-stop assaults on the continent.

During June, said a statement, the weight of British bombs dropped on Germany actually exceeded the tonnage dropped on England in April, which it is said the Germans claim as their record month.

Furthermore, the weight of bombs dropped on Germany in July "will be heavier still," it was said.

Last night, raiders flew through a thunderstorm to attack the northwestern German naval base of Wilhelmshaven, the air ministry announced, without losing a plane, and today heavy British bombers roared over northern France and were reported authoritatively to have bombarded railway and canal communications near St. Omer. The southeast England skies were described as being alive with the bombers and escorting fighter planes as unusually heavy forces took part in the attack.

Citizens To Vote On Airport Tax Tuesday

Number Of Leading Residents Give Endorsements Of Proposal

Citizens of Ouachita parish will go to the polls Tuesday to vote on a five-year one-mill tax for the expansion and development of the local airport which will be operated under active management of the parish after August 1.

Polls will be open from 7 a. m. to 5 p. m. Considered one of the most important projects in Ouachita parish, the special election was called by the parish police jury nearly two months ago.

The tax will enable the parish to buy an additional 260 acres of land so the field will meet government size specifications If the tax is approved, the government will spend some $600,000 developing and equipping the airport.

It might not be necessary to expend all of the $200,000 to be netted from the five-year special tax. In that case, only the money needed will be collected. Endorsement of the special tax will, in all probability, gain government approval for the airport for a CAA field.

The expansion of the airport would aid national defense. Field development would save time, fuel, and strain on the CAA students. There would be less hazard for larger planes to land if the field is enlarged.

Army pilots from neighboring military fields would use the improved air field as an intermediary port. Income from the airport under management of the police jury would provide for operation of the field. An improved field would increase revenue from regular traffic and increase private flying.

Captain T. B. Herndon, chief of the aeronautics section of the department of public works, Baton Rouge, said, after surveying the airport here in the interest of national defense, "I wish the airport tax could have been passed a month ago.

"Providing the tax is passed, contributions from federal funds for airport improvement will amount to $575,000. The money will be used for

THINK TAX BILL MAY BE BOOSTED

Mounting Defense Expenditures Make New Levies Necessary

WASHINGTON, July 12.—(AP)—Mounting defense expenditures and smouldering controversies over tentatively-approved new levies led today to capitol talk of further revision of the $3,500,000,000 tax bill.

Ten days ago the house ways and means committee gave preliminary approval to legislation to raise $3,504,400,000, but there were reports that it might be revised materially and its presentation to the house delayed perhaps until August 1.

The tentatively-approved bill is designed to raise $1,154,500,000 additional in individual income taxes, $1,332,000,000 in corporation levies and almost another billion dollars in excise and miscellaneous taxes. It is now in the hands of bill-drafting experts who expect to complete work on it next week.

Because of President Roosevelt's requests in the last two days for more than $8,000,000,000 additional for defense, some committee members predicted that an effort would be made to raise the tax bill's total now, rather than wait until later in the year or even until next year for a new one.

One member said privately that he would renew the periodic attempt that has been made to create a congressional super-budget committee to coordinate the government's expenditures and revenue.

This plan would give a nine-man group veto power over all money bills, which could be overridden only by a two-thirds vote of the house membership of 435.

But Representative Woodrum, Democrat, Virginia, one of the original sponsors of this idea, expressed the opinion that "it is too late to do any-

NO NEW VICTIMS OF CRASH FOUND

Funerals Arranged For Two Youths And Girl Killed By Train

A continued search by members of the American Legion emergency truck until early Saturday morning for other possible victims of the train-automobile wreck at the Renwick street crossing where three met sudden death Friday night failed to reveal that others were in the crash.

Believing that more than three persons, two youths and a girl, were in the automobile that was hit by a southbound Missouri Pacific passenger train, Captain J. W. Faler of the Legion truck and crew began a search through the high grass in the surrounding area.

The dead were Jimmie D. Wilhite, 21, and Charles Herbert Wilhite, 18, both of route 1, West Monroe, sons of Mrs. John W. Wilhite, and Mildred Katherine Morris, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Morris, 1001 South Third street, Monroe.

The automobile was dragged approximately 1,000 feet. The body of Miss Morris was thrown in the ditch about 100 feet from the grade crossing, and that of Charles Herbert Wilhite was thrown beside the tracks, about half the distance that the car was dragged. Jimmie D. Wilhite's body was pinned between the front and rear seats of the crumpled automobile. All were mangled.

They were going to the Monroe-Greenville baseball game when the tragedy occurred. Three cars headed toward the ball park were stopped at the crossing to allow the Gurdon-Monroe train, its locomotive whistle screaming warnings, to pass. The Wilhite car pulled from behind the three autos in front, passed them, and was met by the train at the crossing. There were no signal barriers across the street.

Somewhere between the crossing and the spot where the train was brought to a stop, the automobile motor was knocked clear of the chassis into the ditch. A woman's compact, a man's tie-clasp, evidently

Interpreting The War News: Hitler's Gasoline Engine Missing Fire

By Kirke L. Simpson
(Associated Press Foreign Affairs Writer)

Hitler's gas-engine drive to cut in half Napoleon's 1812 horse-drawn blitzkrieg to Moscow obviously has not been hitting on all cylinders up to date.

Half of his reputed 40-day time schedule for reaching the Russian capital—a march that took Napoleon 90-odd days—has gone by. His fire-breathing tanks, ditch-leaping speed troop chariots, shrieking dive-bombers and terroristic war technique have not yet brought him half way to his goal.

Napoleon found the getting to Moscow relatively easy. It was getting away again that wrecked his army. The Nazi "little corporal" of 1341 must sometimes think of that o' nights at his field headquarters, presumably somewhere in central-eastern Poland.

The 13 weeks it took Napoleon to arrive at Moscow proved to be his undoing. Like Hitler he set out in June. A Russian winter, and an exceptionally bad one at that, caught him in a carefully set Russian trap.

Impossible distances separated his ragged and hungry veterans from supply bases to the westward. Around them lay a "snow-mantled scorched earth" Russia filled with phantom-like guerillas harrying their flanks and outposts night and day. Most of those French troops, as good fighting men as the world produces, died of hunger, cold or Russian attacks before they could back-track to their bloody crossings of the Berezina river, 500 miles from Moscow, at which Hitler's legions are now pounding.

Authoritative tales are beginning to reach this side of the Atlantic from Nazi-conquered France and the low countries, even from Norway and Denmark, indicating the utter reliance the Nazi high command places on its motorized fighting equipment to conquer quickly both the Balkans and Russia. This writer has talked with an eye-witness of the sudden disappearance of thousands of tanks and motor vehicles from German-occupied French cities.

They had been an awe-inspiring symbol of Nazi conquest in French eyes ever since the surrender by the "men of Vichy." Every open market square, public park, vacant lot, golf links or tennis court in this particular Frenchm port city was filled with such equipment. Tanks, trucks, staff cars, motorized guns big and little and all sorts and types of gas-engined war equipment stood endlessly hub to hub in these Nazi military parking lots.

Early in April they began to disappear. Travelers within the occupied regions of southern France who came to town reported passing endless columns puffing and clunking along the roads, trekking northward, not south toward the Spanish border. There was much speculation as to whether an attempted invasion of England was about to be launched.

Events proved it was not, but that Hitler had decided on wars in the east instead. To get eastward from that part of France his forces had to go north first.

Observers in France could make little of it all then. It is now clear, however, that even as early as February or March when he was predicting a spring sea-air victory over England, Hitler actually had thumbed his armies eastward for the Balkan war and his attack on Russia. He raked Nazi armies of occupation elsewhere to provide blitzkrieg material for that, just as events have proved he ordered withdrawal of substantial portions of the luftwaffe from the attack on England.

The Nazi armies battling the Russians have been told that the fate of Hitler's Germany is in their hands. There can be no question about that. And if they cannot soon break the 2,000-mile virtual deadlock with the red army conclusively, far more conclusively than Napoleon did a century and more ago, another western "little corporal" may see his vaulting dreams of world empire shattered amid the swamps and streams and rolling plains of western Russia.

REPORTS FROM 2 NATIONS WIDELY CONTRADICTORY

Reds Report No Important Change Made In 2,000-Mile Front

INTENSIVE PREPARATIONS MADE FOR GERMAN PUSH

Moscow Being Cleared Of Children And Aged; Leningrad Attacked

(By Associated Press)

Germany declared last night that Adolf Hitler's legions had broken the Stalin line "at all decisive points" but Soviet Russia maintained that stubborn fighting had produced no important change on the 2,000-mile front.

Nazi troops have thrust a spearhead more than 125 miles east of Minsk in the drive toward Moscow through the center of the front, the German high command asserted, and "signs of a break-up and dissolution are appearing among numerous enemy units."

Vitebsk, on the Dvina river 300 miles west of Moscow, was taken Friday, the high command said, Germans are advancing toward Leningrad east of Lake Peipus, on the Russian-Estonian frontier, and Nazi legions are "standing close before Kiev," the Ukraine capital.

A markedly different picture was painted in a midnight communique from the Soviet information bureau in Moscow.

It declared stubborn fighting took place Saturday in the Pskov, Vitebsk and Novograd Volynski sectors, but that these engagements produced no important changes in the front.

The German high command's statements were issued in a special communique shortly before midnight, almost at the same time the Moscow war report was made.

In the Ukranian operations, the German high command said "German and Rumanian armies moving out of Moldavia have thrown the enemy back to and over the Dnestr (river) on a broad front."

The break-through east of Minsk was accomplished, it said, by over-

PLANE FERRYING TO BE BIG TASK

Many Yankee Fliers Expected To Convey Bombers To England

WASHINGTON, July 12.—(AP)—Official forecasts of greatly increased airplane production beginning in October were coupled today with indications in authoritative quarters that scores of young American pilots ultimately will engage in ferrying combat craft across the Atlantic to Britain.

For several months airplane production has moved forward at a relatively slow pace. But by October, defense officials say, tributary industries such as aluminum will begin to turn out needed supplies in quantities that will permit plane manufacturers to run huge new assembly plants at virtually full speed with emphasis on attaining the goal of 500 bombers a month.

At least half of these two and four-motor ships will be turned over to the British, it is expected, giving Britain's Atfero corporation, which handles ferry deliveries, a task far exceeding its present job.

Already one major step to expedite the movement of these planes by American fliers has been taken by the army through creation of a "ferry command" which now is handling the entire job of transferring planes from the factories to coastal bases where the British take them over.

Evidence of the size of eventual ferrying operations, both inland and transatlantic, lies in the fact that the ferry command has undertaken a program of training 100 pilots a month in flying multi-engine planes. This, it is expected, will provide more than adequate personnel for getting bombers to their coastal take-off points, but, in itself, leaves unsolved the big

QUITO, Ecuador, July 12.—(AP)—Ecuador tonight announced acceptance of a tripartite neutral offer of good offices in this country's boundary dispute with Peru, which recently led to sporadic border clashes.

The Ecuadorean foreign office communicated this government's decision to the envoys of the United States, Argentina and Brazil, which had offered July 9 to cooperate in an effort to reach a peaceful solution of the century-old controversy.

(In Lima, an official spokesman said the impression prevailed in high official circles that Peru would accept the plan provided it is offered as good offices and not as mediation.)

The tripartite proposal, among other things, would provide for establishment of a "safety zone" 30 kilometers (18.6 miles) deep along the present disputed frontier.

$25,000,000 Pipeline From Monroe Planned

Will Be Constructed By Hope Company To Southern West Virginia

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., July 12.—(AP)—A $25,000,000 pipeline, running 826 miles from the heart of the Louisiana gas fields to southern West Virginia, will be constructed by the Hope Natural Gas company, officials announced today.

The line, representing the largest lump expenditure by the big West Virginia gas concern since its establishment in 1898, will start at Monroe, La., and end at the Cornwell compressor station about 20 miles north of Charleston.

At that point, the line will connect with the Hope's main distribution system.

Officials of Hope Natural Gas, which is a subsidiary of Standard Oil of New Jersey, said plans for the gas line call for laying of a steel pipe 20 inches in diameter with a cover 24 inches in diameter.

Starting at Monroe, the big line will go through a corner of Arkansas, cross the Mississippi river near Greenville, Miss., pass through Tennessee about 15 miles from Nashville, through Kentucky about five miles from Lexington, through West Virginia about five miles south of Huntington and five miles north of Charleston to the Cornwell station.

Compressor stations will be built at intervals of about 150 miles. The gas brought from the Louisiana fields will be sent to the Hope distribution sys-

NEW REFORM ACT RULING IS ASKED

Court Requested To Reverse Decision Or Clarify It Fully

NEW ORLEANS, July 12.—(AP)—The state today asked the supreme court to reverse—or at least explain the full implication of—its June 30 decision nullifying the reorganization amendment, a main prop in Governor Sam Jones' "reform" plant to streamline the state government.

A petition for a rehearing in the case, filed by the office of Attorney General Eugene Stanley, declared that until such clarification is forthcoming the functions of the state government may be hampered and confused.

Three alternatives were offered in the petition but all revolved around act 384 of 1940, the reorganization amendment itself, and act 47 of 1940 which sets up the reorganization machinery.

The "streamlined" 20 departments of government provided in act 384 are likewise provided for in act 47. The high court has declared the former unconstitutional but has not yet acted upon the latter, although District Judge James D. Womack in Baton Rouge has declared it invalid.

Appeal from Womack's ruling was taken to the supreme court but so far no date has been set for hearing. Womack also had declared act 384 invalid and was upheld by the supreme court ruling last month.

The petition declared:

"Unless and until this honorable court passes on the validity and constitutionality of act 47 there will continue to exist confusion, uncertainty and doubt as to the legal effects resulting from the judgment rendered in this case which will in all probability seriously interfere with the orderly functioning and operation of the government of the state.

"Because of these complexities, interferences and uncertainties, and the confusion that will result therefrom, this court should grant a rehearing in order that its decrees may be clarified by proper order and per

HIT-RUN DRIVER ARRESTED HERE

Miss Thelma Ryals Of Crossett, Ark., Admits Striking Soldier

The hit and run driver who injured seriously a visiting Camp Claiborne soldier here Thursday night was identified early yesterday as Miss Thelma Ryals, about 20, of Crossett, Ark., according to Acting Police Chief B. L. Brantley.

Victim of the traffic accident was Corporal Rip Smith, a member of the 151st engineers regiment, which was visiting in Monroe while executing a training problem. He suffered a compound fracture of both major bones of his leg leg, a severe blow on the head and multiple lacerations of the face. After treatment at St. Francis Sanitarium here, Corporal Smith was removed Friday afternoon to the base hospital at Camp Claiborne.

Miss Ryals was arrested about 3 a.m. Saturday at 416 Wood street here after a search that led investigating officers to Crossett and El Dorado, Ark., and back again, Chief Brantley stated. Charges against the girl included reckless driving, causing personal injury, failure to stop at the scene of an accident and failure to report an accident. She was released after posting $500 bond.

In a semi-hysterical condition, Miss Ryals accompanied officers to the police station and admitted that she was the driver of the car which struck the soldier, Chief Brantley said. The girl told police that two soldiers were crossing the street, and that she tried to dodge one and hit the other, according to the chief. Terrified, she fled the scene of the accident and was afraid to return or report the occurrence, Miss Ryals related at headquarters, Chief Brantley stated.

The arrest was made after investigating officers pieced together meager clues that sent them on the Arkansas trail. From information secured by Patrolman E. N. LeVasseur, Sergeant Louis Meek of the city police and Sergeant Omar Muckelroy of the state police, the girl was apprehended. They were accompanied by Captain Fred Hunt, Jr., in charge of one company of the visiting military men.

The accident occurred early Thursday at the intersection of DeSiard and Ninth streets. The car which struck Corporal Smith was driving west on DeSiard, threw the youth several feet in front, ran across the body, swerved into a parked car and sped away, according to the report of investigating police.

The 22-year-old soldier, a native of Hartsell, Ala., is stationed with company C of the first battalion of the engineers regiment.

HOLLAND PLANS TO LEAVE CENTENARY

SHREVEPORT, La., July 12.—(AP)—C. O. Holland, executive vice-president of Centenary college for the past three years, announced tonight that he will leave Centenary next month.

Mr. Holland said he planned to leave the college "sometime in August" to return to Minden, La., to open a general insurance business. He has not yet tendered his resignation to the board of directors.

Two months ago announcement was made of the resignation of Dr. Pierce Cline, president of Centenary since 1933, and Mr. Holland. Neither resignation was accepted by the board.

Paul M. Brown, chairman of the board, at that time defined Mr. Holland's powers as "full charge of business and financial affairs of Centenary."

Prior to January 1, 1938, Mr. Holland was president of the People's Bank of Minden.

Drastic Overhauling Of War Department-Sponsored Plan Seen

Says This Would Help To Increase Regular Army Enlistments

WASHINGTON, July 12.—(AP)—Suggestions developed in the senate today for drastic overhauling of war department-sponsored legislation to retain selective service trainees in the army beyond one year and to lift the ban against sending them outside the western hemisphere.

Chairman Reynolds, Democrat, North Carolina, told reporters he would ask the senate military affairs committee to start hearings on the measure next Wednesday.

Although he introduced the legislation at the war department's request, Reynolds made clear he did not favor it in its present form.

"When I voted for the draft act," Reynolds declared, "I did so with the clear understanding that the men would not be sent out of this hemisphere and that they were making a contract with the government to serve for only one year."

As an alternative, Reynolds suggested that selectees might be given "some inducement, perhaps higher pay, to reenlist."

Another to suggest changes was Chairman George, Democrat, Georgia, of the senate foreign relations committee. Telling reporters "that some compromise will be worked out," George suggested a plan whereby selectees could enlist for one, two or three years, in their discretion.

Enlistment of trainees would accomplish the ends of the legislation since there is no restriction on where regular army troops may be sent.

George conceded that his idea might not, however, prove practicable. "Those who enlisted might not be the

$5,000,000 SHIP CHANNEL OPENED

Jones, Making Dedication, Predicts 'New Era' For Lake Charles

LAKE CHARLES, La., July 12.—(AP)—A "new era" for southwest Louisiana was predicted by Governor Sam H. Jones today at ceremonies dedicating Lake Charles' new $5,000,000 ship channel.

Six boats, bearing about 200 persons, formally opened the outlet to the Gulf of Mexico with a round trip down the 41-mile waterway and back, after which a barbecue concluded the celebration.

In an interview, the governor declared the event "opens not only a new waterway, but begins a new era for Lake Charles and southwest Louisiana."

"Naturally I am pleased," he said, "with the completion of the new channel because it means so much to the state and to my own section. On behalf of the state I both congratulate and thank those participating in the movement which made the channel possible."

The governor was not present when the procession left Lake Charles in the morning, but arrived by plane and

BRITISH BOMBINGS EXCEED GERMANY'S

LONDON, July 12.—(AP)—The British air offensive against Germany has reached a point in tonnage of bombs dropped surpassing the heaviest German attacks upon England, it was stated authoritatively today, as the R. A. F. continued its non-stop assaults on the continent.

During June, said a statement, the weight of British bombs dropped on Germany actually exceeded the tonnage dropped on England in April, which it is said the Germans claim as their record month.

Furthermore, the weight of bombs dropped on Germany in July "will be heavier still," it was said.

Last night, raiders flew through a thunderstorm to attack the northwestern German naval base of Wilhelmshaven, the air ministry announced, without losing a plane, and today heavy British bombers roared over northern France and were reported authoritatively to have bombarded railway and canal communications near St. Omer. The southeast England skies were described as being alive with the bombers and escorting fighter planes as unusually heavy forces took part in the attack.

Merchants Plan Biggest July Sales In History

Starting tomorrow and lasting through Saturday, a Twin City-wide July summer clearance sale of merchandise will be conducted in Monroe and West Monroe sponsored by the retail merchants' division of the Chamber of Commerce, of which David C. Silverstein is chairman.

Mr. Silverstein has named the following committee to direct the week's sales: H. J. Barham, chairman, manager of Montgomery Ward and Company; A. M. Jones, manager of W. T. Grant Company; H. E. Winger, manager of Frank's Smart Shoes; H. R. Arlig, cashier at Hunt and Whitaker; M. Glazer, manager of Style Shop, and Joe F. Smith, manager of Smith's Men's Store, West Monroe.

Merchants insist that the public can buy for less at this sale for bargains such as never before given will be the regular thing and advance indications are that a new high record for sales and for the giving of substantial values will result.

The business houses of Monroe and West Monroe want to see cash and a dollar bill will buy a surprising amount of merchandise, for stocks must be cleared out to make room for fall goods. There will be six big days and those who come early will be well repaid for their efforts.

The public will come by bus, by plane, by train and by private cars, according to advance information, and everybody will get plenty of bargains.

Store managers confessed Saturday that they had never, in all their experience here, cut prices to such a low level as they are to do this coming week, but the goods on their shelves must be moved, for in a few days the largest fall supply of merchandise that has been bought for years will begin to arrive.

The advice to one and all, old and young, is to come to the Twin Cities and take advantage of bargains that will send each and every purchaser away happy at his good fortune in the making of shrewd purchases.

Citizens To Vote On Airport Tax Tuesday

Number Of Leading Residents Give Endorsements Of Proposal

Citizens of Ouachita parish will go to the polls Tuesday to vote on a five-year one-mill tax for the expansion and development of the local airport which will be operated under active management of the parish after August 1.

Polls will be open from 7 a. m. to 5 p. m. Considered one of the most important projects in Ouachita parish, the special election was called by the parish police jury nearly two months ago.

The tax will enable the parish to buy an additional 260 acres of land so the field will meet government size specifications. If the tax is approved, the government will spend some $600,000 developing and equipping the airport.

It might not be necessary to expend all of the $200,000 to be netted from the five-year special tax. In that case, only the money needed will be collected. Endorsement of the special tax will, in all probability, gain government approval for the airport for a CAA field.

The expansion of the airport would aid national defense. Field development would save time, fuel, and strain on the CAA students. There would be less hazard for larger planes to land if the field is enlarged.

Army pilots from neighboring military fields would use the improved air field as an intermediary port. Income from the airport under management of the police jury would provide for operation of the field. An improved field would increase revenue from regular traffic and increase private flying.

Captain T. B. Herndon, chief of the aeronautics section of the department of public works, Baton Rouge, said, after surveying the airport here in the interest of national defense, "I wish the airport tax could have been passed a month ago.

"Providing the tax is passed, contributions from federal funds for airport improvement will amount to $575,000. The money will be used for

THINK TAX BILL MAY BE BOOSTED

Mounting Defense Expenditures Make New Levies Necessary

WASHINGTON, July 12.—(AP)—Mounting defense expenditures and smouldering controversies over tentatively-approved new levies led today to capitol talk of further revision of the $3,500,000,000 tax bill.

Ten days ago the house ways and means committee gave preliminary approval to legislation to raise $3,504,400,000, but there were reports that it might be revised materially and its presentation to the house delayed perhaps until August 1.

The tentatively-approved bill is designed to raise $1,154,500,000 additional in individual income taxes, $1,332,000,000 in corporation levies and almost another billion dollars in excise and miscellaneous taxes. It is now in the hands of bill-drafting experts who expect to complete work on it next week.

Because of President Roosevelt's requests in the last two days for more than $8,000,000,000 additional for defense, some committee members predicted that an effort would be made to raise the tax bill's total now, rather than wait until later in the year or even until next year for a new one.

One member said privately that he would renew the periodic attempt that has been made to create a congressional super-budget committee to coordinate the government's expenditures and revenue.

This plan would give a nine-man group veto power over all money bills, which could be overridden only by a two-thirds vote of the house membership of 435.

NO NEW VICTIMS OF CRASH FOUND

Funerals Arranged For Two Youths And Girl Killed By Train

A continued search by members of the American Legion emergency truck until early Saturday morning for other possible victims of the train-automobile wreck at the Renwick street crossing where three met sudden death Friday night failed to reveal that others were in the crash.

Believing that more than three persons, two youths and a girl, were in the automobile that was hit by a southbound Missouri Pacific passenger train, Captain J. W. Faler of the Legion truck and crew began a search through the high grass in the surrounding area.

The dead were Jimmie D. Wilhite, 21, and Charles Herbert Wilhite, 18, both of route 1, West Monroe, sons of Mrs. John W. Wilhite, and Mildred Katherine Morris, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Morris, 1001 South Third street, Monroe.

The automobile was dragged approximately 1,000 feet. The body of Miss Morris was thrown in the ditch about 100 feet from the grade crossing, and that of Charles Herbert Wilhite was thrown beside the tracks, about half the distance that the car was dragged. Jimmie D. Wilhite's body was pinned between the front and rear seats of the crumpled automobile. All were mangled.

They were going to the Monroe-Greenville baseball game when the tragedy occurred. Three cars headed toward the ball park were stopped at the crossing to allow the Gurdon-Monroe train, its locomotive whistle screaming warnings, to pass. The Wilhite car pulled from behind the three autos in front, passed them, and was met by the train at the crossing. There were no signal barriers across the street.

Somewhere between the crossing and the spot where the train was brought to a stop, the automobile motor was knocked clear of the chassis into the ditch. A woman's compact, a man's tie-clasp, evidently

Interpreting The War News:

Hitler's Gasoline Engine Missing Fire

(Associated Press Foreign Affairs Writer)

Hitler's gas-engine drive to cut in half Napoleon's 1812 horse-drawn blitzkrieg to Moscow obviously has not been hitting on all cylinders up to date.

Half of his reputed 40-day time schedule for reaching the Russian capital—a march that took Napoleon 90-odd days—has gone by. His fire-breathing tanks, ditch-leaping speed troop chariots, shrieking dive-bombers and terroristic war technique have not yet brought him half way to his goal.

Napoleon found the getting to Moscow relatively easy. It was getting away again that wrecked his army. The Nazi "little corporal" of 1941 must sometimes think of that o' nights at his field headquarters, presumably somewhere in central-eastern Poland.

The 13 weeks it took Napoleon to arrive at Moscow proved to be his undoing. Like Hitler he set out in June. A Russian winter, and an exceptionally bad one at that, caught him in a carefully set Russian trap.

Impossible distances separated his ragged and hungry veterans from supply bases to the westward. Around them lay a "snow-mantled scorched earth" Russia filled with phantom-like guerillas harrying their flanks and outposts night and day. Most of those French troops, as good fighting men as the world produces, died of hunger, cold or Russian attacks before they could back-track to their bloody crossings of the Berezina river, 300 miles from Moscow, at which Hitler's legions are now pounding.

Authoritative tales are beginning to reach this side of the Atlantic from Nazi-conquered France and the low countries, even from Norway and Denmark, indicating the utter reliance the Nazi high command places on its motorized fighting equipment to conquer quickly both the Balkans and Russia. This writer has talked with an eye-witness of the sudden disappearance of thousands of tanks and motor vehicles from German-occupied French cities.

They had been an awe-inspiring symbol of Nazi conquest in French eyes ever since the surrender by the "men of Vichy." Every open market square, public park, vacant lot, golf links or tennis court in this particular Frenchm port city was filled with such equipment. Tanks, trucks, staff cars, motorized guns big and little and all sorts and types of gas-engined war equipment stood endlessly hub to hub in these Nazi military parking lots.

Early in April they began to disappear. Travelers within the occupied regions of southern France who came to town reported passing endless columns puffing and clunking along the roads, trekking northward, not south toward the Spanish border. There was much speculation as to whether an attempted invasion of England was about to be launched.

Events proved it was not, but that Hitler had decided on wars in the east instead. To get eastward from that part of France his forces had to go north first.

Observers in France could make little of it all then. It is now clear, however, that even as early as February or March when he was predicting a spring sea-air victory over England, Hitler actually had thumbed his armies eastward for the Balkan war and his attack on Russia. He raked Nazi armies of occupation elsewhere to provide blitzkrieg material for that, just as events have proved he ordered withdrawal of substantial portions of the luftwaffe from the attack on England.

The Nazi armies battling the Russians have been told that the fate of Hitler's Germany is in their hands. There can be no question about that. And if they cannot soon break the 2,000-mile virtual deadlock with the red army conclusively, far more conclusively than Napoleon did a century and more ago, another western "little corporal" may see his vaulting dreams of world empire shattered amid the swamps and streams and rolling plains of western Russia.

Reds Report No Important Change Made In 2,000-Mile Front

INTENSIVE PREPARATIONS MADE FOR GERMAN PUSH

Moscow Being Cleared Of Children And Aged; Leningrad Attacked

(By Associated Press)

Germany declared last night that Adolf Hitler's legions had broken the Stalin line "at all decisive points" but Soviet Russia maintained that stubborn fighting had produced no important change on the 2,000-mile front.

Nazi troops have thrust a spearhead more than 125 miles east of Minsk in the drive toward Moscow through the center of the front, the German high command asserted, and "signs of a break-up and dissolution are appearing among numerous enemy units."

Vitebsk, on the Dvina river 300 miles west of Moscow, was taken Friday, the high command said, Germans are advancing toward Leningrad east of Lake Peipus, on the Russian-Estonian frontier, and Nazi legions are "standing close before Kiev," the Ukraine capital.

A markedly different picture was painted in a midnight communique from the Soviet information bureau in Moscow.

It declared stubborn fighting took place Saturday in the Pskov, Vitebsk and Novograd Volynski sectors, but that these engagements produced no important changes in the front.

The German high command's statements were issued in a special communique shortly before midnight, almost at the same time the Moscow war report was made.

In the Ukranian operations, the German high command said "German and Rumanian armies moving out of Moldavia have thrown the enemy back to and over the Dnestr (river) on a broad front."

The break-through east of Minsk was accomplished, it said, by over-

Many Yankee Fliers Expected To Convey Bombers To England

WASHINGTON, July 12.—(AP)—Official forecasts of greatly increased airplane production beginning in October were coupled today with indications in authoritative quarters that scores of young American pilots ultimately will engage in ferrying combat craft across the Atlantic to Britain.

For several months airplane production has moved forward at a relatively slow pace. But by October, defense officials say, tributary industries such as aluminum will begin to turn out needed supplies in quantities that will permit plane manufacturers to run huge new assembly plants at virtually full speed with emphasis on attaining the goal of 500 bombers a month.

At least half of these two and four-motor ships will be turned over to the British, it is expected, giving Britain's Atfero corporation, which handles ferry deliveries, a task far exceeding its present job.

Already one major step to expedite the movement of these planes by American fliers has been taken by the army through creation of a "ferry command" which now is handling the entire job of transferring planes from the factories to coastal bases where the British take them over.

Evidence of the size of eventual ferrying operations, both inland and transatlantic, lies in the fact that the ferry command has undertaken a program of training 100 pilots a month in flying multi-engine planes. This, it is expected, will provide more than adequate personnel for getting bombers to their coastal take-off points, but, in itself, leaves unsolved the big

POWER COMPANY CLAIMS 'SHORTS'

Union Officials Say Members Could Not Be Responsible

BATON ROUGE, La., July 12.—(AP)—The Gulf States Utilities Company, against which the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers (A. F. L.) is striking, reported several power failures in various areas last night and today and said barbed wire had been found across the power lines in two cases.

Union officials said members "could not possibly" have been responsible for the service interruptions.

Meanwhile, three union members asked the district court to enjoin Sheriff Newman H. deBretton from interfering with picketing of the company's establishments here. A hearing was set for Tuesday.

The union petition said the sheriff used "vile and profane" language to pickets and told them, "Those of you whom I don't kill, I will put in jail."

DeBretton said in a statement he was bound by law to preserve order and remain impartial.

The power failures which the company said were caused by barbed wire temporarily cut off electricity from a rural community near Baton Rouge on several occasions and once from portions of Pointe Coupee and Iberville parishes. Another power failure interrupted service to Denham Springs, but company officials said the cause may have been accidental. Two other reported failures were being checked tonight.

O. A. Walker, international representative of the union, said no strikers had left the city and he was sure none could be responsible.

Negotiations to end the controversy ended in deadlock last night. The disagreement involves the union's claim to represent employes of the company's Louisiana division, which serves communities from here to Lake Charles and industrial plants north of Baton Rouge. About 150 men are reported out.

In a new statement today, the company said it had offered to refer the controversy to the mediation division of the defense council at Washington, but that the strikers had refused to follow this procedure.

ones the army wants to keep," he said.

Some senators, linking the legislation with foreign policy, said privately that they would have to have a clearer explanation of why it was needed before they would consider voting for it. In asking for the legislation, war department officials have spoken only in general terms of a necessity for this country to be ready for any emergency.

In that connection, Senator Danaher, Republican, Connecticut, asserted that "the administration should be more honest with the congress and with the people regarding the various steps it is taking."

Danaher said that much information about government activities was circulated through "back door" channels and added that administration spokesmen seldom made public the facts until they had been developed on the floors of congress.

Senator Wheeler, Democrat, Montana, expressing a similar view, told reporters that "unless the president is willing to ask congress for a declaration of war he should keep the country advised of what steps he is taking that might lead us to war."

Reynolds, saying that action on the pending draft measure would be "a real test of the congressional attitude toward administration foreign policy," declared that he favored "full and complete hearings."

He made public a telegram from Norman Thomas, the Socialist leader, saying that he wished to testify.

Reynolds said many persons believed that enactment of a measure permitting selectees to be sent outside this hemisphere "would be tantamount to a declaration of war."

"If the present prohibition were lifted," he continued, "the selectees could be sent to the Azores, the Cape Verde islands, Dakar, England, Ireland or Scotland."

He also declared that if the legislation were defeated "it might be excruciatingly embarrassing to the administration."

"Some of our selectees may be in Iceland already, and some people believe that is outside our hemisphere."

coming "the strong fortified zone of the Dnepr" river north of the Pinsk marshes, evidently a major target ever since the German forces moved east into the buffer territory of Poland and the Sovietized Baltic states three weeks ago.

"Our air force, by destroying the enemy railway net, already has taken away from the enemy further possibility of a counter operation on a large scale," the high command said. "Supply bases necessary for continuing operations of our panzer armies already have been advanced close to the former Stalin line."

In another major development of the world's wars, an armistice agreement was reported to have been initialled by representatives of the French and British-De Gaullist allies to end the 34-day-old war in Syria and Lebanon.

A cease firing order went out Friday midnight to desert legions and garrison commanders battling over the announced British intention to see that the French-mandated Levant states did not become bases for a German drive against Suez.

Attention, however, was generally centered on the German-Russian struggle of men and machines.

The Saturday communiques of both Berlin and Moscow gave few details of the strategic situation.

The Hitler command said that operations were proceeding "according to plan"—its summary of the situation on each of the last five days of the week.

The Russian Saturday communique said: "No substantial changes occurred in the position of troops at the front."

But Germany used DNB, the official news agency which does not pretend to speak with the finality of the high command, to announce that an assault on the Stalin line in its "wet zone" was opened yesterday by combat teams and was stepped up today by reinforcements of shock troops.

The phrase "wet zone" was the closest DNB came to identifying the point of the attack and this seemed to place it either on the Dnepr river, somewhere south of Ostrov, an anchor of the line where it leaves the river to run cross-country northward without any immediate water protection, or farther north in the lake country along the border of the Baltic states.

Russia used subordinate portions of her long communique as well as Tass, official news agency, and Pravda Moscow organ of the Communist party, to fill in descriptively on the picture of the war.

Tass said that "the flames of a nationwide guerilla war are enveloping the districts of Soviet Byelo-Russia (white Russia) captured by German Fascists. The agency gave numerous instances of these harassing tactics, notably in the region of Pinsk.

A Pravda dispatch from the front declared that that old Polish city, far behind the German front, was still in Russian hands.

Russian Forces at Pinsk were said to be raiding the German rear.

Between the lines of the reports from Moscow one could read of intensive preparations for the German big push. Moscow was being cleared of children and the aged.

Leningrad was under heavy aerial assault. A Helsinki dispatch said great fires raged in the Russian base and industrial center after the latest German bombing. Railways and other transport and communication facilities of western Russia were under heavy harassment by the luftwaffe.

Russian readiness was illustrated by a section of the communique telling how German thrusts across two unidentified rivers had been smashed by air attack, artillery and finally infantry mop-up.

The Russian air force seemed to be a formidable weapon despite German claims that about 6,000 planes had been destroyed. That the Russians still were challenging the Germans was indicated in the statement of an authorized spokesman in Berlin that 163 had been shot down in the past 24 hours. He gave the ratio of destruction as seven-to-one in favor of the Germans.

The Russians had their own statistics. "On July 11 out air force brought down 65 German planes in combat and lost 19," the Russian communique said.

The R. A. F. offensive on Germany's western front continued unabated and it was authoritatively stated in London that in point of tonnage of bombs it had surpassed the heaviest German attacks on England with increases still to come.

The R. A. F. by daylight raided railway and canal communications in the St. Omer region of German-occupied France following up a night assault on the German naval base of Wilhelmshaven in the teeth of a thunderstorm.

The latest word on the armistice negotiations for Syria and Lebanon was that they were "proceeding satisfactorily but certain details remain to be settled. Meanwhile, suspension of hostilities is being continued."

The armistice had been sought by the Vichy commander and high commissioner, General Henri Dentz, on his own responsibility after the Vichy government rejected British terms. Britain seemed to have achieved her purpose of barring use of the League-mandated lands as a Middle Eastern base for Axis attacks on the Suez Canal.

The Turkish radio announced that 50 members of the Armistice commission placed in Syria by the Axis after the fall of France little more than a year ago had arrived in Turkey, leaving the Levant to occupation by British troops and their De Gaullist allies.

job of getting them across the Atlantic.

While the eventful solution apparently may depend on the extent of American involvement in the war, several possible methods are beginning to be discussed here. All involve the increased use of United States fliers over the Atlantic, since British and Canadians are required for combat service in England.

One possibility growing out of the recent occupation of Iceland is that the ferry command will turn over planes to the British in Iceland, going there by way of United States bases in Newfoundland and Greenland. Delivery to that point would reduce Atfero's ferrying job by about two-thirds.

Another possibility is that the army air corps may permit some pilots to resign in order to join Atfero's staff. It already has released some pilots and mechanics to join the Chinese forces.

COOLING BREEZES FELT OVER NATION

(By Associated Press)

Cooling breezes from the Great Lakes region sent temperatures tumbling over much of the nation today.

The mercury dropped as low as 39 at Bemidji, Minn., Saturday morning, while readings in the lower 40's were common in the Dakotas, northern Wisconsin and Michigan. Further southward and eastward effects of a mass of cooler air were being felt also.

In the southeast, where temperatures have hovered around the 90 mark for several days, readings ranged slightly lower, particularly along the coast, inland areas, notably Meridian, Miss., and Knoxville, Tenn., remained high, Meridian having 95 and Knoxville 94.

Light, scattered showers were expected to continue for several days throughout the southeast.

Electric power consumers of Georgia and other southeastern states hit hardest by a May drought were told Saturday that full restrictions on use of power will be imposed again beginning Monday, July 21, after two weeks of partially restored normal consumption. The utilities have been using excess run-of-the-stream water to generate the extra electricity which was diverted to commercial and domestic users as long as it lasted.

main Vichy objection to British demands. De Gaullist leaders, most of them under Vichy sentence of death, were called traitors in the message in which Chief of State Marshal Petain's government rejected the London proposals.

But Dentz was given permission to act as he saw fit and Australian, Indian, British and Free French troops had cracked resistance of his forces and were closing in on Beirut.

British and Allied soldiers invaded Syria to forestall threatened German occupation after the fall of Crete and because German and Italian planes had used Syrian airdromes.

When the French delegation left Beirut this morning the front lines were within five miles of Beirut itself, and the Lebanese capital was in a virtual no-man's land with most French forces north of the city.

GREEK RICE WON'T SEEK SENATE SEAT

JACKSON, Miss., July 12 —(AP)— Attorney General Greek Rice tonight announced he would not be a candidate in the September 23 election to fill the late Pat Harrison's place in the United States Senate.

Representative Wall Doxey of Holly Springs, first to announce formally his candidacy, opened headquarters here in Jackson today and said his brother, Hindman Doxey, Holly Springs attorney, would serve as his campaign manager.

The only other entrant so far in the race, Representative Ross Collins, reportedly left Jackson for a weekend at his Meridian home but was expected back here early next week.

Former Governor Mike Conner, a prospective candidate, issued a brief statement approving Representative John Rankin's suggestion yesterday that the campaign be postponed until mid-August or early September and "commended" Rankin "for staying on the job in Washington."

"I am not a candidate of the United States Senate," Rice said in a brief statement. "Sound reasons compel me to make this statement at this time. I shall not discuss these reasons because I am sure my friends will understand."

TWO GET SENTENCES FOR BURNING AUTOS

ST. JOSEPH, July 12.—(Special)—After pleading guilty to separate charges of arson of their automobiles, Albert Gray, 23, and James T. Webb, 21, were sentenced here this week by Judge Frank Voelker to serve one year each in the state penitentiary at Angola, La.

Gray's car burned near his home at Waterproof, and that of Webb burned on United States highway 65 north of St. Joseph, La. Investigation of the cases was handled by Sheriff E. D. Coleman of St. Joseph; State Highway Patrolman Cline Castleberry, St. Joseph. They were assisted by Deputy Fire Marshal Fred R. Mitchell of Monroe.

Mr. Mitchell said that persons were burning autos on the average of 40 or 50 a month for the past year, but the number was reduced to two in June.

TOT FALLS THREE STORIES

NEW ORLEANS, July 12.—(AP)—Three-year-old James Williams fell from a third-story window, landed on his stomach on a concrete walk and didn't even lose consciousness. He was taken to a hospital where doctors said his jaw was broken.

thing now" since huge appropriations already have been passed and the $8,000,000,000 fund will be approved shortly.

It was learned that efforts were being made quietly to reverse the 15 to 10 vote by which the ways and means committee decided to compel married couples to file joint returns—a scheme which it was estimated would raise $304,000,000 in additional revenue.

At present, a married couple with $4,000 income each, for instance, can file separate returns subject only to normal income tax. The proposed change would require one return on $8,000 income which would be subject to normal taxes and to surtaxes which begin on net income in excess of $4,000.

POWER COMPANY CLAIMS 'SHORTS'

Union Officials Say Members Could Not Be Responsible

BATON ROUGE, La., July 12.—(AP)—The Gulf States Utilities Company, against which the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers (A. F. L.) is striking, reported several power failures in various areas last night and today and said barbed wire had been found across the power lines in two cases.

Union officials said members "could not possibly" have been responsible for the service interruptions.

Meanwhile, three union members asked the district court to enjoin Sheriff Newman H. deBretton from interfering with picketing of the company's establishments here. A hearing was set for Tuesday.

The union petition said the sheriff used "vile and profane" language to pickets and told them, "Those of you whom I don't kill, I will put in jail."

DeBretton said in a statement he was bound by law to preserve order and remain impartial.

The power failures which the company said were caused by barbed wire temporarily cut off electricity from a rural community near Baton Rouge on several occasions and once from portions of Pointe Coupee and Iberville parishes. Another power failure interrupted service to Denham Springs, but company officials said the cause may have been accidental. Two other reported failures were being checked tonight.

O. A. Walker, international representative of the union, said no strikers had left the city and he was sure none could be responsible.

Negotiations to end the controversy ended in deadlock last night. The disagreement involves the union's claim to represent employes of the company's Louisiana division, which serves communities from here to Lake Charles and industrial plants north of Baton Rouge. About 150 men are reported out.

In a new statement today, the company said it had offered to refer the controversy to the mediation division of the defense council at Washington, but that the strikers had refused to follow this procedure.

AIR CORPS ACCEPTS TWO MEN FOR 3-YEAR PERIOD

Sergeant Harold McNemar announced yesterday that two more young men from this sector were accepted for the air corps, unassigned, and were sent to Jackson, Miss., by train where they were enlisted yesterday morning for the air corps for three-year enlistment periods.

They are Henry Raymond Masters, 20, brother of Mrs. Janice Marie Greer, R. F. D. 1, Epps, La., whose parents are deceased, and Herbert Rushing, 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Monroe Rushing, R. F. D. 1, Columbia, La.

ones the army wants to keep," he said.

Some senators, linking the legislation with foreign policy, said privately that they would have to have a clearer explanation of why it was needed before they would consider voting for it. In asking for the legislation, war department officials have spoken only in general terms of a necessity for this country to be ready for any emergency.

In that connection, Senator Danaher, Republican, Connecticut, asserted that "the administration should be more honest with the congress and with the people regarding the various steps it is taking."

Danaher said that much information about government activities was circulated through "back door" channels and added that administration spokesmen seldom made public the facts until they had been developed on the floors of congress.

Senator Wheeler, Democrat, Montana, expressing a similar view, told reporters that "unless the president is willing to ask congress for a declaration of war he should keep the country advised of what steps he is taking that might lead us to war."

Reynolds, saying that action on the pending draft measure would be "a real test of the congressional attitude toward administration foreign policy," declared that he favored "full and complete hearings."

He made public a telegram from Norman Thomas, the Socialist leader, saying that he wished to testify.

Reynolds said many persons believed that enactment of a measure permitting selectees to be sent outside this hemisphere "would be tantamount to a declaration of war."

"If the present prohibition were lifted," he continued, "the selectees could be sent to the Azores, the Cape Verde islands, Dakar, England, Ireland or Scotland."

He also declared that if the legislation were defeated "it might be excruciatingly embarrassing to the administration."

"Some of our selectees may be in Iceland already, and some people believe that is outside our hemisphere."

REPORTS WIDELY CONTRADICTORY

coming "the strong fortified zone of the Dnepr" river north of the Pinsk marshes, evidently a major target ever since the German forces moved east into the buffer territory of Poland and the Sovietized Baltic states three weeks ago.

"Our air force, by destroying the enemy railway net, already has taken away from the enemy further possibility of a counter operation on a large scale," the high command said. "Supply bases necessary for continuing operations of our panzer armies already have been advanced close to the former Stalin line."

In another major development of the world's wars, an armistice agreement was reported to have been initailled by representatives of the French and British-De Gaullist allies to end the 34-day-old war in Syria and Lebanon.

A cease firing order went out Friday midnight to desert legions and garrison commanders battling over the announced British intention to see that the French-mandated Levant states did not become bases for a German drive against Suez.

Attention, however, was generally centered on the German-Russian struggle of men and machines.

The Saturday communiques of both Berlin and Moscow gave few details of the strategic situation.

The Hitler command said that operations were proceeding "according to plan"—its summary of the situation on each of the last five days of the week.

The Russian Saturday communique said: "No substantial changes occurred in the position of troops at the front."

But Germany used DNB, the official news agency which does not pretend to speak with the finality of the high command, to announce that an assault on the Stalin line in its "wet zone" was opened yesterday by combat teams and was stepped up today by reinforcements of shock troops.

The phrase "wet zone" was the closest DNB came to identifying the point of the attack and this seemed to place it either on the Dnepr river, somewhere south of Ostrov, an anchor of the line where it leaves the river to run cross-country northward without any immediate water protection, or farther north in the lake country along the border of the Baltic states.

Russia used subordinate portions of her long communique as well as Tass, official news agency, and Pravda Moscow organ of the Communist party, to fill in descriptively on the picture of the war.

Tass said that "the flames of a nationwide guerilla war are enveloping the districts of Soviet Byelo-Russia (white Russia) captured by German Fascists. The agency gave numerous instances of these harassing tactics, notably in the region of Pinsk.

A Pravda dispatch from the front declared that that old Polish city, far behind the German front, was still in Russian hands.

Russian Forces at Pinsk were said to be raiding the German rear.

Between the lines of the reports from Moscow one could read of intensive preparations for the German big push. Moscow was being cleared of children and the aged.

Leningrad was under heavy aerial assault. A Helsinki dispatch said great fires raged in the Russian base and industrial center after the latest German bombing. Railways and other transport and communication facilities of western Russia were under heavy harassment by the luftwaffe.

Russian readiness was illustrated by a section of the communique telling how German thrusts across two unidentified rivers had been smashed by air attack, artillery and finally infantry mop-up.

The Russian air force seemed to be a formidable weapon despite German claims that about 6,000 planes had been destroyed. That the Russians still were challenging the Germans was indicated in the statement of an authorized spokesman in Berlin that 163 had been shot down in the past 24 hours. He gave the ratio of destruction as seven-to-one in favor of the Germans.

The Russians had their own statistics. "On July 11 out air force brought down 65 German planes in combat and lost 19," the Russian communique said.

The R. A. F. offensive on Germany's western front continued unabated and it was authoritatively stated in London that in point of tonnage of bombs it had surpassed the heaviest German attacks on England with increases still to come.

The R. A. F. by daylight raided railway and canal communications in the St. Omer region of German-occupied France following up a night assault on the German naval base of Wilhelmshaven in the teeth of a thunderstorm.

The latest word on the armistice negotiations for Syria and Lebanon was that they were "proceeding satisfactorily but certain details remain to be settled. Meanwhile, suspension of hostilities is being continued."

The armistice had been sought by the Vichy commander and high commissioner, General Henri Dentz, on his own responsibility after the Vichy government rejected British terms. Britain seemed to have achieved her purpose of barring use of the League-mandated lands as a Middle Eastern base for Axis attacks on the Suez Canal.

The Turkish radio announced that 50 members of the Armistice commission placed in Syria by the Axis after the fall of France little more than a year ago had arrived in Turkey, leaving the Levant to occupation by British troops and their De Gaullist allies.

job of getting them across the Atlantic.

While the eventful solution apparently may depend on the extent of American involvement in the war, several possible methods are beginning to be discussed here. All involve the increased use of United States fliers over the Atlantic, since British and Canadians are required for combat service in England.

One possibility growing out of the recent occupation of Iceland is that the ferry command will turn over planes to the British in Iceland, going there by way of United States bases in Newfoundland and Greenland. Delivery to that point would reduce Atfero's ferrying job by about two-thirds.

Another possibility is that the army air corps may permit some pilots to resign in order to join Atfero's staff. It already has released some pilots and mechanics to join the Chinese forces.

COOLING BREEZES FELT OVER NATION

(By Associated Press)

Cooling breezes from the Great Lakes region sent temperatures tumbling over much of the nation today.

The mercury dropped as low as 39 at Bemidji, Minn., Saturday morning, while readings in the lower 40's were common in the Dakotas, northern Wisconsin and Michigan. Further southward and eastward effects of a mass of cooler air were being felt also.

In the southeast, where temperatures have hovered around the 90 mark for several days, readings ranged slightly lower, particularly along the coast, inland areas, notably Meridian, Miss., and Knoxville, Tenn., remained high, Meridian having 95 and Knoxville 94.

Light, scattered showers were expected to continue for several days throughout the southeast.

Electric power consumers of Georgia and other southeastern states hit hardest by a May drought were told Saturday that full restrictions on use of power will be imposed again beginning Monday, July 21, after two weeks of partially restored normal consumption. The utilities have been using excess run-of-the-stream water to generate the extra electricity which was diverted to commercial and domestic users as long as it lasted.

OFFERS POWER FOR ALUMINUM

Proposal Includes Increasing Sterlington Generating Capacity

SHREVEPORT, La., July 12.—(AP)—A plan to provide enough electricity to produce aluminum for 1,000 bombing planes a year before an electric power plant could be completed at the new defense aluminum plant to be built in southern Arkansas, was announced here tonight by A. Lieberman, president of the Southwestern Gas and Electric Company.

In addition to expediting production of aluminum, the plan will save for other defense needs 9,000,000 pounds of copper and 1,500,000 pounds of steel, according to Lieberman, who said the proposals were submitted Thursday to the office of production management in Washington, D. C.

Under the plan, Lieberman said, the Arkansas Power and Light Company, Louisiana Power and Light Company and the Southwestern, cooperating with other electric companies in adjacent states, would pool their present power resources and make available immediately the power required for construction of the aluminum plant. The companies would make available from their present systems 87,000 horsepower to put the first half of the aluminum plant in operation April 1, 1942.

The plan also contains a proposal that the electric companies will furnish the entire permanent supply, if asked to do so. To accomplish this the companies would increase the size of one power plant and build two new ones to supply the 160,000 horsepower required for operation of the new aluminum plant, which, according to Lieberman, will require more electric power than the cities of Little Rock, Shreveport and Dallas combined.

Under the permanent supply plan the Louisiana Power and Light Company would add 33,000 horsepower in generating capacity at its Sterlington, La., plant; Southwestern Gas and Electric would build a new 33,000 horsepower generating plant in northern Louisiana at a selected site on Caddo Lake; and Arkansas Power and Light Company would construct a new 100,000 horsepower plant in southern Arkansas to utilize sour gas production from the Magnolia area.

GOOD WILL TRAIN LEAVES ORLEANS

100 Louisianians, Led By Mrs. Sam Jones, On Way To Mexico

NEW ORLEANS, July 12.—(AP)—A delegation of 100 Louisianians headed by Mrs. Sam Jones, wife of the governor, left by special train tonight to begin a good will tour to Mexico which will also cover most of Texas.

The train left Baton Rouge earlier in the day and the party stopped here for a banquet tonight.

Governor Jones had planned to lead the expedition, but was prevented by the political fight over his reorganization of the state government. He will fly to Mexico City on Wednesday, however, the day the good will train arrives, to greet President Manuel Avila Camacho when he receives the tourists.

The train includes an exhibit car decorated in Louisiana moss and palmetto leaves, and carrying exhibits of Louisiana State university, the departments of agriculture, commerce and industry, the Automobile Association of America and the Young Men's

J. Y. Fontenot of Opelousas has

The car will be stopped and displayed at stopovers en route, scheduled at Galveston, Houston and San Antonio, Tex., and Monterrey, Mex., where local chambers of commerce will receive the delegates.

On the return trip, the train will stop at Austin, Fort Worth and Dallas, Tex., and arrive in New Orleans July 24. Pamphlets and leaflets on Louisiana will be distributed at all points.

For the tourists themselves, an orchestra will furnish music on the train, and a daily mimeographed paper will be issued.

Dr. Robert W. Bradbury, director of Louisiana State university's new division of Latin American relations, is among the delegates, and will seek to create good will for the proposed Pan-American building for the L. S. U. campus.

Also on the tour are Mrs. W. F. Anderson, wife of the state entomologist, who is representing the department of agriculture, and Justin Wilson, state warehouse examiner and son of Harry D. Wilson, secretary of agriculture.

The United States ambassador to Mexico, Josephus Danies, Mrs. Daniels will be hosts at a reception for the delegation Thursday.

Also making the trip to study agricultural conditions in Mexico are representatives of five mid-western states, sent by their respective departments of agriculture. They are Stanley R. Crow, Missouri; S. H. Lassen, South Dakota; Boyd Radford, Nebraska; H. E. Hazen, Iowa; and James W. O'Brien, Minnesota.

GOOD WILL TRAIN LEAVES BATON ROUGE

BATON ROUGE, La., July 12.—(AP)—The greater Louisiana special train, bearing 100 visitors and a carload of exhibits to Mexico, left Baton Rouge this afternoon and was scheduled to make its first stop in New Orleans for a banquet tonight.

Governor Sam Jones, who had planned to lead the mission, is remaining in the state to press his reorganization campaign, but plans to fly to Mexico City Wednesday to join the tourists in greeting President Manuel Avila Camacho.

Mrs. Jones is with the party.

Stops will be made and exhibits displayed in Texas cities as well as Monterrey and Mexico City.

PATIN GETS HIGHER ATTORNEY'S POST

SHREVEPORT, La., July 12.—(AP)—John A. Patin was elevated to first assistant United States attorney for the western district of Louisiana and Olin D. Moore, 32, of Many, was sworn in as special assistant attorney here today.

Patin was elevated from the post of assistant to first assistant to fill the place caused by the elevation of Malcolm Lafargue from first assistant to United States attorney.

Patin has been assistant attorney since April 25, 1939. He is a graduate of the L. S. U. law school and was admitted to the bar five years ago.

Moore was named special assistant to handle land condemnation matters during the period of the present national emergency. He will maintain his residence at Many. He was sworn in by Philip H. Mecom, United States clerk.

Moore is also a graduate of L. S. U. and was admitted to the bar in 1932. He was formerly attorney for the state tax commission.

JJ. Y. Fontenot of Opelousas has been recommended for the appointment as assistant attorney to fill the vacancy caused by the elevation of Mr. Lafargue.

Both the appointment of Moore and the elevation of Patin was made by the attorney general on recommendation of Senator John H. Overton and Attorney Lafargue.

TRAIN DERAILMENT HURTS 4 SLIGHTLY

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., July 12.—(AP)—Atlantic Coast line offices here said tonight that the two engines and first eight coaches of the railroad's streamliner "Champion" were derailed but remained upright at Walthourville, Ga., tonight when the train struck a cow, causing a swich to open.

The offices said first information was that no injuries were suffered by passengers or train crew.

There was no great damage, the offices said, adding that from first reports the main line would be cleared and open "within a couple of hours" and normal traffic resumed.

Three soldiers and a woman who received minor injuries were taken by ambulance to the post hospital at Camp Stewart, Hinesville, Ga., not far from the scene of the wreck.

Frank E. McGuire, of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., who was en route to Pittsburgh, said no one aboard the train was seriously hurt.

PRICES ON COTTON FUTURES ADVANCE

NEW ORLEANS, July 12.—(AP)—Cotton futures were active here Saturday and prices advanced $1.15 to $1.40 a bale to new high record levels for the season before profit taking from the long side checked the upswing.

The heavy demand for contracts was attributed to buying induced by reports of heavy rains in the belt, boll weevil complaints, a favorable interpretation of war news and huge government expenditures for the defense program.

Final quotations were steady 12 to 19 points above the previous close with October at 15.57; December at 15.72; March at 15.78-80 and May at 15.76-77.

FOUR ARRESTED IN MARIHUANA RAID

NEW ORLEANS, July 12.—(AP)—Federal narcotic agents arrested four persons today and seized a quantity of marihuana in a raid they described as the largest "haul" made by the agents here in many months.

Charged with violation of the marihuana tax act were John Vaccaro, Chester Evans, Victor Vaccaro and his wife, Catherine.

Agents said they seized 20 pounds of bulk marihuana, which they estimated was enough for 12,000 cigarettes, and 425 cigarettes already rolled.

Deliveries to the British government increased approximately 500 per cent to 1,612 airplanes in the six-month period from July to December, 1940.

OFFERS POWER FOR ALUMINUM

Proposal Includes Increasing Sterlington Generating Capacity

SHREVEPORT, La., July 12.—(AP)—A plan to provide enough electricity to produce aluminum for 1,000 bombing planes a year before an electric power plant could be completed at the new defense aluminum plant to be built in southern Arkansas, was announced here tonight by A. Lieberman, president of the Southwestern Gas and Electric Company.

In addition to expediting production of aluminum, the plan will save for other defense needs 9,000,000 pounds of copper and 1,500,000 pounds of steel, according to Lieberman, who said the proposals were submitted Thursday to the office of production management in Washington, D. C.

Under the plan, Lieberman said, the Arkansas Power and Light Company, Louisiana Power and Light Company and the Southwestern, cooperating with other electric companies in adjacent states, would pool their present power resources and make available immediately the power required for construction of the aluminum plant. The companies would make available from their present systems 87,000 horsepower to put the first half of the aluminum plant in operation April 1, 1942.

The plan also contains a proposal that the electric companies will furnish the entire permanent supply, if asked to do so. To accomplish this the companies would increase the size of one power plant and build two new ones to supply the 160,000 horsepower required for operation of the new aluminum plant, which, according to Lieberman, will require more electric power than the cities of Little Rock, Shreveport and Dallas combined.

Under the permanent supply plan the Louisiana Power and Light Company would add 33,000 horsepower in generating capacity at its Sterlington, La., plant; Southwestern Gas and Electric would build a new 33,000 horsepower generating plant in northern Louisiana at a selected site on Caddo Lake; and Arkansas Power and Light Company would construct a new 100,000 horsepower plant in southern Arkansas to utilize sour gas production from the Magnolia area.

GOOD WILL TRAIN LEAVES ORLEANS

100 Louisianians, Led By Mrs. Sam Jones, On Way To Mexico

NEW ORLEANS, July 12.—(AP)—A delegation of 100 Louisianians headed by Mrs. Sam Jones, wife of the governor, left by special train tonight to begin a good will tour to Mexico which will also cover most of Texas.

The train left Baton Rouge earlier in the day and the party stopped here for a banquet tonight.

Governor Jones had planned to lead the expedition, but was prevented by the political fight over his reorganization of the state government. He will fly to Mexico City on Wednesday, however, the day the good will train arrives, to greet President Manuel Avila Camacho when he receives the tourists.

The train includes an exhibit car decorated in Louisiana moss and palmetto leaves, and carrying exhibits of Louisiana State university, the departments of agriculture, commerce and industry, the Automobile Association of America and the Young Men's J. Y. Fontenot of Opelousas has The car will be stopped and displayed at stopovers en route, scheduled at Galveston, Houston and San Antonio, Tex., and Monterrey, Mex., where local chambers of commerce will receive the delegates.

On the return trip, the train will stop at Austin, Fort Worth and Dallas, Tex., and arrive in New Orleans July 24. Pamphlets and leaflets on Louisiana will be distributed at all points.

For the tourists themselves, an orchestra will furnish music on the train, and a daily mimeographed paper will be issued.

Dr. Robert W. Bradbury, director of Louisiana State university's new division of Latin American relations, is among the delegates, and will seek to create good will for the proposed Pan-American building for the L. S. U. campus.

Also on the tour are Mrs. W. E. Anderson, wife of the state entomologist, who is representing the department of agriculture, and Justin Wilson, state warehouse examiner and son of Harry D. Wilson, secretary of agriculture.

The United States ambassador to Mexico, Josephus Danies, Mrs. Daniels will be hosts at a reception for the delegation Thursday.

Also making the trip to study agricultural conditions in Mexico are representatives of five mid-western states, sent by their respective departments of agriculture. They are Stanley R. Crow, Missouri; S. H. Lassen, South Dakota; Boyd Radford, Nebraska; H. E. Hazen, Iowa; and James W. O'Brien, Minnesota.

GOOD WILL TRAIN LEAVES BATON ROUGE

BATON ROUGE, La., July 12.—(AP)—The greater Louisiana special train, bearing 100 visitors and a carload of exhibits to Mexico, left Baton Rouge this afternoon and was scheduled to make its first stop in New Orleans for a banquet tonight.

Governor Sam Jones, who had planned to lead the mission, is remaining in the state to press his reorganization campaign, but plans to fly to Mexico City Wednesday to join the tourists in greeting President Manuel Avila Camacho.

Mrs. Jones is with the party.

Stops will be made and exhibits displayed in Texas cities as well as Monterrey and Mexico City.

The Airport Election

Voters of Ouachita parish will go to the polls Tuesday to determine for our citizenship whether Selman field will be enlarged to meet requirements of modern aviation or remain in its present inadequate confines. They will vote on a proposal by the police jury that a one-mill tax be approved for the purchase of land necessary to the expansion of the airport.

Parish and city officials, as well as many civic organizations, have urged that this tax be approved. These newspapers, from the outset, have supported the proposal and have attempted to explain why it is so important that money be provided to purchase additional land for the field.

We have it from authoritative sources in Washington that the CAA will provide money for the improvement of the field IF additional acreage is purchased. This expansion program, sponsored by the government, will mean the expenditure of approximately a half million dollars. But the government WILL NOT spend a dime of that amount for the purchase of land. That must be done by some other agency, and the only means of providing funds for that purpose appears to be through the levying of the proposed tax.

The police jury has made it clear that all of the $200,000 which would be raised by approval of the tax will not be spent unless that amount is required. Under the law, the money cannot be spent on any other project except the expansion of the airport. The election is called for that specific purpose, and none other.

The approval of this tax means much to the entire section. First, we will gain a government project in excess of a half million dollars. Second, the training of pilots now being conducted by our junior college will be expanded. Third, the large planes now in use both for commercial and military purposes will be afforded adequate landing space, something we don't have now. Fourth, national defense demands that a city the size of Monroe have an airport that will be large enough for use in case of an emergency.

This election is of vital importance to the entire parish, as well as Monroe and West Monroe. We must keep step with the times; we cannot afford to be passed by as some communities were three decades ago when they refused to admit that a rail outlet was an absolute necessity.

We hope the taxpayers of Ouachita parish will overwhelmingly approve the airport tax so that we may all go forward in the march of progress.

ANOTHER MAN DIES

A great many men, and women, are dying sudden and violent deaths these days. The fact that one more is to die in Berlin is perhaps not very interesting. Yet it is interesting, too. He is going to die because he listened to the radio, and liked what he heard enough to make copies of it and pass it along to others he thought would be interested.

He is a German, you see, and the program to which he listened came from outside Germany's border. So because he listened, and wrote it down, and passed it along, he is to die. That is official, from the official news agency in Berlin. Some 1,500 others of his compatriots got off easier, with fines and jail sentences, because they just listened and did not copy out the forbidden words.

The old order changeth, yielding place to new!

TRANSPORTING A MILLION

With the summer maneuver season not yet really opened, the railroads have already in the first four months of the year transported more than a million members of the armed forces. More than half these were on 1,890 special trains, the rest were carried incidental to regular service.

The transport burden will probably increase this summer as hundreds of thousands of troops are concentrated at various points for maneuvers. Nevertheless, performance to date gives some hope that the rail confusions of 1917-1918 will not occur again, either as to transportation of the armed forces themselves or the materials to supply them and keep the national economy going at the same time.

EAGLE'S EGGS HATCHING

The American Eagle is hatching warriors of the air at a rapid rate these days. The other day at Maxwell Field, Alabama, 147 bronzed flying cadets from 31 states pinned on their wings, making 554 pilots turned out at that center since February 7.

Thirty weeks ago, these 147 young men wouldn't have known how to crawl into a cockpit. When those wings were pinned on, each of them had flown more than 26,300 miles, or 1,300 miles more than the distance around the world at the equator. Together, they had flown 3,866,100 miles without a fatality.

More than 1,800 young men are now in that process of highly practical training. The nest of the eagle is full of fledglings. It is rapidly hatching a mighty brood.

Speaking of parking problems, Kansas is worrying about where to put 175,000,000 bushels of wheat.

JIMMIE FIDLER In Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD, July 12.—You'll have to pardon my low spirits this morning. I'm worried because we have a couple of marital fifth columnists in our midst—men who have conspired against the established order. I refer to Vic (leave-'em-gasping) Mature and Ken (cry-on-my-shoulder) Murray, both of whom, deliberately shirking their bachelor responsibilities, have married.

For the average man, marriage is a private matter. But I defy any apologist for Murray or Mature to argue that they were average men. They were Hollywood institutions—Mature being Heaven's gift to gay-young-ladies-without-a-sorrow and Murray being absolutely peerless as chief consoler to all young-ladies-bearing-torches. Why, in all Hollywood there was not a giddy young thing whose life hadn't been made brighter by a date, or hope of a date, with Vic. Nor was there a disillusioned-in-love beauty who hadn't been comforted by the sympathetic Ken. Marriage is not for such men as they.

It's the ingratitude of it all that pains me deepest. We columnists had expended our best efforts in making the services of Mature and Murray nationally famous. Magazine photographers had labored to make their faces known in every American home. And now, just as we were ready to sit back and admire our handiwork, they go A. W. O. L.

Praise Allah, we still have Franchot Tone and John Barrymore. They're only a twosome, but they're worth an army.

Idol chatter: Hollywood glamour girls should learn that the key to success doesn't lie in changing the color of their locks. . . . Peas-in-a-pod: Joan Leslie (today) and Priscilla Lane (five years ago). . . . When nastier cracks about John Barrymore are made, John will make them. . . . Add nude sun-bathing addicts: Madeleine Carroll. . . . Wonder if Linda Darnell still suffers from Rooneytism? . . . Suggested word huddle for the climax of any spelling bee: Ouspenskaya. . . . Bing Crosby has seven major interests in life—and the first six are not motion pictures. . . . In-a-word description of Hattie McDaniel's rise to fame: Black magic. . . . No smile in all Hollywood has a higher friendliness content than Bonita Granville's. . . . Sign of the season: Clark Gable in a boulevard sports store, studying fishing tackle. . . . With Grace Hayes, Peter Lind Hayes and Mary (Pete's wife) Healy all working in "Sis, Boom, Bah!" they oughta retitle it "Family Affair."

What's news: Kathryn (M-G-M find) Grayson and parents, already fighting Voice Coach Walter Schumann's lawsuit, face a new legal tiff with Singing Teacher Hallie Foster Stande; both claim money due for services rendered. . . . Looks like Bing Crosby meant it when he said "no pictures this summer"; he's nixed two terrific deals. . . . Roy Lester, hailed as a best-bet by M-G-M after scenes with Ann Sothern in "Ringside Mazie," has been signed for a year by Uncle Sam. . . . Dennis O'Keefe is not only financing a new deep-sea diving suit invented by a Los Angeles scientist, but will make initial tests. . . . The Burgess Meredith-Evelyn (Earl Carroll gasp) Moriarity romance has his bachelor pals fretting. . . . Ha! A current magazine ad is illustrated with a golfer captioned "too rich to worry"; the golfer-model was a Lakeside (club of the stars) caddy, photoed in a borrowed coat. . . . Peaches Browning has acquired Jay Carlisle, divorced by Tommy Manville's ex, Marcella Edwards. . . . Jimmy Cagney's trotters are winning races at eastern county fairs.

Intimate notes: A N'Yawk music lover asks why Bing Crosby doesn't take lessons and become a really great singer. Bing would like to, but feels he can't afford the luxury. Several years ago, he hired one of the coast's best teachers, worked hard—and was promptly buried under an avalanche of complaints from fans who wanted to know what had happened to the naturalness of his voice. . . . From Portland, Me.: "I should think Hollywood men would be completely disgusted by the revealing costumes those 'glamour girls' wear on the street." Not all Hollywood men feel that way, ma'am—just those over 90 and the ones who are securely married. . . . A San Diego fan wants to know which star is the best extemporaneous entertainer. There's just one possible answer — Mickey Rooney. When that mighty mite does his stuff at a party, other extroverts retire to the sidelines.

OUR CHILDREN

CHILDHOOD HABITS KEY TO SUCCESS

By Angelo Patri

Mothers are confronted daily by problems that have to do with the habits of children, some of them as trifling as they are irritating, some of them more serious.

If only this one would stop biting his nails, that one would remember to close a door after him and to stay within the house; if this one would change his clothes when he got home from play and if that one would chew his food, this one get up on time, that one get somewhere on time, the other one keep clean.

Children have to be trained to good habits first for their own sakes. Health, successful work, happiness depends upon the kind of habits that are set in childhood. Behind the habits are attitudes of mind and it is these that are so important to the character of the child. Given the right attitudes he will do well, otherwise, he will not.

Set Good Example

What is one to do about these annoying tricks and ways? Telling and retelling seems to do little good. Punishment does not help. Well, we have to keep on telling them and we must set a good example while doing so. The youngsters who are in fault have a way of falling back on others to justify their bad ways. "Well, Jackie has worse." "Daddy does it." "Yes, but you ought to see Marie!" Set before them an example that they would like to follow. Somebody they like will affect their behavior sooner than any other influence.

That brings us to the root of the matter. Win the child's will and the problem is solved. When the child wishes truly, to change his way for the better, the battle is won. Once his will is harnessed to the load it is pulled out of trouble. The trick is to win his will, to get him to want to change.

Children have to see things with their own eyes to be convinced. You tell them their hands are dirty, their nails in bad shape, and they take it lightly because they do not see them. They look at them daily but that does not mean that they see them. This is true about their annoying habits. They do not see themselves and so have no knowledge of their faults, consequently no wish, nor will, to change them.

Use A Mirror

Try to have them see. For the tricks of manner, twisting their faces, twirling their forelocks, sticking out their tongues, and the like, place a mirror where they are likely to catch their own reflections. That is one of the best possible cures for children entering adolescence with some of these odd ways.

Promise rewards for good effort, greater rewards for success, and make the span of effort short, remembering these children cannot sustain weeks of effort. Take a day at a time until they gather strength.

Don't use force. It is the will you want to win and force never wins that but quite the contrary. Force sets the will against the forcer. Go gently and be patient. Set the stage so as to capture the deep wish, the will of the child, and you have him.

Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care and development of children. Write him in care of this paper, P. O. Box 150, Times Square Station, New York, N. Y., enclosing a three-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope for reply.

Sunday School Lesson

The Sunday School Lesson For July 20
Text: I Corinthians 5:9-13; Titus 2:1-8
By William E. Gilroy, D. D.
Editor of Advance

This lesson is in two parts, one of which might be called negative and disciplinary, and the other idealistic and constructive.

The first part from Paul's first letter to the Corinthians deals with the matter of discipline within the church. Paul makes a wise distinction between relationships within the church and relationships of members toward others in the world outside. Paul had written the Corinthians that they should have nothing to do with those whose practices were contrary to Christian morality and teaching. Some evidently had interpreted this to mean that Christians should virtually retire from the world or assume a harsh and censorious attitude toward all with whom they came in contact.

Paul points out that this was not what he meant, that to assume such a course it would be necessary for Christians to go out of the world. What he did mean was that within the church there must be no compromise with immoral and evil practice. It seems a sound position to take, but one should point out that such disciplinary measures are capable of abuse even within the church, and that the law of love and Christian forbearance does not justify Christians in harsh judgments and attitudes.

If one reads the earlier history of many churches, the impression spreads that there were individuals whose religion consisted chiefly in the delight that they took in disciplining others. In general it may be said that the church has been far readier to adopt Paul's suggestions about discipline than it has been to put into practice Paul's much more important teaching concerning love as the greatest thing in the world.

A good cause is never well served by intolerant attitudes. There is such a thing as being intemperate, even in our advocacy of temperance. I remember attending some years ago a temperance convention in a large city. I had left the main auditorium to speak for a few moments with a friend in the lobby. While we were speaking, we heard from time to time the loud and raucous voice of a rather intolerant man who was haranguing the crowd inside. My friend, who like myself was a total abstainer and strongly opposed to the liquor traffic, said to me, "I never hear that man advocate temperance without feeling like going out and having a drink."

If a man so thoroughly devoted to the cause could be reacted upon in that way, what must have been the effect upon others? The temperance cause has been served most ably by those who have first of all practiced temperance, and who in their total life and conduct have manifested the beauties and graces of Christian living.

From this standpoint, it is a pleasure to turn to Paul's constructive words in his letter to Titus. Here he sets forth the things which, as he puts it, "befit the sound doctrine." It is a plea for temperance, sober-mindedness, love, and patience, for well disciplined, noble living, the sort of thing that will never bring shame upon ourselves or disgrace upon the church. It is as we make all these constructive virtues evident in our lives that we exert the truest influence on others, while attaining what is best for ourselves.

EXPLANATION OF YESTERDAY'S CARTOON

THE TOMB OF THE 'ARABIAN NIGHTS'—Because Zobeideh, favorite wife of Haroun al Rashid, is really Sheherezade, author of the "Arabian Nights," and the most fanciful tale weaver in the world, her tomb in Baghdad is the alma mater of all the picturesque public letter writers of the East. None can become a writer of love letters unless he has first spent a night in the tomb of Zobeideh and listened to the murmur of the well inside it.

IN WASHINGTON

By Peter Edson
Monroe Morning World Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—The heat is on in Washington, and by heat, heat is meant and not politics or pressure other than the barometric or relative humidity varieties.

The summer complaint of the capital city is of course famous now in song and story, including the one about the egg that can be fried on the Capitol steps almost any 15 minutes of any average day. Fried isn't an accurate designation, for such is the moisture content of the air that plenty of good cooks, putting foods on the stove with every intent of frying or broiling or baking them, find that they turn out poached or just plain boiled.

Three months of the year, Washington is too hot to live in and it must be that the only reason people do is because they love their country or just can't conceive of getting off its payroll. The government has gone in heavy for air conditioning to keep workers happy and doing a semblance of work, but the only department which has had enough brains to really outsmart the Washington weather is the Supreme Court. Its original old men saw to it that they got a three-months' vacation every year.

Even air conditioning doesn't solve all the problems. Spend an average eight-hour day in an air-conditioned government building and then step out onto an un-air-conditioned street and you know how the live lobster feels when they take him off the ice and drop him in boiling water. No wonder he turns grassy green to lipstick red.

Well, Fan My Brow

If you work in an office which has to open the windows, or if you belong to any of the pavement-pounding guilds such as selling vacuum cleaners, directing traffic or reporting for newspapers, your shirt is likely to be soaking wet from perspiration all the time. You get used to this if you have it steady, but if you step from this simmering, steaming teakettle status into an air-cooled office, that sopping wet smack in the middle of your back turns to jellied consomme and your whole being turns into that unenviable, gelatinous condition of the pigsfeet in the aspic. Some people who undergo this change too suddenly have been known to semi-solidify on the spot.

The 57,000 varieties of new government worker who have come to Washington for defense jobs since last fell are now trying to acclimatize themselves to this Washington atmosphere, but they're finding the going none too easy. The trouble is that not much can be done about getting away from it. The Virginia foothills and the Maryland shore resorts are just far enough away to be inconvenient. The Potomac, that river that things are supposed to be quiet along, is safe for canoeing but not for swimming, and the town's swimming pools, far too few in number in the first place, are—well, they're swimming pools.

Pocketbook Feels The Heat, Too

The numerous parks offer open spaces but even they soak up enough heat during the day to make them like soapstones in a fireless cooker at night. Air-cooled movies and restaurants give temporary relief, though in unlimited quantities they contribute to myopia and indigestion, respectively.

There are a few open-air eating places of the stable-converted-into-tearoom variety, but they close early. There are two hotel roofs and if there's a breeze blowing of any kind, they get it. Visited too often, they have a draining influence on the pocketbook and therefore they catch the visiting fireman trade, except on government payday Saturday nights, when the town turns out for a real hot time.

YOUNG WOMAN WANTS TO JOIN AIR CORPS

BATON ROUGE, La., July 12.—(AP)—The unidentified owner of a young feminine voice wants to join the United States air corps and said so at length by telephone to the Baton Rouge air base today.

Lieutenant Claude H. Brewer finally argued, "so far as I know, women fight only in Russia. Women in the United States fight over the bridge table. Or maybe at teas. And, anyway, you're supposed to be the inspiration behind this man's army."

The voice said, sweetly, "Phooey," and its owner hung up.

DEFENSE BOND . . . Quiz

Q. When are the bonds dated?

A. The first day of the month on which remittance is received by any authorized issuing agent.

Q. Where should I keep my bonds?

A. In a safe place, because they increase constantly in value. If you wish, the Treasury department or or any Federal Reserve Bank will hold them in safekeeping for you without extra charge, giving you a receipt.

Note.—To purchase Defense Bonds and Stamps, go to the nearest post office or bank, or write for information to the Treasurer of the United States, Washington, D. C.

Latvia Becomes Mixed Up In Newest European Fight

STANDING desolate between two abysses of destruction, Latvia finds herself victimized again by war. Like other European nations, Latvia had little choice when the Russo-German war began but to yield to the stronger adversary and permit troops to move across her territory.

Nor did she have any great desire to offer Russia much protection against the Nazi menace, since it was Russia that moved in and aggressively seized all three Baltic states shortly after World War II began.

The above stamp was issued in 1938, when Latvians were still enjoying peaceful lives. It is a view of Lioland, and was issued to commemorate the 20th anniversary of the Latvian republic.

Latvia, like her neighbors—Lithuania and Estonia—was set up independently after World War I. Like so many other small European nations, Latvia tried to maintain an attitude of neutrality toward World War II, but this policy was short-lived. Not long after the Nazis divided Poland with Russia, Joseph Stalin sent his troops into the Baltic states to take over as a "protective" measure.

JACKSON BLACKOUT BROUGHT TO CLOSE

JACKSON, Miss., July 12.—(AP)—Jackson was a city of lights again tonight and the blackout caused by damaging of three giant transformers was ended after 43 hours of work by Mississippi Power and Light Company crews replacing equipment which burned out early Thursday night.

Though full service was restored to all residences in Jackson and 32 nearby towns served by the local system, Rex I. Brown, company president, said electricity for commercial and industrial users would continue to be rationed until installation of additional equipment now en route from Little Rock, Ark., is completed "by the middle of the coming week."

In the search for all available electricity, even the state's portable equipment for electrocution was pressed into service.

Placed just outside the state capitol, the electric chair's portable generator in its large truck for four hours today furnished voltage to operate business machines in the offices of the tax commission, auditor and treasurer.

THREE CAMP SHELBY SOLDIERS INJURED

CAMP SHELBY, Miss., July 12.—(AP)—Three Camp Shelby soldiers, en route to board a train for furloughs at home, and a taxicab driver were injured today in a collision of the cab with an army truck on the military reservation.

The injured soldiers, members of the 135th Field Artillery, are Privates Lewis Knapp, Jr., and Charles Bowman, Dayton, O., and Theodore Haup, Trottwood, O.

New York Day by Day

By CHARLES B. DRISCOLL
Title Reg. U. S. Patent Office

NEW YORK—Diary: Domestic life has been revolving around a baby blue jay that my wife found in a street, while driving. Realizing that the helpless thing might be run over any minute, she stopped the car, brought the baby jay home. . . . The family has been occupied with feeding him ground steak, berries, and angle worms. . . . This morning we took him out in the back yard to see whether he could fly. He was making heavy weather of it when a male jay came zooming down out of a neighboring tree, threatened to scratch my eyes out, and woke the entire jay colony with his piercing cries of alarm. . . . When we retreated within the house, a pair of handsome jays formally adopted the orphan, right in our yard. . . . Mother Jay hastily got together a breakfast of angle worms, and dropped it into the wide-open mouth. . . . Little Jay is now sitting in a shrub, outside our dining room window, just growing. . . . We've named him Jay Jerome Williams.

The great Paderewski had not been seen much in New York in recent years. He kept close to his midtown hotel, occasionally going out for a brief stroll, usually alone. He seemed sad, seldom recognized anyone, and made conversations brief and noncommittal.

The hands that had wrought such beauty in sound as to lead millions into ecstasy of artistic delight, were stiffened and distorted by arthritis. The head of the old patriot was bowed under the weight of the sorrows of his people.

Twenty years ago, he was still the master musician, though years and a stubborn disease had made his work harder. I have never heard a pianist who could so stir a vast audience as did Paderewski.

There are grandmothers who may remember when the papers were full of stories of the mad crowds of American women, scratching and tearing for a chance to touch the handsome, saintly-looking young pianist from Poland.

When the New York Daily News finished an expensive survey, conducted for it by a New York agency, it found that the most widely read pages in the paper are the editorial page and the feature page opposite.

Top editorial feature, said the survey, is a daily editorial cartoon by C. D. Batchelor.

Since Batchelor is an old friend and a former Kansan, I called him up to congratulate him upon the result of the analysis.

That noon, Daughter Mary and I lunched with the hard-working cartoonist. Before he would leave his drawing board for lunch, he had to outline next morning's cartoon with wide, circling strokes, on a stippled sheet of drawing paper.

Batchelor is an absent-minded artist. While he talked, at lunch, of his early newspaper days in Kansas City, I could see that his mind was going back to that drawing board, where he had left the swirling outlines of tomorrow's cartoon.

He collects canes; has racks filled with interesting walkingsticks in his rooftop apartment in Tudor City, and a basketful of them in his workroom in the newspaper plant.

George Wieda, several years a promotional manager for Robert Ripley, the believe-it-or-not man, passed on suddenly at his summer home at Shelter Island, the other day.

George was one of the most agreeable and interesting men I have met. He always wore a smile, not professionally, but because the world seemed so good to him. His wife, a Southern beauty, was the object of his constant devotion.

George and Isabel were with us last Christmas season, and a year or so ago we visited them at Shelter Island. At the age of 40, he went in a flash, without warning. What a strange adventure is life!

The new criminal courts building, 17 stories high and a block long, is, with the connecting prison, by far the largest public building in New York.

While not as tall as the municipal building, it contains much more space.

The old criminal courts and the ancient Tombs prison are scheduled for destruction, probably during next winter. A park has been designed to occupy the two blocks of ground.

ICKES APPOINTS OIL COMMITTEES

WASHINGTON, July 12.—(AP)—Appointment of committees "to advise and consult on matters relating to the proposed coordination of the activities of the petroleum industry for national defense" was announced today by Interior Secretary Ickes, the defense petroleum coordinator.

The committees, four in each of the five districts which embrace the entire country, were named for the production, refining, transportation and marketing branches of the industry.

Appointments included:

District Three.

Production committee: Major B. A. Hardey, chairman, mineral board, New Orleans; Colonel T. H. Barton, president, Lion Oil and Refining Company, El Dorado, Arkansas.

Refining committee: Frank Holsten executive vice-president, Chalmette Petroleum Corporation, New Orleans; D. P. Hamilton, president, Root Petroleum Company, Shreveport, La.; M. J. Rathborn, president, Standard Oil Company of Louisiana, New Orleans.

Marketing committee:

G. M. Gordon, vice-president, Standard Oil Company of Louisiana, New Orleans, Louisiana.

The Airport Election

Voters of Ouachita parish will go to the polls Tuesday to determine for our citizenship whether Selman field will be enlarged to meet requirements of modern aviation or remain in its present inadequate confines. They will vote on a proposal by the police jury that a one-mill tax be approved for the purchase of land necessary to the expansion of the airport.

Parish and city officials, as well as many civic organizations, have urged that this tax be approved. These newspapers, from the outset, have supported the proposal and have attempted to explain why it is so important that money be provided to purchase additional land for the field.

We have it from authoritative sources in Washington that the CAA will provide money for the improvement of the field IF additional acreage is purchased. This expansion program, sponsored by the government, will mean the expenditure of approximately a half million dollars. But the government WILL NOT spend a dime of that amount for the purchase of land. That must be done by some other agency, and the only means of providing funds for that purpose appears to be through the levying of the proposed tax.

The police jury has made it clear that all of the $200,000 which would be raised by approval of the tax will not be spent unless that amount is required. Under the law, the money cannot be spent on any other project except the expansion of the airport. The election is called for that specific purpose, and none other.

The approval of this tax means much to the entire section. First, we will gain a government project in excess of a half million dollars. Second, the training of pilots now being conducted by our junior college will be expanded. Third, the large planes now in use both for commercial and military purposes will be afforded adequate landing space, something we don't have now. Fourth, national defense demands that a city the size of Monroe have an airport that will be large enough for use in case of an emergency.

This election is of vital importance to the entire parish, as well as Monroe and West Monroe. We must keep step with the times; we cannot afford to be passed by as some communities were three decades ago when they refused to admit that a rail outlet was an absolute necessity.

We hope the taxpayers of Ouachita parish will overwhelmingly approve the airport tax so that we may all go forward in the march of progress.

ANOTHER MAN DIES

A great many men, and women, are dying sudden and violent deaths these days. The fact that one more is to die in Berlin is perhaps not very interesting. Yet it is interesting, too. He is going to die because he listened to the radio, and liked what he heard enough to make copies of it and pass it along to others he thought would be interested.

He is a German, you see, and the program to which he listened came from outside Germany's border. So because he listened, and wrote it down, and passed it along, he is to die. That is official, from the official news agency in Berlin. Some 1,500 others of his compatriots got off easier, with fines and jail sentences, because they just listened and did not copy out the forbidden words.

The old order changeth, yielding place to new!

TRANSPORTING A MILLION

With the summer maneuver season not yet really opened, the railroads have already in the first four months of the year transported more than a million members of the armed forces. More than half these were on 1,890 special trains, the rest were carried incidental to regular service.

The transport burden will probably increase this summer as hundreds of thousands of troops are concentrated at various points for maneuvers. Nevertheless, performance to date gives some hope that the rail confusions of 1917-1918 will not occur again, either as to transportation of the armed forces themselves or the materials to supply them and keep the national economy going at the same time.

EAGLE'S EGGS HATCHING

The American Eagle is hatching warriors of the air at a rapid rate these days. The other day at Maxwell Field, Alabama, 147 bronzed flying cadets from 31 states pinned on their wings, making 554 pilots turned out at that center since February 7.

Thirty weeks ago, these 147 young men wouldn't have known how to crawl into a cockpit. When those wings were pinned on, each of them had flown more than 26,300 miles, or 1,300 miles more than the distance around the world at the equator. Together, they had flown 3,866,100 miles without a fatality.

More than 1,800 young men are now in that process of highly practical training. The nest of the eagle is full of fledglings. It is rapidly hatching a mighty brood.

Speaking of parking problems, Kansas is worrying about where to put 175,000,000 bushels of wheat.

JIMMIE FIDLER In Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD, July 12.—You'll have to pardon my low spirits this morning. I'm worried because we have a couple of marital fifth columnists in our midst—men who have conspired against the established order. I refer to Vic (leave-'em-gasping) Mature and Ken (cry-on-my-shoulder) Murray, both of whom, deliberately shirking their bachelor responsibilities, have married.

For the average man, marriage is a private matter. But I defy any apologist for Murray or Mature to argue that they were average men. They were Hollywood institutions—Mature being Heaven's gift to gay-young-ladies-without-a-sorrow and Murray being absolutely peerless as chief consoler to all young-ladies-bearing-torches. Why, in all Hollywood there was not a giddy young thing whose life hadn't been made brighter by a date, or hope of a date, with Vic. Nor was there a disillusioned-in-love beauty who hadn't been comforted by the sympathetic Ken. Marriage is not for such men as they.

It's the ingratitude of it all that pains me deepest. We columnists had expended our best efforts in making the services of Mature and Murray nationally famous. Magazine photographers had labored to make their faces known in every American home. And now, just as we were ready to sit back and admire our handiwork, they go A. W. O. L.

Praise Allah, we still have Franchot Tone and John Barrymore. They're only a twosome, but they're worth an army.

Intimate notes: A N'Yawk music lover asks why Bing Crosby doesn't take lessons and become a really great singer. Bing would like to, but feels he can't afford the luxury. Several years ago, he hired one of the coast's best teachers, worked hard—and was promptly buried under an avalanche of complaints from fans who wanted to know what had happened to the naturalness of his voice. . . . Not all Hollywood men feel that way, ma'am—just those over 90 and the ones who are securely married. . . . A San Diego fan wants to know which star is the best extemporaneous entertainer. There's just one possible answer — Mickey Rooney. When that mighty mite does his stuff at a party, other extroverts retire to the sidelines.

OUR CHILDREN

CHILDHOOD HABITS KEY TO SUCCESS

By Angelo Patri

Mothers are confronted daily by problems that have to do with the habits of children, some of them as trifling as they are irritating, some of them more serious.

If only this one would stop biting his nails, that one would remember to close a door after him and to stay within the house; if this one would change his clothes when he got home from play and if that one would chew his food, this one get up on time, that one get somewhere on time, the other one keep clean.

Children have to be trained to good habits first for their own sakes. Health, successful work, happiness depends upon the kind of habits that are set in childhood. Behind the habits are attitudes of mind and it is these that are so important to the character of the child. Given the right attitudes he will do well, otherwise, he will not.

Set Good Example

What is one to do about these annoying tricks and ways? Telling and retelling seems to do little good. Punishment does not help. Well, we have to keep on telling them and we must set a good example while doing so. The youngsters who are in fault have a way of falling back on others to justify their bad ways. "Well, Jackie has worse." "Daddy does it." "Yes, but you ought to see Marie!" Set before them an example that they would like to follow. Somebody they like will affect their behavior sooner than any other influence.

That brings us to the root of the matter. Win the child's will and the problem is solved. When the child wishes truly, to change his way for the better, the battle is won. Once his will is harnessed to the load it is pulled out of trouble. The trick is to win his will, to get him to want to change.

Children have to see things with their own eyes to be convinced. You tell them their hands are dirty, their nails in bad shape, and they take it lightly because they do not see them. They look at them daily but that does not mean that they see them. This is true about their annoying habits. They do not see themselves and so have no knowledge of their faults, consequently no wish, nor will, to change them.

Use A Mirror

Try to have them see. For the tricks of manner, twisting their faces, twirling their forelocks, sticking out their tongues, and the like, place a mirrer where they are likely to catch their own reflections. That is one of the best possible cures for children entering adolescence with some of these odd ways.

Promise rewards for good effort, greater rewards for success, and make the span of effort short, remembering these children cannot sustain weeks of effort. Take a day at a time until they gather strength.

Don't use force. It is the will you want to win and force never wins that but quite the contrary. Force sets the will against the forcer. Go gently and be patient. Set the stage so as to capture the deep wish, the will of the child, and you have him.

Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care and development of children. Write him in care of this paper, P. O. Box 150, Times Square Station, New York, N. Y., enclosing a three-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope for reply.

Sunday School Lesson

The Sunday School Lesson For July 20
Text: I Corinthians 5:9-13; Titus 2:1-8
By William E. Gilroy, D. D.
Editor of Advance

This lesson is in two parts, one of which might be called negative and disciplinary, and the other idealistic and constructive.

The first part from Paul's first letter to the Corinthians deals with the matter of discipline within the church. Paul makes a wise distinction between relationships within the church and relationships of members toward others in the world outside. Paul had written the Corinthians that they should have nothing to do with those whose practices were contrary to Christian morality and teaching. Some evidently had interpreted this to mean that Christians should virtually retire from the world or assume a harsh and censorious attitude toward all with whom they came in contact.

Paul points out that this was not what he meant, that to assume such a course it would be necessary for Christians to go out of the world. What he did mean was that within the church there must be no compromise with immoral and evil practice. It seems a sound position to take, but one should point out that such disciplinary measures are capable of abuse even within the church and that the law of love and Christian forbearance does not justify Christians in harsh judgments and attitudes.

If one reads the earlier history of many churches, the impression spreads that there were individuals whose religion consisted chiefly in the delight that they took in disciplining others. In general it may be said that the church has been far readier to adopt Paul's suggestions about discipline than it has been to put into practice Paul's much more important teaching concerning love as the greatest thing in the world.

A good cause is never well served by intolerant attitudes. There is such a thing as being intemperate, even in our advocacy of temperance. I remember attending some years ago a temperance convention in a large city. I had left the main auditorium to speak for a few moments with a friend in the lobby. While we were speaking, we heard from time to time the loud and raucous voice of a rather intolerant man who was haranguing the crowd inside. My friend, who like myself was a total abstainer and strongly opposed to the liquor traffic said to me, "I never hear that man advocate temperance without feeling like going out and having a drink."

If a man so thoroughly devoted to the cause could be reacted upon in that way, what must have been the effect upon others? The temperance cause has been served most ably by those who have first of all practiced temperance, and who in their total life and conduct have manifested the beauties and graces of Christian living.

From this standpoint, it is a pleasure to turn to Paul's constructive words in his letter to Titus. Here he sets forth the things which, as he puts it, "befit the sound doctrine." It is a plea for temperance, sober-mindedness, love, and patience, for well disciplined, noble living, the sort of thing that will never bring shame upon ourselves or disgrace upon the church. It is as we make all these constructive virtues evident in our lives that we exert the truest influence on others, while attaining what is best for ourselves.

EXPLANATION OF YESTERDAY'S CARTOON

THE TOMB OF THE 'ARABIAN NIGHTS'—Because Zobeideh, favorite wife of Haroun al Rashid, is really Sheherezade, author of the "Arabian Nights," and the most fanciful tale weaver in the world, her tomb in Baghdad is the alma mater of all the picturesque public letter writers of the East. None can become a writer of love letters unless he has first spent a night in the tomb of Zobeideh and listened to the murmur of the well inside it.

IN WASHINGTON

By Peter Edson
Monroe Morning World Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—The heat is on in Washington, and by heat, heat is meant and not politics or pressure other than the barometric or relative humidity varieties.

The summer complaint of the capital city is of course famous now in song and story, including the one about the egg that can be fried on the Capitol steps almost any 15 minutes of any average day. Fried isn't an accurate designation, for such is the moisture content of the air that plenty of good cooks, putting foods on the stove with every intent of frying or broiling or baking them, find that they turn out poached or just plain boiled.

Three months of the year, Washington is too hot to live in and it must be that the only reason people do is because they love their country or just can't conceive of getting off its payroll. The government has gone in heavy for air conditioning to keep workers happy and doing a semblance of work, but the only department which has had enough brains to really outsmart the Washington weather is the Supreme Court. Its original old men saw to it that they got a three-months' vacation every year.

Even air conditioning doesn't solve all the problems. Spend an average eight-hour day in an air-conditioned government building and then step out onto an un-air-conditioned street and you know how the live lobster feels when they take him off the ice and drop him in boiling water. No wonder he turns grassy green to lipstick red.

Well, Fan My Brow

If you work in an office which has to open the windows, or if you belong to any of the pavement-pounding guilds such as selling vacuum cleaners, directing traffic or reporting for newspapers, your shirt is likely to be soaking wet from perspiration all the time. You get used to this if you have it steady, but if you step from this simmering, steaming teakettle status into an air-cooled office, that sopping wet smack in the middle of your back turns to jellied consomme and your whole being turns into that unenviable, gelatinous condition of the pigsfeet in the aspic. Some people who undergo this change too suddenly have been known to semi-solidify on the spot.

The 57,000 varieties of new government worker who have come to Washington for defense jobs since last fell are now trying to acclimatize themselves to this Washington atmosphere, but they're finding the going none too easy. The trouble is that not much can be done about getting away from it. The Virginia foothills and the Maryland shore resorts are just far enough away to be inconvenient. The Potomac, that river that things are supposed to be quiet along, is safe for canoeing but not for swimming, and the town's swimming pools, far too few in number in the first place, are—well, they're swimming pools.

Pocketbook Feels The Heat, Too

The numerous parks offer open spaces but even they soak up enough heat during the day to make them like soapstones in a fireless cooker at night. Air-cooled movies and restaurants give temporary relief, though in unlimited quantities they contribute to myopia and indigestion, respectively.

There are a few open-air eating places of the stable-converted-into-tea-room variety, but they close early. There are two hotel roofs and if there's a breeze blowing of any kind, they get it. Visited too often, they have a draining influence on the pocketbook and therefore they catch the visiting fireman trade, except on government payday Saturday nights, when the town turns out for a real hot time.

YOUNG WOMAN WANTS TO JOIN AIR CORPS

BATON ROUGE, La., July 12.—(AP)—The unidentified owner of a young feminine voice wants to join the United States air corps and said so at length by telephone to the Baton Rouge air base today.

Lieutenant Claude H. Brewer finally argued, "so far as I know, women fight only in Russia. Women in the United States fight over the bridge table. Or maybe at teas. And, anyway, you're supposed to be the inspiration behind this man's army."

The voice said, sweetly, "Phooey," and its owner hung up.

DEFENSE BOND . . . Quiz

Q. When are the bonds dated?

A. The first day of the month on which remittance is received by any authorized issuing agent.

Q. Where should I keep my bonds?

A. In a safe place, because they increase constantly in value. If you wish, the Treasury department or any Federal Reserve Bank will hold them in safekeeping for you without extra charge, giving you a receipt.

Note.—To purchase Defense Bonds and Stamps, go to the nearest post office or bank, or write for information to the Treasurer of the United States, Washington, D. C.

Latvia Becomes Mixed Up In Newest European Fight

STANDING desolate between two abysses of destruction, Latvia finds herself victimized again by war. Like other European nations, Latvia had little choice when the Russo-German war began but to yield to the stronger adversary and permit troops to move across her territory.

Nor did she have any great desire to offer Russia much protection against the Nazi menace, since it was Russia that moved in and aggressively seized all three Baltic states shortly after World War II began.

The above stamp was issued in 1938, when Latvians were still enjoying peaceful lives. It is a view of Lioland, and was issued to commemorate the 20th anniversary of the Latvian republic.

Latvia, like her neighbors—Lithuania and Estonia—was set up independently after World War I. Like so many other small European nations, Latvia tried to maintain an attitude of neutrality toward World War II, but this policy was short-lived. Not long after the Nazis divided Poland with Russia, Joseph Stalin sent his troops into the Baltic states to take over as a "protective" measure.

JACKSON BLACKOUT BROUGHT TO CLOSE

JACKSON, Miss., July 12.—(AP)—Jackson was a city of lights again tonight and the blackout caused by damaging of three giant transformers was ended after 43 hours of work by Mississippi Power and Light Company crews replacing equipment which burned out early Thursday night.

Though full service was restored to all residences in Jackson and 32 nearby towns served by the local system, Rex I. Brown, company president, said electricity for commercial and industrial users would continue to be rationed until installation of additional equipment now en route from Little Rock, Ark., is completed "by the middle of the coming week."

In the search for all available electricity, even the state's portable equipment for electrocution was pressed into service.

Placed just outside the state capitol, the electric chair's portable generator in its large truck for four hours today furnished voltage to operate business machines in the offices of the tax commission, auditor and treasurer.

THREE CAMP SHELBY SOLDIERS INJURED

CAMP SHELBY, Miss., July 12.—(AP)—Three Camp Shelby soldiers, en route to board a train for furloughs at home, and a taxicab driver were injured today in a collision of the cab with an army truck on the military reservation.

The injured soldiers, members of the 155th Field Artillery, are Privates Lewis Knapp, Jr., and Charles Bowman, Dayton, O., and Theodore Haup, Trottwood, O.

New York Day by Day

Title Reg. U. S. Patent Office

NEW YORK—Diary: Domestic life has been revolving around a baby blue jay that my wife found in a street, while driving. Realizing that the helpless thing might be run over any minute, she stopped the car, brought the baby jay home. . . . The family has been occupied with feeding him ground steak, berries, and angle worms. . . . This morning we took him out in the back yard to see whether he could fly. He was making heavy weather of it when a male jay came zooming down out of a neighboring tree, threatened to scratch my eyes out, and woke the entire jay colony with his piercing cries of alarm. . . . When we retreated within the house, a pair of handsome jays formally adopted the orphan, right in our yard. . . . Mother Jay hastily got together a breakfast of angle worms, and dropped it into the wide-open mouth. . . . Little Jay is now sitting in a shrub, outside our dining room window, just growing. . . . We've named him Jay Jerome Williams.

The great Paderewski had not been seen much in New York in recent years. He kept close to his midtown hotel, occasionally going out for a brief stroll, usually alone. He seemed sad, seldom recognized anyone, and made conversations brief and noncommittal.

The hands that had wrought such beauty in sound as to lead millions into ecstasy of artistic delight, were stiffened and distorted by arthritis. The head of the old patriot was bowed under the weight of the sorrows of his people.

Twenty years ago, he was still the master musician, though years and a stubborn disease had made his work harder. I have never heard a pianist who could so stir a vast audience as did Paderewski.

There are grandmothers who may remember when the papers were full of stories of the mad crowds of American women, scratching and tearing for a chance to touch the handsome, saintly-looking young pianist from Poland.

Top editorial feature, said the survey, is a daily editorial cartoon b C. D. Batchelor.

Since Batchelor is an old friend an a former Kansan, I called him up to congratulate him upon the result of the analysis.

That noon, Daughter Mary and I lunched with the hard-working cartoonist. Before he would leave his drawing board for lunch, he had to outline next morning's cartoon with wide, circling strokes, on a stippled sheet of drawing paper.

Batchelor is an absent-minded artist. While he talked, at lunch, of his early newspaper days in Kansas City, I could see that his mind was going back to that drawing board, where he had left the swirling outlines of tomorrow's cartoon.

He collects canes; has racks filled with interesting walkingsticks in his rooftop apartment in Tudor City, and a basketful of them in his workroom in the newspaper plant.

George Wieda, several years a promotional manager for Robert Ripley, the believe-it-or-not man, passed on suddenly at his summer home at Shelter Island, the other day.

George was one of the most agreeable and interesting men I have met. He always wore a smile, not professionally, but because the world seemed so good to him. His wife, a Southern beauty, was the object of his constant devotion.

George and Isabel were with us last Christmas season, and a year or so ago we visited them at Shelter Island. At the age of 40, he went in a flash, without warning. What a strange adventure is life!

The new criminal courts building, 17 stories high and a block long, is, with the connecting prison, by far the largest public building in New York.

While not as tall as the municipal building, it contains much more space. The old criminal courts and the ancient Tombs prison are scheduled for destruction, probably during next winter. A park has been designed to occupy the two blocks of ground.

ICKES APPOINTS OIL COMMITTEES

WASHINGTON, July 12—(AP)—Appointment of committees "to advise and consult on matters relating to the proposed coordination of the activities of the petroleum industry for national defense" was announced today by Interior Secretary Ickes, the defense petroleum coordinator.

The committees, four in each of the five districts which embrace the entire country, were named for the production, refining, transportation and marketing branches of the industry.

Appointments included:

District Three.

Production committee: Major B. A. Hardey, chairman, mineral board, New Orleans; Colonel T. H. Barton, president, Lion Oil and Refining Company, El Dorado, Arkansas.

Refining committee: Frank Holsten, executive vice-president, Chalmette Petroleum Corporation, New Orleans; D. P. Hamilton, president, Root Petroleum Company, Shreveport, La.; M. J. Rathborn, president, Standard Oil Company of Louisiana, New Orleans.

Marketing committee:

G. M. Gordon, vice-president, Standard Oil Company of Louisiana, New Orleans, Louisiana.

RAIN DAMAGING CROPS IN STATE

Prevents Farmers From Cultivating, Market Service Reports

BATON ROUGE, La., July 12.—(AP)—Louisiana crops suffered from insufficient cultivation during June caused by intermittent rains, the United States department of agriculture's marketing service reported today.

The report remarked that considerable progress was made, however, in the last 10 days of the month.

Cotton got off to a late start and growth was retarded by cool weather and excessive rains. Many lowland fields were flooded and may be abandoned, the report said, although in the delta section the crop is in better condition than usual. The excessive moisture favored boll weevil activity and infestation is reported to be heavier than for a number of years.

Early corn has done well, the service reported, and good yields are in prospect. Late plantings have not done so well; stands are generally poor and fields need cultivation.

Rains caused some loss of oats and hay crops that were ready for harvest in June. Pastures and livestock are in good condition.

The truck crop season is drawing to a close, with only watermelons left for shipment in volume.

Fruit prospects have been lowered by the continued rains, hot weather, and local hail storms.

Pecans, generally, do not promise a heavy yield this season, the service found. There has been much shedding and considerable prevalence of diseases and insects.

The rice crop, as a whole, is doing well. Stands are mostly good, and trouble from weeds and insects is inconsiderable.

Sugar cane stands are not so good as usual, the report remarked, especially in the stubble portion. While the crop has been laid by in fair to good condition in many fields, there are large numbers that are grassy owing to inability to cultivate.

The acreage of cotton in cultivation July 1 in Louisiana was estimated at 1,090,000 acres compared with 1,199,000 acres planted and 1,130,000 acres harvested in 1940. For the belt, the estimate was 23,519,000 acres against 24,871,000 acres in 1940, a decrease of 5.4 per cent.

Corn acreage in Louisiana was estimated at 1,478,000 acres, or 96 per cent of that planted in 1940. July 1 condition indicates a yield per acre of 15 bushels and forecasts total production of 22,170,000 bushels this year against 24,128,000 bushels last year.

Production of oats in Louisiana this year on the 71,000 acres harvested was estimated at 2,130,000 bushels compared with 1,984,000 bushels on 62,000 acres in 1940.

The acreage of rice planted in Louisiana this year was estimated at 514,000 acres, or 105 per cent of the acreage sown in 1940, but the indicated production of 21,588,000 bushels is nearly 20 per cent above that of last year owing to lower yields and heavy abandonment following the storm in August last year. Production in the four rice states is estimated at 58,160,000 bushels compared with 52,754,000 bushels last year.

Based on the preliminary estimate of 240,000 acres of cane for sugar, July 1 conditions indicated 4,200,000 tons compared with 2,925,000 tons harvested for sugar last year. Florida has 32,100 acres of cane for sugar this year compared with 29,700 acres harvested last year.

SHREVEPORT, La., July 12.—(AP)—Cotton farmers in the tri-state area are disconsolate over the change in weather conditions that adds to their already serious troubles.

Just as fair weather and warm days began to give some relief from the boll weevil menace rains have interrupted to give a serious backset.

With cotton prices at the highest level in 11 years the cotton farmers in this area face the plight of a short crop as the result of a late spring and continuous rains made worse by boll weevil ravages.

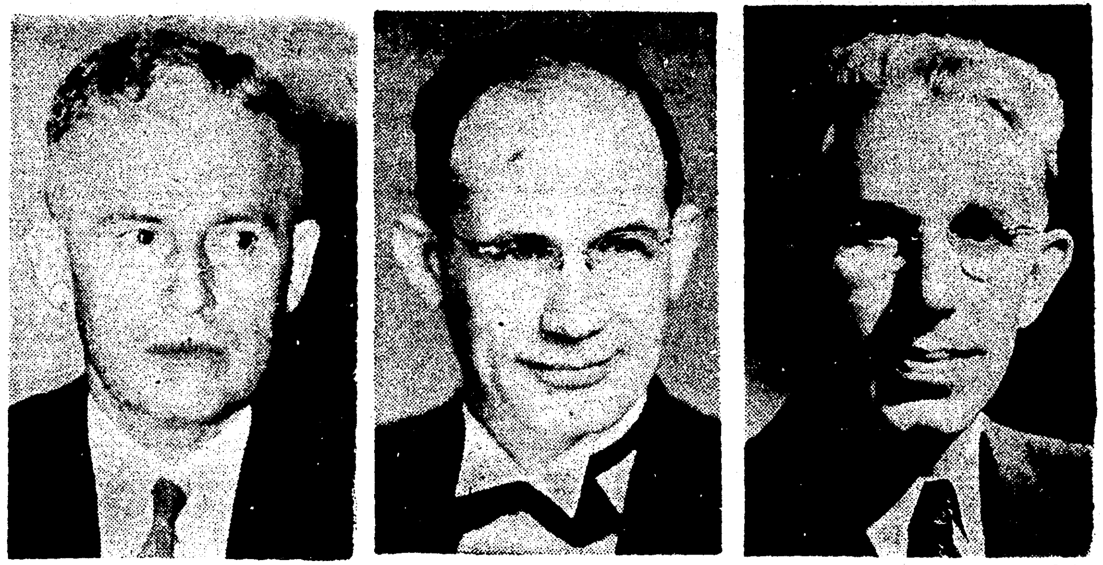
Cotton crops were delayed several weeks because of late cold spells and rains which required a great deal of replanting. Two spells of rains have seriously interfered with cultivation and the weather conditions in general have made the boll weevil ravages more serious.

The hot, fair spell which began a few days ago was doing a great deal of good when the rains started yesterday.

Many of the cotton fields which under normal conditions would be nearing the opening stage are not well advanced in the bloom stage. Reports from both the hill and alluvial areas are that the cotton crop will be far short of normal.

The only bright outlook now is that what cotton is produced will bring a fair price.

NEW L. S. U. OFFICIALS



Three who entered upon important posts at the Louisiana State university on the first of the month are, left to right, Major General Campbell B. Hodges, native Louisianian and alumnus of the university and the United States Military academy, who became president; Dr. Fred C. Frey, dean of the L. S. U. college of arts and sciences since 1931 and dean of the university for the past two years, continued as dean of the university with increased administrative powers, and Dr. W. H. Stephenson, member of the university history faculty since 1927, named dean of arts and sciences. Dr. Frey is a graduate of the university and the University of Minnesota; Dr. Stephenson, of Indiana university and the University of Michigan. General Hodges, until his retirement from the army on June 30, was Louisiana's highest ranking active army officer.

VICKSBURG WOMAN SHOOTS MATE, SELF

VICKSBURG, Miss., July 12.—(AP)—Police Officer A. E. Webb said Mrs. Hattie Jeffords, 25, seriously wounded her husband, O. M. Jeffords, 27, today and then turned the shotgun on herself, inflicting a critical wound.

Both are in a local hospital, where physicians held little hope for Mrs. Jeffords' recovery. The woman was shot once in the left breast while one shot pierced her husband's jaw.

Officer Webb said the shooting occurred at Jeffords' room only a few blocks away from the main business district. Earlier in the day Mrs. Jeffords, who had been separated from her husband recently, came to his room and threatened him with a pistol, Webb quoted Jeffords as saying. Jeffords reported to work to the River Barge line later and when he returned home found Mrs. Jeffords in his upstairs room.

After another argument the woman went downstairs and called her husband, Officer Webb reported. As he approached the room where she apparently had concealed herself, his wife opened fire. Jeffords told police as he ran outside to summon an ambulance he heard another shot and turned to see his wife collapse on the porch.

RAIN DAMAGING CROPS IN STATE

Prevents Farmers From Cultivating, Market Service Reports

BATON ROUGE, La., July 12.—(AP)—Louisiana crops suffered from insufficient cultivation during June caused by intermittent rains, the United States department of agriculture's marketing service reported today.

The report remarked that considerable progress was made, however, in the last 10 days of the month.

Cotton got off to a late start and growth was retarded by cool weather and excessive rains. Many lowland fields were flooded and may be abandoned, the report said, although in the delta section the crop is in better condition than usual. The excessive moisture favored boll weevil activity and infestation is reported to be heavier than for a number of years.

Early corn has done well, the service reported, and good yields are in prospect. Late plantings have not done so well; stands are generally poor and fields need cultivation.

Rains caused some loss of oats and hay crops that were ready for harvest in June. Pastures and livestock are in good condition.

The truck crop season is drawing to a close, with only watermelons left for shipment in volume.

Fruit prospects have been lowered by the continued rains, hot weather, and local hail storms.

Pecans, generally, do not promise a heavy yield this season, the service found. There has been much shedding and considerable prevalence of diseases and insects.

The rice crop, as a whole, is doing well. Stands are mostly good, and trouble from weeds and insects is inconsiderable.

Sugar cane stands are not so good as usual, the report remarked, especially in the stubble portion. While the crop has been laid by in fair to good condition in many fields, there are large numbers that are grassy owing to inability to cultivate.

The acreage of cotton in cultivation July 1 in Louisiana was estimated at 1,090,000 acres compared with 1,199,000 acres planted and 1,130,000 acres harvested in 1940. For the belt, the estimate was 23,519,000 acres against 24,871,000 acres in 1940, a decrease of 5.4 per cent.

Corn acreage in Louisiana was estimated at 1,478,000 acres, or 96 per cent of that planted in 1940. July 1 condition indicates a yield per acre of 15 bushels and forecasts total production of 22,170,000 bushels this year against 24,128,000 bushels last year.

Production of oats in Louisiana this year on the 71,000 acres harvested was estimated at 2,130,000 bushels compared with 1,984,000 bushels on 62,000 acres in 1940.

The acreage of rice planted in Louisiana this year was estimated at 514,000 acres, or 105 per cent of the acreage sown in 1940, but the indicated production of 21,588,000 bushels is nearly 20 per cent above that of last year owing to lower yields and heavy abandonment following the storm in August last year. Production in the four rice states is estimated at 58,160,000 bushels compared with 52,754,000 bushels last year.

Based on the preliminary estimate of 240,000 acres of cane for sugar, July 1 conditions indicated 4,200,000 tons compared with 2,925,000 tons harvested for sugar last year. Florida has 32,100 acres of cane for sugar this year compared with 29,700 acres harvested last year.

SHREVEPORT, La., July 12.—(AP)—Cotton farmers in the tri-state area are disconsolate over the change in weather conditions that adds to their already serious troubles.

Just as fair weather and warm days began to give some relief from the boll weevil menace rains have interrupted to give a serious backset.

With cotton prices at the highest level in 11 years the cotton farmers in this area face the plight of a short crop as the result of a late spring and continuous rains made worse by boll weevil ravages.

Cotton crops were delayed several weeks because of late cold spells and rains which required a great deal of replanting. Two spells of rains have seriously interfered with cultivation and the weather conditions in general have made the boll weevil ravages more serious.

The hot, fair spell which began a few days ago was doing a great deal of good when the rains started yesterday.

Many of the cotton fields which under normal conditions would be nearing the opening stage are not well advanced in the bloom stage. Reports from both the hill and alluvial areas are that the cotton crop will be far short of normal.

The only bright outlook now is that what cotton is produced will bring a fair price.

INVENTED DICE

Inhabitants of ancient Lydia, in Asia Minor, invented the game of dice as a substitute for eating. For 22 years, dice and a ball game were played every other day to help take their minds off the lack of food in the days of famine.

PARISH HEALTH UNIT WILL ACT

Will Initiate Program Of Food Sanitation In This Area

In accordance with definite instructions issued by Dr. J. H. Musser, director of the Louisiana state department of health, the Ouachita parish health department has begun an active program of health and food sanitation activities in the Twin Cities and Ouachita parish.

Due to the coming army maneuvers, it has become mandatory that all food-handling places meet all regulations set forth in the state sanitary code, in order to be allowed to operate during the maneuver period. For the past several years the local health department has been carrying on a food sanitation program with very satisfactory results in the great majority of cases, however, during the army maneuvers it is more important than ever that all food-handling places use every means to protect the health of both soldiers and civilian population.

Letters of instructions have been mailed to the proprietors of all food-handling places known to the health department and this department will not tolerate the violation of laws governing the operation of such establishments, which includes hotels, cafes, restaurants, roadside stands, night clubs, bars, meat markets, bakeries, ice cream plants, bottling plants or any other establishment where food or drink is prepared or sold to the public.

"In this hour of national emergency, the preservation of the health and well being of this nation could easily be the deciding factor in the ultimate outcome of this great conflict and I know of no other group of people who can do more to protect the health of our people than those who prepare and serve our food and I feel sure that this group of people will give the army officials and the health authorities their most willing and wholehearted cooperation," stated Dr. Douglas Williams, local health unit director.

The following regulations governing the handling of foods and equipment of places where food is sold is made known:

Floors—The floors of all rooms in which food or drink is stored, prepared or served, or in which utensils are washed, must be kept clean at all times and of such construction as to be easily cleaned.

Walls and ceilings—Walls and ceilings of all rooms must be kept clean and in good repair.

Doors and windows—All openings into the outer air must be effectively screened and doors must be self-closing, unless other effective means are provided to prevent the entrance of flies.

Lighting—All rooms in which food or drink is stored or prepared, or in which utensils are washed, shall be well lighted.

Ventilation—All rooms in which food or drink is stored, prepared or served or in which utensils are washed must be well ventilated.

Toilet facilities—All food establishments must be provided with a toilet conforming with the requirements of the department of health, state of Louisiana. Toilet rooms must not open directly into any room in which food, drink or utensils are handled or stored.

Water supply—The water supply must be easily accessible to all rooms in which food is prepared or utensils are washed and must be adequate and of a safe sanitary quality.

Lavatory facilities—Adequate and convenient hand-washing facilities must be provided, including warm water, soap and approved sanitary towels.

Construction of utensils and equipment—All multi-use utensils and all show and display cases, or windows, counters, shelves, tables, refrigerating equipment, sinks and other equipment or utensils, must be so constructed as to be easily cleaned and must be kept clean and in good repair.

Cleaning and bactericidal treatment of utensils and equipment—All drinking and eating establishments must be provided with a three-compartment sink or a mechanical dish washing machine. All multi-use utensils used in the preparation or serving of food and drink must be thoroughly cleaned and effectively subjected to an approved bactericidal process following each use.

Storage and handling of utensils and equipment—After bactericidal treatment, all utensils must be stored in a clean dry place, protected from flies, dust or other contamination.

Disposal of waste—All waste must be properly disposed of and all garbage and trash must be kept in suitable receptacles and in such manner as not to become a nuisance.

Refrigeration—All readily perishable food or drink must be kept at 45 degrees or below. Refrigerators and cold storage must be kept clean and in good repair.

Wholesomeness of food and drink—All food and drink must be wholesome and free from spoilage. All milk and fluid milk products must be from sources approved by the health department. Milk and milk products must be served in a manner approved by the health department.

Storage and display of food and drink—All food and drink must be stored in such a manner as to be protected from dust, flies, vermin, unnecessary handling, droplet infection, overhead leakage, sewerage back-flow and other contamination. Serving of sliced butter and cracked ice must not be by direct contact with fingers or hands. Bottled milk and other beverages in non-leakproof containers must not be submerged in water for cooling.

Cleanliness of employes—All employes must wear clean outer garments and must keep their hands clean at all times while engaged in the handling of food, drink, utensils and other equipment.

Miscellaneous—Premises of all food establishments must be kept clean and free of litter and rubbish. None of the operations connected with a restaurant, shall be conducted in any room used as living or sleeping quarters.

Health certificates—All food and drink handlers must have health certificates, including blood test and smear for gonorrhea.

Storage boxes—The water in all storage boxes must be changed daily and must contain not less than 50 ppm chlorine. The boxes must be clean at all times.

FOR the German armies pounding at Russian defenses in the central area of the 1,100-mile Russian front, all roads lead to Moscow. The Soviet capital, sixth largest city in the world and the nerve center of a nation of 180,000,000 people, obviously is the goal of the Nazi divisions which have figured in the fighting around Minsk, on the Berezina river and elsewhere on the central front.

The road to Moscow via Minsk and Smolensk is not difficult as go the roads over which Nazi panzer divisions have found easy traveling the last two years. Distance and the Russian army are much more serious obstacles than is the terrain.

The country between Minsk and Moscow is rolling and wooded, much like parts of New York state and New England. The rivers, and there are many of them, lie across the path of the invaders and serve as natural defense lines. In the past, however, the German army has not been seriously slowed by rivers.

Russia's transport system is not geared to motorized travel and, except where they have been built for purely military purposes, good highways are rare. Few good bridges exist, but the Germans know how to build their own.

The July climate of the land in which the Germans have chosen to spend the month usually is uncomfortably hot. All of central Russia, for that matter, is subject to much hotter summer weather than is western Europe, just as it is subject to more severe winters.

If the Russians get much help from the weather, it is more likely to be in the form of heavy rains, not uncommon in July and August and sometimes capable of sending streams out of their banks and paralyzing traffic and communications.

As the Germans get nearer to Moscow, they gain more and more control over important railroads. Eleven major lines converge at the capital and, with an elaborate canal and river transportation system, make Moscow the heart of Russian commerce.

The city has owed its importance from the very beginning to its position on important trade lanes. It is on a centuries-old route between the Baltic and the Caspian. It was the seat of the initial moves to unify the feudal Russian states and it has been a center of national life ever since. Some of its economic and all of its political influence were forfeited to St. Petersburg (Leningrad) when Peter the First founded the latter as a new capital that would look out on the western world from the Gulf of Finland. That was in the early eighteenth century, and Moscow did not regain its traditional importance until the revolution of 1917.

Important as Moscow is in the life of the country, its fall and all but complete destruction in the past never sufficed to subject Russia to the control of an invader.

The Soviet government is reported to have made preparations for loss of Moscow and the necessity of carrying on from cities farther east, but there is evidence also that there will be a bitter fight first. The road to Moscow bids fair to get a new place in world history by virtue of events this summer.

PUBLIC FORUM

Rayville, La.
July 11, 1941.

To the Editor: I have written the following letter to Governor Sam Jones:

Honorable Sam H. Jones, Governor,
Baton Rouge, Louisiana.

Dear Governor: In compliance with the request made in your radio address last Thursday evening, I think the wisest step that could be taken at this critical time in our now existing complicated state of affairs is for you to call a special session of the legislature whereby we might, as a united body, endeavor to iron out the difficulties confronting our people.

It is true that I voted for the Reorganization bill at the last legislature; but I did so (as I stated in an article that I published last summer in my parish paper) in an attempt to prove my sincerity to the people when I pledged in my campaign platform to remain an independent party giving full cooperation to any elected governor who stood for clean, honest, and efficient government; and at the time of the making of this bill which you termed as "the heart and core of your reform program" I did not wish to stand as a stumbling block in your efforts. I knew that time alone would test the durability and constitutionality of the Griffinhagen Reorganization bill.

I am not a lawyer, but in my humble opinion I think the only thing left for you to do is to call a special session of the legislature and re-submit to that body a more simplified, practical, and beneficial form of change and one that will stand the ridicule and attacks from the smallest constable up to the highest tribunal court of the land.

In addition, there is another reason for calling a special session at this particular time—that of helping you carry out your unfulfilled promises; namely, $30-a-month pension to the old age and the building of much-needed and long-forgotten farm-to-market roads.

As a closing statement, governor, I want to leave you the impression that I am the same open-minded "independent bulldog" that stood for good government a year ago.

Hoping for immediate action from you, I remain

Respectfully yours,
W. O. NOBLE, Representative,
Richland Parish.

AGAINST TAX

Swartz, La.

To the Editor:

July the 15th there will be an election to vote a one mill tax for five years to raise $200,000 to enlarge Selman Field. If the parish does this, it has been reported, the federal government agreed to put up $600,000 to make Selman Field modern and large enough to accommodate any size airplane. No doubt this would be a good investment; however, I do not think the time is propitious to vote this tax, from the fact that recently when we bought 140 acres for which we paid $27,000, some members of the police jury in recommending this purchase said: "The federal government had promised to put up $350,000.00," but up to date they have not done so.

All I know about the $600,000, allegedly promised to be paid by the federal government, I saw in our newspapers and it was also mentioned by some of the members of the police jury. They also stated that the small land owners would not have to pay this tax on account of the $2,000 homestead exemption, but I contend that the small businessmen, farmers and laborers will have to pay the tax.

We have already leased to the junior college, for 25 years, land to build a hangar and to use the field to train aviators. The parish has invested in Selman Field $200,000 for which we have received since 1935 about $62 per month rent. I have endeavored to get the police jury to set a legitimate and business like rental charge for the past 10 or 12 years.

The interest on $200,000 at 4 per cent is as follows:

First year	$8,000.00
Second year	6,400.00
Third year	4,800.00
Fourth year	3,200.00
Fifth year	1,600.00
Total interest	$24,000.00

On account of no appropriation having been made to take care of the interest it will have to be paid out of the general fund which, also has to take care of operating and maintaining the field.

I do not intend to inflence your vote but believe the above is worthy of your profound consideration.

W. J. VINSON,

FOR THE DEFENSE PROGRAM

Monroe, La.

To the Editor:

An open letter to the colored people of the South and most especially to the parishes of Morehouse, Ouachita, Richland, West Carroll, Franklin and Caldwell.

My dear friends:

In view of the fact that we are in the midst of one of the most perilous hours of our American history, and so much propaganda with reference to our great defense program and as a leader of my group, I am called upon to admonish you along these principles.

I wish to advise you to be very, very careful in speaking against the government defense program of these United States of America. When America had only 13 states and only about 13,000 strong, they compelled their mother country, Great Britain, to give them their civil, political, religious rights and freedom. These rights and the freedom of Democracy for which this American citizenship stands for will wade in blood up to their necks for. Do not make any remarks, and don't worry, Europe can not put enough battleships on the sea, ocean, or land enough men upon American soil to take this freedom or have America to surrender it. Saying nothing about Mr. Hitler and Mr. Mussolini. I wish to advise further that the man and womanhood of these United States do our bit, though it be ever so meager. Let us stand ready to march to the battlefront for America.

These things we must remember always:

When we were born and made the first cry, it was upon American soil. The first and only government we ever knew is this American government. The only school, the church and religious activities we know about is operated by this, our American government. We should feel glad that we can have God under our own vine and fig tree according to the dictates of our conscience. Therefore, let us work, labor and pray and fight, if called upon by our government, that the present form and freedom of Democracy may be maintained and that Hitlerism may never reach America.

My friends, if we do not help, do not hinder. Do not knock our government defense program.

Fraternally yours,
REV. T. H. EVANS

PUBLIC FORUM

Rayville, La.
July 11, 1941.

To the Editor: I have written the following letter to Governor Sam Jones:

Honorable Sam H. Jones, Governor.
Baton Rouge, Louisiana.

Dear Governor: In compliance with the request made in your radio address last Thursday evening, I think the wisest step that could be taken at this critical time in our now existing complicated state of affairs is for you to call a special session of the legislature whereby we might, as a united body, endeavor to iron out the difficulties confronting our people.

It is true that I voted for the Reorganization bill at the last legislature; but I did so (as I stated in an article that I published last summer in my parish paper) in an attempt to prove my sincerity to the people when I pledged in my campaign platform to remain an independent party giving full cooperation to any elected governor who stood for clean, honest, and efficient government; and at the time of the making of this bill which you termed as "the heart and core of your reform program" I did not wish to stand as a stumbling block in your efforts. I knew that time alone would test the durability and constitutionality of the Griffinhagen Reorganization bill.

I am not a lawyer, but in my humble opinion I think the only thing left for you to do is to call a special session of the legislature and re-submit to that body a more simplified, practical, and beneficial form of change and one that will stand the ridicule and attacks from the smallest constable up to the highest tribunal court of the land.

In addition, there is another reason for calling a special session at this particular time—that of helping you carry out your unfulfilled promises; namely, $30-a-month pension to the old age and the building of much-needed and long-forgotten farm-to-market roads.

As a closing statement, governor, I want to leave you the impression that I am the same open-minded "independent bulldog" that stood for good government a year ago.

Hoping for immediate action from you, I remain

Respectfully yours,
W. O. NOBLE, Representative,

AGAINST TAX

Swartz, La.

To the Editor:

July the 15th there will be an election to vote a one mill tax for five years to raise $200,000 to enlarge Selman Field. If the parish does this, it has been reported, the federal government agreed to put up $600,000 to make Selman Field modern and large enough to accommodate any size airplane. No doubt this would be a good investment; however, I do not think the time is propitious to vote this tax, from the fact that recently when we bought 140 acres for which we paid $27,000, some members of the police jury in recommending this purchase said: "The federal government had promised to put up $350,000.00." but up to date they have not done so.

All I know about the $600,000, allegedly promised to be paid by the federal government, I saw in our newspapers and it was also mentioned by some of the members of the police jury. They also stated that the small land owners would not have to pay this tax on account of the $2,000 homestead exemption, but I contend that the small businessmen, farmers and laborers will have to pay the tax.

We have already leased to the junior college, for 25 years, land to build a hangar and to use the field to train aviators. The parish has invested in Selman Field $200,000 for which we have received since 1935 about $62 per month rent. I have endeavored to get the police jury to set a legitimate and business like rental charge for the past 10 or 12 years.

The interest on $200,000 at 4 per cent is as follows:

First year	$8,000.00
Second year	6,400.00
Third year	4,800.00
Fourth year	3,200.00
Fifth year	1,600.00
Total interest	$24,000.00

On account of no appropriation having been made to take care of the interest it will have to be paid out of the general fund which, also has to take care of operating and maintaining the field.

I do not intend to inflence your vote but believe the above is worthy of your profound consideration.

W. J. VINSON,

FOR THE DEFENSE PROGRAM

Monroe, La.

To the Editor:

An open letter to the colored people of the South and most especially to the parishes of Morehouse, Ouachita, Richland, West Carroll, Franklin and Caldwell.

My dear friends:

In view of the fact that we are in the midst of one of the most perilous hours of our American history, and so much propaganda with reference to our great defense program and as a leader of my group, I am called upon to admonish you along these principles.

I wish to advise you to be very, very careful in speaking against the government defense program of these United States of America. When America had only 13 states and only about 13,000 strong, they compelle their mother country, Great Britain, to give them their civil, political, religious rights and freedom. These rights and the freedom of Democracy for which this American citizenship stands for will wade in blood up to their necks for. Do not make any remarks, and don't worry, Europe can not put enough battleships on the sea, ocean, or land enough men upon American soil to take this freedom or have America to surrender it. Saying nothing about Mr. Hitler and Mr. Mussolini. I wish to advise further that the man and womanhood of these United States do our bit, though it be ever so meager. Let us stand ready to march to the battlefront for America.

These things we must remember always:

When we were born and made th first cry, it was upon American s The first and only government ever knew is this American government. The only school, the church and religious activities know about is operated by this, American government. We shou feel glad that we can have God unde our own vine and fig tree accordin to the dictates of our conscience. Therefore, let us work, labor and pray and fight, if called upon by our government, that the present form and freedom of Democracy may be maintained and that Hitlerism may never reach America.

My friends, if we do not help, do not hinder. Do not knock our government defense program.

Fraternally yours,
REV. T. H. EVANS

Daddy Says We Can Afford a Real Vacation

"Daddy and Mommie have been talking so much about prices going up that I was afraid we wasn't going to get a vacation this year. But Daddy says that in spite of all this we can afford a real vacation after all. My Daddy's smart, he is! He says we'll go on a big Tri-State coach for just 1/3 as much as it costs to go in the auto." Thousands of typical Americans have learned that whatever kind of a vacation you want, wherever you want to go, a big deluxe air-conditioned Tri-State coach is ready to take you there in comfort . . . and for far less cost than you could go any other way. Consult your local Tri-State agent for vacation suggestions to any point in America.

property of the victims, were found along the section of track where the car was dragged.

Officials of the Missouri Pacific railroad will conduct an investigation Sunday, and Dr. J. T. French, parish coroner will select a jury and hold an inquest Monday at 10 a.m. at his office in the parish courthouse.

The wreck Friday night was one of the worst of its kind that has occurred here.

Funeral services for Miss Morris will be held at 2 p.m. today at the First Baptist church with Rev. L. T. Hastings officiating. Interment will follow in Liberty Church cemetery near Haile. Peters Funeral Home is in charge.

Pallbearers will be members of the class of 1941 of the Ouachita Parish High School. They are Charles Reynolds, Robroy Young, Prentiss Cox, Billy Burford, Joe Tippit and Jack Hogge.

Miss Morris was a member of the First Baptist Church, of the Rainbow Girls' organization, Jefferson Club of the parish high school, and was graduated with the class of 1941 of this school.

She leaves her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Morris, 1001 South Third street, Monroe; one brother, Bobby Morris, and her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Hill of Haile, Union parish.

The bodies of Jimmy D. and Charles Herbert Wilhite, first taken to Mulhearn and Peters Funeral Home respectively, were removed early Saturday morning to the Kilpatrick Funeral Home at Ruston.

Services for the two brothers will be held at 2 p.m. Sunday at the Church of God on the Arkansas road four miles west of West Monroe. Rev. Mac Dean will officiate. Interment will follow in the Wilhite cemetery in Union parish under direction of Kilpatrick Funeral Home.

They are survived by their mother.

starts. Consequently no arrests have been made on the latter score.

Ickes has also passed word around that unless gasoline consumption is extensively reduced, it may be necessary to issue ration cards for the fuel. Meanwhile, he instituted a conservation program here.

It calls for fewer stops by buses, less cruising by taxicabs, the elimination of week-end deliveries by trucks, carrying home small packages to reduce store delivery operations, and sharing the car with others on regular trips such as to and from work.

Some specific recommendations are: Avoid racing motors, cut off motor while waiting, avoid racing up to red lights, reduce speeds and avoidance of over-acceleration on open roads, reducing the use of first and second gears to a minimum, using the car as little as possible, maintaining an even speed, avoiding congested routes, and having car inspected and put into good condition.

TO VOTE TUESDAY ON AIRPORT TAX

hard surfacing the runways, draining the field, and lighting the airport. Coupled with the money the parish will spend if the tax is passed, the airport improvement will be a million dollar project."

City and parish officials already have expressed approval of the tax. Statements from prominent business men of the Twin Cities follow:

J. G. Durrett, president, Durrett Hardware and Furniture company:

"I sincerely hope this tax is passed. I think that the airport is very advantageous to the community and I intend to vote for same."

C. W. Wallace, vice-president, treasurer and manager of the Union Oil Mills, West Monroe:

"Today many towns which were once thriving communities are now ghost towns for the reason that 75 or 100 years ago they did not think a railroad was necessary to their growth. During the next decade those towns and cities of today whose citizens are not far sighted enough to secure air transportation facilities will probably experience something of the same thing.

"Air transportation is going to be absolutely necessary to those communities which expect to continue their future growth in competition with other American towns and cities."

C. C. Colvert, dean of Northeast Junior college:

"Aviation is ready to bloom out in these United States.

"As in the past those towns which made it possible for railroad right of ways and railroad stations prospered. Likewise now those towns which provide adequate airports will have commercial airlines serving them, private flying promoted, and their young people with opportunities equal to those of like communities. I sincerely believe that we badly need to vote the one mill tax for five years to improve our airport."

Sam Rubin, secretary-treasurer of R. and A. Jewelry company:

"I am heartily in favor of the one mill tax for five years for improvement of Selman air port. It is the first stepping stone for a greater and bigger Monroe and West Monroe.

"With an air port of the type that the money is going to be appropriated for will bring other government projects to our city.

"I hope that this project will prove to be a great success."

F. F. Millsaps, president of the Ouachita National bank:

"I am heartily in favor of the proposed one mill tax for five years to provide funds to improve the Selman airport. It is essential for the future development of Ouachita parish that we have an adequate airport.

"Most communities have been compelled to vote bond issues, ranging from $1,000,000,00 to many millions, to provide airports no better or not as good as Selman field will be after the proposed improvements.

"Fortunately for Ouachita parish, our police jury commenced many years ago to developing an airport. They now have invested approximately $236,000.00 and propose to invest $200.000.00 additional and receive contributions from the WPA of $600,000.00 or more. This will give us a million dollar airport and an airport adequate for any conceivable commercial needs. It is unthinkable to propose to abandon the advantages that we now have.

"Ouachita parish is particularly favored as a location for industrial development and it is apparent that this development which has been so long delayed has now gotten underway. A moder and adequate airport is essential for the realization of this development."

W. H. Anders, manager Columbian Gasoline corporation and former president of the Chamber of Commerce:

"As a native of Ouachita parish, and as one who is always interested in the welfare and progress of our community, it is a pleasure to offer my unqualified and hearty endorsement to the proposal to improve our airport through the medium of funds to be raised through public taxation.

"Any community which expects to make progress must exercise a minimum of self help. I feel that it is a duty of the citizenship of Ouachita parish to provide an adequate airport to meet our present future needs. Since we have been unable to secure funds from other sources, I believe it to be in the public interest for every good citizen of our parish to support this one mill tax for a five year period."

GIVEN 'WINGS'

Wright Jacob Sherrard, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Sherrard of 609 Natchitoches street, West Monroe, was graduated at the Gulf Coast Air Corps Training center, Brooks field, Tex., July 11.

Young Sherrard has a host of friends in Monroe and vicinity. He attended Crosley school, then Ouachita Parish High school and later still, Louisiana State Normal.

He was in his senior year at Normal when he joined the air corps last November. He entered primary training at Tulsa, Okla., then pursued basic training at Randolph field, and now has just completed it and secured his coveted "wings" at Brooks field.

When in high school he excelled in athletics and also in college, baseball being his most successful sport.

BIG CONTRACTS FOR PIPELINES AWARDED

ATLANTA, July 12.—(AP)—Contracts for construction of an 800-mile main gasoline pipeline from Baton Rouge, La., to Greensboro, N. C., and 200 miles of lateral lines from Bremen, Ga., to Chattanooga and Knoxville were awarded by the board of directors of the Plantation Pipe Line company here today.

Four separate contract awards totaling $3,500,000 were made and the directors in a statement said the schedule calls for construction to start on or about August 1, with completion of the main line set for December 31 this year.

Definite points of actual construction have not been determined, according to the statement, and location of terminal and pumping station sites will be announced later.

The Latex Construction company of Houston, Tex., was awarded a contract for construction of a section of the main line extending from Baton Rouge to the Mississippi-Alabama state line.

MAYOR NAMES THREE TO DEFENSE COUNCIL

The appointment of Joe D. Trammell, Herman Mickel and Olan H. Black to serve with the Ouachita parish jury on the parish defense council was announced last night by Mayor H. H. Benoit.

Carl McHenry, a member of the national defense council of Louisiana, is automatically a member of the parish group, the mayor said, adding that Mr. Trammell and Mr. Mitchell will have charge of the civilian air-raid warning service, and Mr. Black, the aluminum recovery project.

Tentative plans call for 13 observation posts and 15 civilian volunteers at each post. It was not indicated where the posts would be located.

Munger T. Ball, president of the Sabine Towing Company, transports for Continental Oil Company, announced that Continental would ship the first coastwise tow of refined products, a cargo of 21,000 barrels of gasoline, to Corpus Christi via the new route within the next few days.

L. B. Pate, official of the Mississippi Shipping Company, said, "We'll have a ship in here before the end of July."

Congratulatory remarks were made by Ball, on behalf of a delegation from Port Arthur, Tex.; Colonel H. S. Bishop, Jr., of the United States Engineers' office at Vicksburg; Lieutenant-Colonel Clark Kittrell of the Engineers' office at New Orleans; H. R. Safford of the Missouri Pacific Lines; James Lykes, Jr., of Galveston, of Lykes Brothers' Steamship Company; Rudolph Krause, Lake Charles resident who has been leading the movement for a channel since the 1880s, and Elmer E. Shutts, Lake Charles engineer and civic worker.

The new channel eliminates the old narrow route through the intracoastal waterway to the Sabine river, thence into the Port Arthur ship channel to the gulf, and cuts the distance to open water from 85 to 41 miles.

The supreme court was asked in the petition: 1—To reverse its nullification of the amendment; 2—set for immediate hearing the constitutionality of act 47; 3—or, to issue a per curiam or full court decree clarifying the ruling declaring the amendment unconstitutional.

Attorney General Stanley said he would file briefs Monday in support of the petition. When the court handed down its decision last month it allowed the state two weeks in which to ask for a rehearing.

Cicero Sessions, assistant attorney general, said he did not know whether the high tribunal would act immediately upon the petition, or whether more arguments would have to be presented, or whether the whole matter would be taken under advisement by the court until the fall session.

FOOT ITCH
ATHLETE'S FOOT

RELIEF GUARANTEED OR MONEY BACK

According to the Government Health Bulletin No. E-28, at least 50% of the adult population of the United States are being attacked by the disease known as Athlete's Foot.

Usually the disease starts between the toes. Little watery blisters form, and the skin cracks and peels. After a while, the itching becomes intense, and you feel as though you would like to scratch off all the skin.

Beware of It Spreading

Often the disease travels all over the bottom of the feet. The soles of your feet become red and swollen. The skin also cracks and peels, and the itching becomes worse and worse.

Get relief from this disease as quickly as possible because it is both contagious and infectious and it may go to your hands or even to the under arm or crotch of the legs.

Why Take Chances?

The germ that causes the disease is known as Tinea Trichophyton. It buries itself deep in the tissues of the skin and is very hard to kill. A test made shows it takes 15 minutes of boiling to destroy the germ, whereas, upon contact, laboratory tests show that H. F. will kill the germ Tinea Trichophyton within 15 seconds.

H. F. was developed solely for the purpose of relieving Athlete's Foot. It is a liquid that penetrates and dries quickly. You just paint the affected parts. H. F. gently peels the skin, which enables it to get to parasites existing under the outer cuticle.

Itching Often Relieved Quickly

As soon as you apply H. F. you may find that the itching is relieved. You should paint the infected part with H. F. night and morning until your feet are better. Usually this takes from three to ten days.

H. F. should leave the skin soft and smooth. You may marvel at the quick way it brings you relief.

Don't wait for Athlete's Foot to become serious. Get H. F. today.

"I hope that this project will prove to be a great success."

F. F. Millsaps, president of the Ouachita National bank:

"I am heartily in favor of the proposed one mill tax for five years to provide funds to improve the Selman airport. It is essential for the future development of Ouachita parish that we have an adequate airport.

"Most communities have been compelled to vote bond issues, ranging from $1,000,000.00 to many millions, to provide airports no better or not as good as Selman field will be after the proposed improvements.

"Fortunately for Ouachita parish, our police jury commenced many years ago to developing an airport. They now have invested approximately $236,000.00 and propose to invest $200,000.00 additional and receive contributions from the WPA of $600,000.00 or more. This will give us a million dollar airport and an airport adequate for any conceivable commercial needs. It is unthinkable to propose to abandon the advantages that we now have.

"Ouachita parish is particularly favored as a location for industrial development and it is apparent that this development which has been so long delayed has now gotten underway. A moder and adequate airport is essential for the realization of this development."

W. H. Anders, manager Columbian Gasoline corporation and former president of the Chamber of Commerce:

"As a native of Ouachita parish, and as one who is always interested in the welfare and progress of our community, it is a pleasure to offer my unqualified and hearty endorsement to the proposal to improve our airport through the medium of funds to be raised through public taxation.

"Any community which expects to make progress must exercise a minimum of self help. I feel that it is a duty of the citizenship of Ouachita parish to provide an adequate airport to meet our present future needs. Since we have been unable to secure funds from other sources, I believe it to be in the public interest for every good citizen of our parish to support this one mill tax for a five year period."

GIVEN 'WINGS'

Wright Jacob Sherrard, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Sherrard of 609 Natchitoches street, West Monroe, was graduated at the Gulf Coast Air Corps Training center, Brooks field, Tex., July 11.

Young Sherrard has a host of friends in Monroe and vicinity. He attended Crosley school, then Ouachita Parish High school and later still, Louisiana State Normal.

He was in his senior year at Normal when he joined the air corps last November. He entered primary training at Tulsa, Okla., then pursued basic training at Randolph field, and now has just completed it and secured his coveted "wings" at Brooks field.

When in high school he excelled in athletics and also in college, baseball being his most successful sport.

BIG CONTRACTS FOR PIPELINES AWARDED

ATLANTA, July 12.—(AP)—Contracts for construction of an 800-mile main gasoline pipeline from Baton Rouge, La., to Greensboro, N. C., and 200 miles of lateral lines from Bremen, Ga., to Chattanooga and Knoxville were awarded by the board of directors of the Plantation Pipe Line company here today.

Four separate contract awards totaling $3,500,000 were made and the directors in a statement said the schedule calls for construction to start on or about August 1, with completion of the main line set for December 31 this year.

Definite points of actual construction have not been determined, according to the statement, and location of terminal and pumping station sites will be announced later.

The Latex Construction company of Houston, Tex., was awarded a contract for construction of a section of the main line extending from Baton Rouge to the Mississippi-Alabama state line.

MAYOR NAMES THREE TO DEFENSE COUNCIL

The appointment of Joe D. Trammell, Herman Mickel and Olan H. Black to serve with the Ouachita parish jury on the parish defense council was announced last night by Mayor H. H. Benoit.

Carl McHenry, a member of the national defense council of Louisiana, is automatically a member of the parish group, the mayor said, adding that Mr. Trammell and Mr. Mitchell will have charge of the civilian air-raid warning service, and Mr. Black, the aluminum recovery project.

Tentative plans call for 13 observation posts and 15 civilian volunteers at each post. It was not indicated where the posts would be located.

Munger T. Ball, president of the Sabine Towing Company, transports for Continental Oil Company, announced that Continental would ship the first coastwise tow of refined products, a cargo of 21,000 barrels of gasoline, to Corpus Christi via the new route within the next few days.

L. B. Pate, official of the Mississippi Shipping Company, said, "We'll have a ship in here before the end of July."

Congratulatory remarks were made by Ball, on behalf of a delegation from Port Arthur, Tex.; Colonel H. S. Bishop, Jr., of the United States Engineers' office at Vicksburg; Lieutenant-Colonel Clark Kittrell of the Engineers' office at New Orleans; H. R. Safford of the Missouri Pacific Lines; James Lykes, Jr., of Galveston, of Lykes Brothers' Steamship Company; Rudolph Krause, Lake Charles resident who has been leading the movement for a channel since the 1880s, and Elmer E. Shutts, Lake Charles engineer and civic worker.

The new channel eliminates the old narrow route through the intracoastal waterway to the Sabine river, thence into the Port Arthur ship channel to the gulf, and cuts the distance to open water from 85 to 41 miles.

The supreme court was asked in the petition: 1—To reverse its nullification of the amendment; 2—set for immediate hearing the constitutionality of act 47; 3—or, to issue a per curiam or full court decree clarifying the ruling declaring the amendment unconstitutional.

Attorney General Stanley said he would file briefs Monday in support of the petition. When the court handed down its decision last month it allowed the state two weeks in which to ask for a rehearing.

Cicero Sessions, assistant attorney general, said he did not know whether the high tribunal would act immediately upon the petition, or whether more arguments would have to be presented, or whether the whole matter would be taken under advisement by the court until the fall session.

FOOT ITCH
ATHLETE'S FOOT

RELIEF GUARANTEED OR MONEY BACK

According to the Government Health Bulletin No. E-28, at least 50% of the adult population of the United States are being attacked by the disease known as Athlete's Foot.

Usually the disease starts between the toes. Little watery blisters form, and the skin cracks and peels. After a while, the itching becomes intense, and you feel as though you would like to scratch off all the skin.

Beware of It Spreading

Often the disease travels all over the bottom of the feet. The soles of your feet become red and swollen. The skin also cracks and peels, and the itching becomes worse and worse.

Get relief from this disease as quickly as possible because it is both contagious and infectious and it may go to your hands or even to the under arm or crotch of the legs.

Why Take Chances?

The germ that causes the disease is known as Tinea Trichophyton. It buries itself deep in the tissues of the skin and is very hard to kill. A test made shows it takes 15 minutes of boiling to destroy the germ, whereas, upon contact, laboratory tests show that H. F. will kill the germ Tinea Trichophyton within 15 seconds.

H. F. was developed solely for the purpose of relieving Athlete's Foot. It is a liquid that penetrates and dries quickly. You just paint the affected parts. H. F. gently peels the skin, which enables it to get to parasites existing under the outer cuticle.

Itching Often Relieved Quickly

As soon as you apply H. F. you may find that the itching is relieved. You should paint the infected part with H. F. night and morning until your feet are better. Usually this takes from three to ten days.

H. F. should leave the skin soft and smooth. You may marvel at the quick way it brings you relief.

Don't wait for Athlete's Foot to become serious. Get H. F. today.

Usual Nerveless Game Of Mangrum Goes To Pieces In The Clutch

By Russ Newland

DENVER, July 12. — (AP) — Broad-shouldered Byron Nelson, master of the iron shot, clamped a stronger hold on his professional golfers association championship today by bowling over doughty little Gene Sarazen 2 and 1 in a par blistering 36-hole semi-final match.

As a result the big fellow from Toledo, Ohio, who won the crown last year at Hershey, Pa., will defend it tomorrow against Vic Ghezzi, Deal, N. J., who outlasted slim Lloyd Mangrum, Monterey Park, Calif., to win 1 up after being 4 up at the 24th.

Nelson had no snap in conquering 39-year-old Sarazen, veteran of the tournament and possessor of the most illustrious career of the lot. The squire from Connecticut went down fighting and the applause of several thousand fans was not less for him than for the man he congratulated with a hearty handclasp on the 35th green.

The defending titleholder shattered par and the hopes of oldster Sarazen with a brilliant assortment of shots, mainly to the greens. He's the "Dead-eye Dick" of the game in this respect.

When he finished, he was four

PARKER IN QUEST OF EIGHTH TITLE

California Ace Soundly Whips Ted Schroeder In Spring Lake Tourney

SPRING LAKE, N. J., July 12.—(AP)—A job that took Frankie Parker three hours last year required little more than an hour today when the Altadena, California, ace downed Ted Schroeder of Glendale, Calif., 6-3, 6-4, 6-3 to enter the Spring Lake Invitation tennis finals

The victory sends Parker in quest of his eighth tourney title tomorrow in a singles finals meeting with Wayne Sabin of Reno, Nev.

One year ago Schroeder almost ended the Parker victory string when he ran the champion out to a 6-4 fifth set. Today's match was a complete reverse of the 1940 engagement, with Parker taking an opening lead and going away strong after the third set.

Schroeder and Jack Kramer of East Los Angeles made short work of their semi-final double assignment, downing Frank Shields of New York and J. Gilbert Hall of East Orange, 6-1, 3-1.

Parker and Charles Mattman of Los Angeles captured the other doubles berth with a 6-1, 7-5 victory over Sabin and Gardnar Mullow of Coral Gables, Fla.

Headaches 'Half The Time' Threaten Trosky's Career

Blames Ailment On Baseball; Says He Isn't Afflicted In Off Season

CLEVELAND, July 12.—(AP)—Slugging Hal Trosky surprised even his manager with the disclosure today that "thumping headache" has bothered him at least half the time during the last three baseball seasons.

The Cleveland Indians' big first baseman declared emphatically that he has no intention of retiring at any fixed date, and added:

"But gosh, a fellow can't go on like this forever. If I can't find some relief, I'll simply have to give up and spend the rest of my days on my farm in Iowa.

"It was so bad one day last summer," he recalled, "that I walked out to Mel Harder who was pitching, and asked him not to try to pick the runner off first base. I knew if Mel threw me a fast ball, I wouldn't even see it."

Roger Peckinpaugh, Tribal manager, said he knew Trosky had been bothered by headaches for several seasons but that he was surprised they were so serious and frequent. "Hal only complained to me about them twice this summer, and Thursday night was the first game he missed because of them."

The 28-year-old slugger was replaced by Oscar Grimes. The utility man responded with four blows in as many trips, leading "Peck" to decide to keep on first for today's warfare with the Philadelphia Athletics.

Should Trosky be forced to retire eventually, his place probably would go to Grimes, a good right-handed hitter but no slugger, or to Vernon Freiburger, 17-year-old rookie with the Flint (Mich.) club. Freiburger bats from the right side and throws with his left hand—the opposite from Trosky.

Big Harold, one of the American league's most respected distance hitters, said he seldom has headaches during the off season, leading him to blame them on baseball activity and the stomach trouble he had in 1935.

"The thing that aggravates them is my inclination to worry about my work on the field," declared Trosky. "I can't take bad days in stride. I have trouble getting my sleep and become nervous and irritable. I find myself barking at the kids about nothing at all.

"I don't want to appear to be offering excuses because I haven't been going well lately, but these headaches—they're really hell."

SOUTHERN

VOLS WHIP CHICKS

MEMPHIS, Tenn., July 12.—(AP)—The Nashville Vols flashed a five-run attack in the seventh inning to beat Memphis 7-3 today and spoil Frank Veverka's third attempt for his 14th pitching victory.

The Chicks had picked up three runs in the third, and led 3-2 when Nashville came up in the seventh. Hank Helf doubled with two on to put the Vols ahead, and a little later Oris Hockett rapped out a home run that brought in two of the Vols' three remaining runs.

Score by innings:

MONROE SKIPPER TO DIRECT TEAM AGAINST HELENA

Revised Schedule Goes Into Effect Thursday; Sox Play Here

The Monroe White Sox, Texarkana Twins and Greenville Buchshots will furnish the bulk of the opposition to the Helena Seaporters in the Cotton States league's All-Star game at Helena Tuesday night, it was revealed by the tabulation of votes cast by sports writers of the league for the All-Star team.

The league leading White Sox, who could have got the game in their own park if they had occupied the loop lead on July 4, placed three players on the All-Star club along with Texarkana and Greenville.

Marshall, Tex., the new entry in the league after taking over the Clarksdale franchise, rated two players along

GAME POSTPONED

TEXARKANA, July 12.—(Special)—The scheduled series opener between the league leading Monroe White Sox and the rising Texarkana Twins was postponed here tonight because of rain.

Manager Doug Taitt's Sox and the vastly improved Twins of Skipper Jake Atz, Jr., are scheduled to play a double header here Sunday afternoon and a single game Monday night before taking their "choice" players and heading for Helena where the All-Stars meet the Seaporters Tuesday night.

Archie San Romani Still Breaks Records---In Music

Great Kansan Distance Runner Ends First Year In Chosen Profession

By John P. Roderick

CAPE ELIZABETH, Me., July 12.—(The Morning World Special News Service)—Archie San Romani, the great Kansas distance runner, glanced at the white sheet of paper before him and broke into a broad grin.

"Superior-superior-excellent," were words which occurred in the note he had just received, and they didn't refer to any prodigious recent running event, either.

"I get just as much of a thrill from this report on my music groups as I ever did from winning a big race," the curly-haired 2,000-meter record holder said.

Archie, who was torn between love for music and love for running during his career at Kansas State Teachers college and New York university, has just completed a year as director of music in the public schools here—a year in which he has, as usual, broken records.

The music report was on the performance of his school orchestra, band and girls' glee club in the state music festival. Cape Elizabeth High school never had entered its music units in the festival, and the awards they earned were tops—particularly outstanding, most music critics agreed, in view of the brief period he had in which to whip the youngsters into musical shape.

Archie came to Maine last year with the twofold intention of teaching and continuing his running career but since that time he has been so busy telling his pupils the difference between sharps and flats he hasn't had time to get into racing condition. He ran his last race in June, 1940, when he finished second to Glenn Cunningham, a fellow Kansan, in the 1,500 meters at Kansas City.

"I haven't given up the idea of running yet," said the 28-year-old maestro. "Old Man Time is telling on me, but men like Cunningham, Nurmi, and Venzke ran some of their greatest races when they were older than I am."

In practice jogging this spring he got down to a 2:10 half-mile, which makes him chuckle when he recalls that he once used to run the distance in 1:55.

"Running is not the main thing," mused Archie, who at eight was believed a hopeless cripple because of an accident. "I may never run again, but I guess we all can hope."

Archie started tooting on the trumpet at 15, but didn't take formal lessons until he was 19. He got the music bug from his uncles, Archie and August San Romani, who have established reputations in Kansas as directors of public school music.

All during high school and college he played in the band and orchestra, occasionally sang in the glee club. Whenever he went on a track trip, his trumpet went with him.

"I usually drove everybody out of the hotels where we were staying," he reminisced.

Once he kept the starting field of a mile race waiting for him in Trenton, N. J., while he guest-conducted a school band. After the performance he rushed to the track field, tore off his clothes and was revealed in his track uniform, which he had been wearing under his clothes. He won the race.

He played on a ship's dance band when he went to the 1936 Olympics.

Archie likes music so much that he thinks that if he had to do it all over again he would eschew running and concentrate entirely on his favorite subject. The running, he found, used to interfere with his trumpeting and once in a while he'd think of quitting track. But the need for an education was an impelling one

JACOBS TO MEET COOKE IN FINALS

Helen Bernhard Comes Within 'Ace' Of Beating Former Champion

PHILADELPHIA, July 12.—(AP)—Helen Hull Jacobs of Greenville, Del., and Mrs. Sarah Palfrey Cooke of New York—seeded first and second—won their way into the finals of the Middle States Grass Court tennis tournament today.

Miss Jacobs, the United States' No. 1 woman amateur, defeated defending Champion Helen Bernhard of New York, 6-0, 5-7, 10-8, and Mrs. Cooke won over Margaret Osborne, San Francisco, 0-6, 6-0, 6-1.

The 20-year-old Miss Bernhard was within one point on her own service of defeating the former American and English champion and repeating the victory she won last year in the finals.

Then she committed two double-faults that enabled Miss Jacobs to tie the score at 8-8 in the final set, and the latter easily ran out the next two frames.

Mrs. Cooke didn't find her game until the second set. Then she overwhelmed fifth-seeded Miss Osborne, losing only one game in the next two sets.

Usual Nerveless Game Of Mangrum Goes To Pieces In The Clutch

By Russ Newland

DENVER, July 12. — (AP) — Broad-shouldered Byron Nelson, master of the iron shot, clamped a stronger hold on his professional golfers association championship today by bowling over doughty little Gene Sarazen 2 and 1 in a par blistering 36-hole semifinal match.

As a result the big fellow from Toledo, Ohio, who won the crown last year at Hershey, Pa., will defend it tomorrow against Vic Ghezzi, Deal, N. J., who outlasted slim Lloyd Mangrum, Monterey Park, Calif., to win 1 up after being 4 up at the 24th.

Nelson had no snap in conquering 39-year-old Sarazen, veteran of the tournament and possessor of the most illustrious career of the lot. The squire from Connecticut went down fighting and the applause of several thousand fans was not less for him than for the man he congratulated with a hearty handclasp on the 35th green.

The defending titleholder shattered par and the hopes of oldster Sarazen with a brilliant assortment of shots, mainly to the greens. He's the "Deadeye Dick" of the game in this respect.

When he finished, he was four

California Ace Soundly Whips Ted Schroeder In Spring Lake Tourney

SPRING LAKE, N. J., July 12.—(AP)—A job that took Frankie Parker three hours last year required little more than an hour today when the Altadena, California, ace downed Ted Schroeder of Glendale, Calif., 6-3, 6-4, 6-3 to enter the Spring Lake Invitation tennis finals

The victory sends Parker in quest of his eighth tourney title tomorrow in a singles finals meeting with Wayne Sabin of Reno, Nev.

One year ago Schroeder almost ended the Parker victory string when he ran the champion out to a 6-4 fifth set. Today's match was a complete reverse of the 1940 engagement, with Parker taking an opening lead and going away strong after the third set.

Schroeder and Jack Kramer of East Los Angeles made short work of their semi-final double assignment, downing Frank Shields of New York and J. Gilbert Hall of East Orange, 6-1, 3-1.

Parker and Charles Mattman of Los Angeles captured the other doubles berth with a 6-1, 7-5 victory over Sabin and Gardnar Mullow of Coral Gables, Fla.

Headaches 'Half The Time' Threaten Trosky's Career

Blames Ailment On Baseball; Says He Isn't Afflicted In Off Season

CLEVELAND, July 12.—(AP)—Slugging Hal Trosky surprised even his manager with the disclosure today that "thumping headache" has bothered him at least half the time during the last three baseball seasons.

The Cleveland Indians' big first baseman declared emphatically that he has no intention of retiring at any fixed date, and added:

"But gosh, a fellow can't go on like this forever. If I can't find some relief, I'll simply have to give up and spend the rest of my days on my farm in Iowa.

"It was so bad one day last summer," he recalled, "that I walked out to Mel Harder who was pitching, and asked him not to try to pick the runner off first base. I knew if Mel threw me a fast ball, I wouldn't even see it."

Roger Peckinpaugh, Tribal manager, said he knew Trosky had been bothered by headaches for several seasons but that he was surprised they were so serious and frequent. "Hal only complained to me about them twice this summer, and Thursday night was the first game he missed because of them."

The 28-year-old slugger was replaced by Oscar Grimes. The utility man responded with four blows in as many trips, leading "Peck" to decide to keep on first for today's warfare with the Philadelphia Athletics.

Should Trosky be forced to retire eventually, his place probably would go to Grimes, a good right-handed hitter but no slugger, or to Vernon Freiburger, 17-year-old rookie with the Flint (Mich.) club. Freiburger bats from the right side and throws with his left hand—the opposite from Trosky.

Big Harold, one of the American league's most respected distance hitters, said he seldom has headaches during the off season, leading him to blame them on baseball activity and the stomach trouble he had in 1935.

"The thing that aggravates them is my inclination to worry about my work on the field," declared Trosky. "I can't take bad days in stride. I have trouble getting my sleep and become nervous and irritable. I find myself barking at the kids about nothing at all.

"I don't want to appear to be offering excuses because I haven't been going well lately, but these headaches—they're really hell."

VOLS WHIP CHICKS

MEMPHIS, Tenn., July 12.—(AP)—The Nashville Vols flashed a five-run attack in the seventh inning to beat Memphis 7-3 today and spoil Frank Veverka's third attempt for his 14th pitching victory.

The Chicks had picked up three runs in the third, and led 3-2 when Nashville came up in the seventh. Hank Helf doubled with two on to put the Vols ahead, and a little later Oris Hockett rapped out a home run that brought in two of the Vols' three remaining runs.

MONROE SKIPPER TO DIRECT TEAM AGAINST HELENA

Revised Schedule Goes Into Effect Thursday; Sox Play Here

The Monroe White Sox, Texarkana Twins and Greenville Buchshots will furnish the bulk of the opposition to the Helena Seaporters in the Cotton States league's All-Star game at Helena Tuesday night, it was revealed by the tabulation of votes cast by sports writers of the league for the All-Star team.

The league leading White Sox, who could have got the game in their own park if they had occupied the loop lead on July 4, placed three players on the All-Star club along with Texarkana and Greenville.

Marshall, Tex., the new entry in the league after taking over the Clarksdale franchise, rated two players along

GAME POSTPONED

TEXARKANA, July 12.—(Special)—The scheduled series opener between the league leading Monroe White Sox and the rising Texarkana Twins was postponed here tonight because of rain.

Manager Doug Taitt's Sox and the vastly improved Twins of Skipper Jake Atz, Jr., are scheduled to play a double header here Sunday afternoon and a single game Monday night before taking their "choice" players and heading for Helena where the All-Stars meet the Seaporters Tuesday night.

Archie San Romani Still Breaks Records---In Music

Great Kansan Distance Runner Ends First Year In Chosen Profession

By John P. Roderick

CAPE ELIZABETH, Me., July 12.—(The Morning World Special News Service)—Archie San Romani, the great Kansas distance runner, glanced at the white sheet of paper before him and broke into a broad grin.

"Superior-superior-excellent," were words which occurred in the note he had just received, and they didn't refer to any prodigious recent running event, either.

"I get just as much of a thrill from this report on my music groups as I ever did from winning a big race," the curly-haired 2,000-meter record holder said.

Archie, who was torn between love for music and love for running during his career at Kansas State Teachers college and New York university, has just completed a year as director of music in the public schools here—a year in which he has, as usual, broken records.

The music report was on the performance of his school orchestra, band and girls' glee club in the state music festival. Cape Elizabeth High school never had entered its music units in the festival, and the awards they earned were tops—particularly outstanding, most music critics agreed, in view of the brief period he had in which to whip the youngsters into musical shape.

Archie came to Maine last year with the twofold intention of teaching and continuing his running career but since that time he has been so busy telling his pupils the difference between sharps and flats he hasn't had time to get into racing condition. He ran his last race in June, 1940, when he finished second to Glenn Cunningham, a fellow Kansan, in the 1,500 meters at Kansas City.

"I haven't given up the idea of running yet," said the 28-year-old maestro. "Old Man Time is telling on me, but men like Cunningham, Nurmi, and Venzke ran some of their greatest races when they were older than I am."

In practice jogging this spring he got down to a 2:10 half-mile, which makes him chuckle when he recalls that he once used to run the distance in 1:55.

"Running is not the main thing," mused Archie, who at eight was believed a hopeless cripple because of an accident. "I may never run again, but I guess we all can hope."

Archie started tooting on the trumpet at 15, but didn't take formal lessons until he was 19. He got the music bug from his uncles, Archie and August San Romani, who have established reputations in Kansas as directors of public school music.

All during high school and college he played in the band and orchestra, occasionally sang in the glee club. Whenever he went on a track trip, his trumpet went with him.

"I usually drove everybody out of the hotels where we were staying," he reminisced.

Once he kept the starting field of a mile race waiting for him in Trenton, N. J., while he guest-conducted a school band. After the performance he rushed to the track field, tore off his clothes and was revealed in his track uniform, which he had been wearing under his clothes. He won the race.

He played on a ship's dance band when he went to the 1936 Olympics.

Archie likes music so much that he thinks that if he had to do it all over again he would eschew running and concentrate entirely on his favorite subject. The running, he found, used to interfere with his trumpeting and once in a while he'd think of quitting track. But the need for an education was an impelling one

JACOBS TO MEET COOKE IN FINALS

Helen Bernhard Comes Within 'Ace' Of Beating Former Champion

PHILADELPHIA, July 12.—(AP)—Helen Hull Jacobs of Greenville, Del., and Mrs. Sarah Palfrey Cooke of New York—seeded first and second—won their way into the finals of the Middle States Grass Court tennis tournament today.

Miss Jacobs, the United States' No. 1 woman amateur, defeated defending Champion Helen Bernhard of New York, 6-0, 5-7, 10-8, and Mrs. Cooke won over Margaret Osborne, San Francisco, 0-6, 6-0, 6-1.

The 20-year-old Miss Bernhard was within one point on her own service of defeating the former American and English champion and repeating the victory she won last year in the finals.

Then she committed two double-faults that enabled Miss Jacobs to tie the score at 8-8 in the final set, and the latter easily ran out the next two frames.

Mrs. Cooke didn't find her game until the second set. Then she overwhelmed fifth-seeded Miss Osborne, losing only one game in the next two sets.

Bucky Walters Hurls Reds To Victory Over Brooklyn

Boston Takes Two From Detroit; Senators Defeat White Sox, 5-3

ST. LOUIS, July 12.—(AP)—The boys with the slide rules had to go to work again today as the New York Yankees beat the Browns, 7-5, to sweep their three-game series.

There was Joe DiMaggio, for one, who cracked out a double in the fourth inning and a single in the fifth to make this the 51st game in a row in which he has hit safely. There was the Yankee victory which, combined with Cleveland's loss to Philadelphia, made the New Yorkers' American League lead five full games.

The victory further, as the club's 12th in succession, established a new 1941 league record for winning streaks. The Indians' 11 straight in the early part of the season had set the previous high.

The Yanks concentrated their fire in the fourth inning, and it was DiMaggio's double which touched it off.

A'S BEAT TRIBE

CLEVELAND, July 12.—(AP)—Connie Mack's scrappy Athletics cast off the Cleveland Indians' spell with a 4 to 2 victory today, pegged on Wally Moses' two-run circuit clout and Lester McCrabb's five-hit twirling.

The Philadelphia right-hander's curve was breaking nicely as he snapped the Tribe's string of eight straight triumphs over the Mackmen. It was McCrabb's seventh win of the season, and the victim once again was Pitcher Al Milnar.

BOSOX TAME TIGERS

DETROIT, July 12.—(AP)—The Boston Red Sox called on two rookie pitchers to tame the Detroit Tigers in a double header today and the youngsters, aided by some potent slugging, won both games, 7 to 5 and 10 to 2.

Heber Newsome gave the Tigers seven hits before he was relieved by Mike Ryba in the eighth of the opener, while Cecil (Tex) Hughson allowed nine safeties over the route in the second.

Three home runs helped the Red Sox take the twin bill, Jimmy Foxx getting his 13th in the first game and his 14th in the second while Bobby Doerr also contributed a four-bagger in the opener.

NATS DOWN CHISOX

CHICAGO, July 12.—(AP)—The Washington Senators made the most of their nine hits today, defeating the Chicago White Sox, 5 to 3, to salvage the last of three games in their series.

Emil (Dutch) Leonard also let the Sox have nine hits but minimized them while the Senators bunched their hits well enough to score three runs in the third inning.

Washington jumped into the early lead when Buddy Lewis dropped a double between singles by Roger Cramer and Cecil Travis and a pass and the Chicagoans never caught up.

NEW YORK TAKES ST. LOUIS CARDS INTO CAMP, 6-4

Timely Hits Give Pirates 6-To-1 Triumph Over Philadelphia

BROOKLYN, July 12.—(AP)—Bucky Walters slowed up the red-hot Brooklyn Dodgers today by pitching a superlative six-hitter to give the stumbling world champion Cincinnati Reds a nerve-tingling 3 to 2 victory before 16,022 fans.

The Reds had been blasted by Brooklyn bats for two days, but today Walters weakened in only one inning—the eighth—when the Dodgers pushed across their two tallies.

Jumping on Whitlow Wyatt, the league's top-flight hurler in victories, in the first frame, the Reds jammed over two runs with one out. Lloyd Waner ran out an infield hit and Linus Frey was tagged with a pitched ball. After Frank McCormick popped out, Harry Craft singled in Waner and Frey scored when Pete Reiser threw wild past the plate.

Singles by Eddie Joost and Walters and Bill Werber's grounder scored the winning Red run in the seventh.

GIANTS TOP CARDS

NEW YORK, July 12.—(AP)—Although he needed ninth-inning assistance from Walter Brown to get out of a bad hole, young Bob Carpenter hurled his sixth victory for the Giants today, holding the St. Louis Cardinals to seven hits and driving in three runs with a single and double. The score was 6 to 4.

The bespectacled right-hander had given up only five hits going into the ninth. Then Enos Slaughter and Don Padgett singled and Pinch-Hitter Coacker Triplett drew a walk to fill the bases. At that point Manager Bill Terry lifted Carpenter for Walter Brown, who saved the day with one pitch and which Walker Cooper, another pinch-hitter, lined to Billy Jurges for an unassisted double play.

BUCS WHIP PHILS

PHILADELPHIA, July 12.—(AP)—Timely hits, including Elbie Fletcher's eighth home run with one on base, coupled with John Lanning's six-hit pitching gave the Pittsburgh Pirates a 6 to 1 victory over the Phillies today.

Fletcher clouted one of Johnny Podajny's pitches for the circuit with Lee Handley on base in the fourth inning to send the Pirates ahead.

Curtis, Davis To Headline Arena Card Tuesday Night

Champ Refuses To Put Belt On Line In Match With Hollywood Rowdy

Jack Curtis, the pride of Vicksburg and holder of two wrestling titles, will meet Dizzy Davis, colorful Hollywood rowdy, in the main event on Tuesday night's card at the Monroe arena, Promoter Gus Kallio announced last night.

Davis, who appeared to avoid as much contact with Curtis as possible in recent "tag team" events here, wants the Mississippian to put at least one of his crowns on the line Tuesday, but Curtis, who holds the junior light-heavyweight belt of the nation and the southern light-heavy title, isn't anxious to give the Hollywood flash a title affair.

Promoter Kallio said last night that Davis was still trying to coax Curtis into making it a championship bout, but that Curtis apparently didn't consider Davis a worthy opponent until he has "proven himself."

Promoter Kallio indicated that if Davis defeated Curtis or made the battle anywhere near close that he would join the Hollywood grappler in his efforts to make Curtis battle with at least one of his championships as the stake.

The battle, title or non-title affair, will be what the fans have been asking for. Both wrestlers have been appearing here frequently and should have been in more action together in the "tag" affairs, but as Davis "dodged" Curtis in the team matches, they have never clashed here in an honest-to-goodness bout.

The fans begged for them to battle it out in the "tag" series, but Davis always managed to get out after slight skirmishes with the champ.

Supporting the Davis-Curtis feature will be the semi-final battle between Tony Velasco, the Cuban gamecock, who has become a favorite with the fans despite the fact that he has a tough time winning, and the Springfield, Mo., grappler, Eddie Williams. Williams has appeared here only once before.

Aldin "Butch" Martin will referee both bouts. The curtain-raiser is scheduled for 8:30 o'clock.

MISSOURI MULE

MIDDLECOFF WINS TENNESSEE TITLE

Becomes Third Golfer In 26 Years To Take Crown Twice Straight

NASHVILLE, Tenn., July 12.—(AP)—Twenty-year-old Cary Middlecoff of Memphis successfully defended his state golf crown today, repulsing Nashville's Mack Brothers, 5 and 4, to become the third golfer in the 26-year-old history of the event to win the title in successive years.

The University of Mississippi predental student's triumph marked the fourth straight year the championship had been won by a Memphian. Johnny Cummings was the victor in 1938 and young H. P. Childress copped the trophy in 1939.

Middlecoff laid out a "blue print" for the tourney and followed it throughout.

"I'd like to catch a couple of easy matches, and then have to bear down in the rest," he told newsmen before the tourney opened.

And that's precisely what happened. The slender, smooth-stroking youth eliminated his first two opponents, 5 and 4, beat his quarterfinal foe, 3 and 2, and moved into the finals yesterday on a 5 and 3 win over Elmer Prieskorn of Nashville.

Never was he behind in his preliminary matches and the same was true of today's 36-hole scrap with Brothers.

Boston Takes Two From Detroit; Senators Defeat White Sox, 5-3

ST. LOUIS, July 12.—(AP)—The boys with the slide rules had to go to work again today as the New York Yankees beat the Browns, 7-5, to sweep their three-game series.

There was Joe DiMaggio, for one, who cracked out a double in the fourth inning and a single in the fifth to make this the 51st game in a row in which he has hit safely. There was the Yankee victory which, combined with Cleveland's loss to Philadelphia, made the New Yorkers' American League lead five full games.

The victory further, as the club's 12th in succession, established a new 1941 league record for winning streaks. The Indians' 11 straight in the early part of the season had set the previous high.

The Yanks concentrated their fire in the fourth inning, and it was DiMaggio's double which touched it off.

A'S BEAT TRIBE

CLEVELAND, July 12.—(AP)—Connie Mack's scrappy Athletics cast off the Cleveland Indians' spell with a 4 to 2 victory today, pegged on Wally Moses' two-run circuit clout and Lester McCrabb's five-hit twirling.

The Philadelphia right-hander's curve was breaking nicely as he snapped the Tribe's string of eight straight triumphs over the Mackmen. It was McCrabb's seventh win of the season, and the victim once again was Pitcher Al Milnar.

BOSOX TAME TIGERS

DETROIT, July 12.—(AP)—The Boston Red Sox called on two rookie pitchers to tame the Detroit Tigers in a double header today and the youngsters, aided by some potent slugging, won both games, 7 to 5 and 10 to 2.

Heber Newsome gave the Tigers seven hits before he was relieved by Mike Ryba in the eighth of the opener, while Cecil (Tex) Hughson allowed nine safeties over the route in the second.

Three home runs helped the Red Sox take the twin bill, Jimmy Foxx getting his 13th in the first game and his 14th in the second while Bobby Doerr also contributed a four-bagger in the opener.

NATS DOWN CHISOX

CHICAGO, July 12.—(AP)—The Washington Senators made the most of their nine hits today, defeating the Chicago White Sox, 5 to 3, to salvage the last of three games in their series.

Emil (Dutch) Leonard also let the Sox have nine hits but minimized them while the Senators bunched their hits well enough to score three runs in the third inning.

Washington jumped into the early lead when Buddy Lewis dropped a double between singles by Roger Cramer and Cecil Travis and a pass and the Chicagoans never caught up.

NEW YORK TAKES ST. LOUIS CARDS INTO CAMP, 6-4

Timely Hits Give Pirates 6-To-1 Triumph Over Philadelphia

BROOKLYN, July 12.—(AP)—Bucky Walters slowed up the red-hot Brooklyn Dodgers today by pitching a superlative six-hitter to give the stumbling world champion Cincinnati Reds a nerve-tingling 3 to 2 victory before 16,022 fans.

The Reds had been blasted by Brooklyn bats for two days, but today Walters weakened in only one inning—the eighth—when the Dodgers pushed across their two tallies.

Jumping on Whitlow Wyatt, the league's top-flight hurler in victories, in the first frame, the Reds jammed over two runs with one out. Lloyd Waner ran out an infield hit and Linus Frey was tagged with a pitched ball. After Frank McCormick popped out, Harry Craft singled in Waner and Frey scored when Pete Reiser threw wild past the plate.

Singles by Eddie Joost and Walters and Bill Werber's grounder scored the winning Red run in the seventh.

GIANTS TOP CARDS

NEW YORK, July 12.—(AP)—Although he needed ninth-inning assistance from Walter Brown to get out of a bad hole, young Bob Carpenter hurled his sixth victory for the Giants today, holding the St. Louis Cardinals to seven hits and driving in three runs with a single and double. The score was 6 to 4.

The bespectacled right-hander had given up only five hits going into the ninth. Then Enos Slaughter and Don Padgett singled and Pinch-Hitter Coacker Triplett drew a walk to fill the bases. At that point Manager Bill Terry lifted Carpenter for Walter Brown, who saved the day with one pitch and which Walker Cooper, another pinch-hitter, lined to Billy Jurges for an unassisted double play.

BUCS WHIP PHILS

PHILADELPHIA, July 12.—(AP)—Timely hits, including Elbie Fletcher's eighth home run with one on base, coupled with John Lanning's six-hit pitching gave the Pittsburgh Pirates a 6 to 1 victory over the Phillies today.

Fletcher clouted one of Johnny Podajny's pitches for the circuit with Lee Handley on base in the fourth inning to send the Pirates ahead.

Champ Refuses To Put Belt On Line In Match With Hollywood Rowdy

Jack Curtis, the pride of Vicksburg and holder of two wrestling titles, will meet Dizzy Davis, colorful Hollywood rowdy, in the main event on Tuesday night's card at the Monroe arena, Promoter Gus Kallio announced last night.

Davis, who appeared to avoid as much contact with Curtis as possible in recent "tag team" events here, wants the Mississippian to put at least one of his crowns on the line Tuesday, but Curtis, who holds the junior light-heavyweight belt of the nation and the southern light-heavy title, isn't anxious to give the Hollywood flash a title affair.

Promoter Kallio said last night that Davis was still trying to coax Curtis into making it a championship bout, but that Curtis apparently didn't consider Davis a worthy opponent until he has "proven himself."

Promoter Kallio indicated that if Davis defeated Curtis or made the battle anywhere near close that he would join the Hollywood grappler in his efforts to make Curtis battle with at least one of his championships as the stake.

The battle, title or non-title affair, will be what the fans have been asking for. Both wrestlers have been appearing here frequently and should have been in more action together in the "tag" affairs, but as Davis "dodged" Curtis in the team matches, they have never clashed here in an honest-to-goodness bout.

The fans begged for them to battle it out in the "tag" series, but Davis always managed to get out after slight skirmishes with the champ.

Supporting the Davis-Curtis feature will be the semi-final battle between Tony Velasco, the Cuban gamecock, who has become a favorite with the fans despite the fact that he has a tough time winning, and the Springfield, Mo., grappler, Eddie Williams. Williams has appeared here only once before.

Aldin "Butch" Martin will referee both bouts. The curtain-raiser is scheduled for 8:30 o'clock.

MISSOURI MULE

MIDDLECOFF WINS TENNESSEE TITLE

Becomes Third Golfer In 26 Years To Take Crown Twice Straight

NASHVILLE, Tenn., July 12.—(AP)—Twenty-year-old Cary Middlecoff of Memphis successfully defended his state golf crown today, repulsing Nashville's Mack Brothers, 5 and 4, to become the third golfer in the 26-year-old history of the event to win the title in successive years.

The University of Mississippi predental student's triumph marked the fourth straight year the championship had been won by a Memphian. Johnny Cummings was the victor in 1938 and young H. P. Childress copped the trophy in 1939.

Middlecoff laid out a "blue print" for the tourney and followed it throughout.

"I'd like to catch a couple of easy matches, and then have to bear down in the rest," he told newsmen before the tourney opened.

And that's precisely what happened. The slender, smooth-stroking youth eliminated his first two opponents, 5 and 4, beat his quarterfinal foe, 3 and 2, and moved into the finals yesterday on a 5 and 3 win over Elmer Prieskorn of Nashville.

Never was he behind in his preliminary matches and the same was true of today's 36-hole scrap with Brothers.

Sun Again, Some Chance, Wishbone Finish One-Two-Three In Futurity

CHICAGO, July 12.—(AP)—Warren Wright of Chicago, owner of famed Whirlaway, entered three two-year-olds in the rich Arlington futurity today and won a clean sweep—an astonishing and rare result on the American turf.

His trio, which dominated the race from start to finish, charged down the sun-lit stretch to loud cheers from the crowd of 30,000 which had backed the entry heavily.

The winner was Sun Again, a sturdy son of Teddy-Hug Again. Some Chance was second and Wishbone third.

Never in the history of the race was it so completely one-sided and so far as available records show it probably was the first time in history of American racing that such a result occurred, at least in a major stake.

The value of the race, with eight starters was $48,750 and the Chicago sportsman grabbed all of it except $1,500 which went to Hal Price Headley of Lexington, Ky., whose colt, Anti-Climax, finished fourth.

Sun Again, weighted with 122 pounds and spiritedly ridden by Jockey Wendall Eads, sprinted the six furlongs in 1:12 1-5.

The Wright entry, all bred on his famed Calumet farm in the blue grass of Kentucky, paid $3.60 to win, $3 to place and $3.20 to show.

Sun Again ran across the finish two lengths ahead of Some Chance with Wishbone another four lengths back. Struggling back of Anti-Climax were Thomas Piatt's Bold Chance, Milky Way Farms' Dogpatch, Mrs. Alice Fairbanks Sherman's Home Wolf and the Valdina Farms' Valdina Orphan, which finished last.

OUACHITA VALLEY

BROWN MEETS CROSSETT

The strengthened Brown Paper Mill Brownies, who have gained a tie with the Ruston Volunteers for fifth place in the Ouachita Valley league standings and are now only three games out of the first division and five and a half out of first place, meet the Crossett Millers at Brown park this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock.

Manager Jack Bagwell has obtained the services of Louisiana State university's first string catcher and a former Cotton States league performer the past week, and the two additions, J. R. "Red" McDowell, the L. S. U. athlete, and Joe Barnett, the former Cotton Stater, will be in the lineup today against the second place Millers.

McDowell, a Bonita product, has been playing with Colonial Heights, Petersburg, Va., but suffered a hand injury in a game last Sunday. However, he has been looking impressive in workouts with the Browns this week, particularly with his batting, and will be in the starting lineup.

HODGE INCREASES LEAD

HODGE, La., July 12.—(Special)—The Southern Advanceers of Hodge defeated the Ruston Volunteers, 6 to 5, here Thursday night to increase their Ouachita Valley League lead to a full game over the Crossett Millers. It was the 11th victory in the last 12 games for the locals.

The Advanceers got off to a three-run lead in the first two innings as Earl Baker, Vol hurler, tossed up two home run pitches, the first to "Red" Barnhart with none on in the opening frame, and the second to Jimmie Gimber after Marvin Nix' double in the second. Hodge scored single runs in the fifth, sixth and eighth. The Vols packed all their punch in the last three games with Baker getting a circuit clout in the eighth.

Louisiana Training Institute's league leading Pels and second place Cans meet tomorrow in a Recreation Baseball League game on the L. T. I. diamond while the Trojans will engage the Eagles at Barkdull Faulk.

The Cans play the Eagles on Tuesday; the Pels and Trojans clash Wednesday; the Cans and Trojans meet Thursday, and the Eagles and Pels complete the week's schedule in a game Friday.

Bueschen Maintains Pace In Cotton States Hitting

League-Leading Monroe White Sox Top Loop In Team Batting, Fielding

Pushing his average over the .400 mark, Roy Bueschen of Greenville held on to the batting leadership of the Cotton States league the past week, according to the latest official league averages, with a percentage of .401.

The Buckshot outfielder is 16 points ahead of his nearest rival, Texarkana's Merv Connors, who boasts a .385 average. Pete Rhodes, Hot Springs, who spends his time between the pitching mound and the outfield, has the third highest batting mark with .369.

Bueschen also grabbed off a few other individual honors. He is tops in the league in runs scored with 88, in hits with 123, and in total bases with 205. Rosie Cantrell, Helena, has batted in the most runs, 74; and Charlie Metro, Texarkana, has the most homers, 20.

Stanley "Red" Todd, Greenville, is still the circuit's top hurler. Bill Vandenberg, Marshall, is runner-up, and "Tiny" Finck, Helena, Al Kelly, Vicksburg, and Tom Perry, Monroe, are close behind. Despite his position among the league's top flingers, Vandenberg was unable to check the sliding Clarksdale DeSotans who lost 18 games in a plunge to seventh place before Marshall took the Clarksdale franchise.

Despite the fact that Greenville boasts the league's leading slugger and hurler, the Monroe White Sox, current loop leaders are tops in team batting and team fielding.

The Sox' heaviest hitter is nearly 50 points behind Bueschen, but the Monroe club has seven regulars batting better than .300, and three others, not including pitchers, have been improving their .200 bracket averages.

Bob Hill is setting the pace for the Sox with .353, and following in order are Dave Philley with .349, Skipper Doug Taitt with .348, Pete Medak with .341, Dale Englehorn with .331, Guy Pruitt with .327, and "Major" Bowles with .307.

Joe Eagar, who has been getting quite a few doubles lately, is only a few steps out of the .300 bracket with .292. Ernie Potocar, a potential .300 hitter, is just finding the range again after being beaned several weeks ago. His present average is .279. Bobby Burt, although the Sox' weakest hitter, has also been doing some lusty batting recently and has jumped his average more than 25 points to .254.

WHISTLE TO BLOW ON 'ZUP' TUESDAY

Illini Board Of Trustees To Iron Out Muddled Athletic Situation

CHICAGO, July 12.—(AP)—The whistle will blow this week for Bob Zuppke of Illinois.

On Tuesday, the university's board of trustees will call "time out" to huddle over Zuppke's status as head Illini football coach. And the board's attempt to straighten out the muddled Illinois athletic situation may mean the end of a spectacular coaching saga begun 28 years ago—or it may signalize the beginning of a new and peaceful era to cap the twilight of a remarkable gridiron career.

There has been little peace during the past three years for Zuppke—62-year-old gridiron strategist, painter, philosopher and lastly, doughty little fighter.

In recent weeks his Lake Harbor, Mich., summer home—usually a retreat where he relaxed with his brushes and canvas—has been the headquarters from which he directed his right to remain on the one job he loves—top mentor at Illinois.

His battle cry, "I'll never quit, they'll have to fire me," has knifed clearly through the discord of a bitter controversy which may force the trustees to shake up the school's athletic staff even to the extent of replacing Wendell S. Wilson, athletic director since 1936 and target of some of "Zups" sharpest barbs.

There is little that is "new" about the current fight Zuppke is waging to continue on at Illinois until he is 65. Three years ago Wilson obtained "Zup's" resignation, with the coach being given a $6,000 yearly retirement pension. But the trustees refused to accept it.

The trustees, it is believed, have a choice of four decisions: (1) Fire both Zuppke and Wilson, who has denied he ever tried to "fire" the veteran coach; (2) retain both another year; (3) fire Zuppke and retain Wilson or (4) fire Wilson and retain Zuppke. The odds seemed to point toward the latter step—with Doug Mills, basketball coach, reported as being a possible choice to replace Wilson.

Should Zuppke come through with flying colors it will be another victory in a career packed with upset winds by teams directed by "Wily Bob."

Delaware-Bred Colt Whips Seven Rivals

LOS ANGELES, July 12.—(AP)—Staretor strengthened his claim as one of the nation's outstanding three-year-olds today by whipping seven rivals in the fourth running of the $25,000 Hollywood Derby.

The Delaware-bred colt, owned by Hugh S. Nesbit, of Los Angeles, flashed across the finish line three-quarters of a length in front of his arch foe, C. S. Howard's Porter's Cap, while the crowd of 32,000 which had installed him as a 6-5 favorite, cheered lustily.

Harry L. Warner's Paper Boy ran third.

WILLIAMS BOOTED FROM .400 CLASS

Averages Show All-Star Hero Has Slipped Three Straight Weeks

CHICAGO, July 12.—(AP)—The American league pitching fraternity had something to crow about this week. After six weeks of trying, it finally had ended Ted Williams' fling as a .400 hitter.

Averages through Friday showed the young Boston slugger and all-star game hero had lost ground for the third consecutive week, falling five points to .393. It marked the first time that he had been out of the .400 class since late in May.

Even so he was four points better off in his race with rival hitters than last week, when Cleveland's Jeff Heath advanced within 23 points of Williams and indicated he might be the man to catch the leader. However, Heath did a nose dive over the week and Roy Cullenbine of St. Louis, who took over second place, found his .371 figure 27 points behind that of Williams.

Heath lost 14 points and wound up third with .366, just one point ahead of Joe DiMaggio of New York and Cecil Travis of Washington. DiMaggio, already on a record spree, had an especially good week and his clubbing, at a .600 rate, lifted him 16 points. Others among the high 10 were Dick Siebert, Philadelphia, .347; Joe Cronin, Boston, .337; Joe Grace, St. Louis, .336; Sam Chapman, Philadelphia, .330; Bill Dickey, New York, .322.

DiMaggio, who bettered the record for hitting safely in consecutive games, got 12 hits in 20 attempts over the week. Among them were two homers that boosted his league leading total to 20. In addition, his 73 runs batted in enabled him to take over the lead in this department from Teammate Charley Keller.

Joe Kuhel of Chicago broke his tie with Heath by stealing two more bases which gave him 12 for the season. The other departmental leaders remained unchanged. Lou Boudreau of Cleveland set the pace in two-base hits with 26, his teammate, Ken Keltner, had the most triples, 10, while a third Cleveland player, Bob Feller, topped the pitchers. Feller had won 17 games and lost four and had struck out 151 men.

New York increased its double play total to 100, while Boston and Cleveland remained the team batting and fielding leaders, respectively. Boston had a .279 batting mark and Cleveland a .978 fielding average.

WILL HARRIDGE LIFTS SUSPENSION OF DYKES

CHICAGO, July 12.—(AP)—William Harridge, president of the American league, tonight lifted his suspension of Jimmy Dykes, Chicago White Sox manager.

Harridge, who suspended Dykes indefinitely last Sunday because he used "abusive and obscene language" in an argument with an umpire, said Dykes could don a uniform again Sunday and thereafter.

New York

NEW YORK, July 12.—(AP)—Cotton raced ahead to new 11 year peaks in an active trading session today.

Gains of more than $1.00 a bale were reached on Bombay, trade and New Orleans buying encouraged by announced postponement of price ceilings for cottonseed oil.

Also aiding in the upturn were reports of general rains over the cotton growing belt which would favor weevil activity and unfavorable private crop advices from Texas.

Local profit taking and spot house selling became more active toward the close and a few points were trimmed from the tops.

NEW YORK STOCKS

By Victor Eubank

NEW YORK, July 12.—(AP)—Stocks generally moved warily in today's final market session of the week and, while there was little weakness in evidence, many leaders shuffled over a narrowly irregular terrain.

Hesitancy appeared at the start and, at the close, minor fractional variations either way were the rule.

Lively intervals were interspersed with slow-downs but transfers of around 250,000 shares were the largest for a two-hour stretch in two months.

The business picture maintained its hopeful aspects and a sizable batch of pleasing corporation earnings figures drew attention to individual stocks.

Bonds were fairly steady. Cotton futures pushed up in the commodities division.

Sun Again, Some Chance, Wishbone Finish One-Two-Three In Futurity

CHICAGO, July 12.—(AP)—Warren Wright of Chicago, owner of famed Whirlaway, entered three two-year-olds in the rich Arlington futurity today and won a clean sweep—an astonishing and rare result on the American turf.

His trio, which dominated the race from start to finish, charged down the sun-lit stretch to loud cheers from the crowd of 30,000 which had backed the entry heavily.

The winner was Sun Again, a sturdy son of Teddy-Hug Again. Some Chance was second and Wishbone third.

Never in the history of the race was it so completely one-sided and so far as available records show it probably was the first time in history of American racing that such a result occurred, at least in a major stake.

The value of the race, with eight starters was $48,750 and the Chicago sportsman grabbed all of it except $1,500 which went to Hal Price Headley of Lexington, Ky., whose colt, Anti-Climax, finished fourth.

Sun Again, weighted with 122 pounds and spiritedly ridden by Jockey Wendall Eads, sprinted the six furlongs in 1:12 1-5.

The Wright entry, all bred on his famed Calumet farm in the blue grass of Kentucky, paid $3.60 to win, $3 to place and $3.20 to show.

Sun Again ran across the finish two lengths ahead of Some Chance with Wishbone another four lengths back. Struggling back of Anti-Climax were Thomas Piatt's Bold Chance, Milky Way Farms' Dogpatch, Mrs. Alice Fairbanks Sherman's Home Wolf and the Valdina Farms' Valdina Orphan, which finished last.

OUACHITA VALLEY

BROWN MEETS CROSSETT

The strengthened Brown Paper Mill Brownies, who have gained a tie with the Ruston Volunteers for fifth place in the Ouachita Valley league standings and are now only three games out of the first division and five and a half out of first place, meet the Crossett Millers at Brown park this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock.

Manager Jack Bagwell has obtained the services of Louisiana State university's first string catcher and a former Cotton States league performer the past week, and the two additions, J. R. "Red" McDowell, the L. S. U. athlete, and Joe Barnett, the former Cotton Stater, will be in the lineup today against the second place Millers.

McDowell, a Bonita product, has been playing with Colonial Heights, Petersburg, Va., but suffered a hand injury in a game last Sunday. However, he has been looking impressive in workouts with the Browns this week, particularly with his batting, and will be in the starting lineup.

HODGE INCREASES LEAD

HODGE, La., July 12.—(Special)—The Southern Advanceers of Hodge defeated the Ruston Volunteers, 6 to 5, here Thursday night to increase their Ouachita Valley League lead to a full game over the Crossett Millers. It was the 11th victory in the last 12 games for the locals.

The Advanceers got off to a three-run lead in the first two innings as Earl Baker, Vol hurler, tossed up two home run pitches, the first to "Red" Barnhart with none on in the opening frame, and the second to Jimmie Gimber after Marvin Nix' double in the second. Hodge scored single runs in the fifth, sixth and eighth. The Vols packed all their punch in the last three games with Baker getting a circuit clout in the eighth.

The Cans play the Eagles on Tuesday; the Pels and Trojans clash Wednesday; the Cans and Trojans meet Thursday, and the Eagles and Pels complete the week's schedule in a game Friday.

Bueschen Maintains Pace In Cotton States Hitting

League-Leading Monroe White Sox Top Loop In Team Batting, Fielding

Pushing his average over the .400 mark, Roy Bueschen of Greenville held on to the batting leadership of the Cotton States league the past week, according to the latest official league averages, with a percentage of .401.

The Buckshot outfielder is 16 points ahead of his nearest rival, Texarkana's Merv Connors, who boasts a .385 average. Pete Rhodes, Hot Springs, who spends his time between the pitching mound and the outfield, has the third highest batting mark with .369.

Bueschen also grabbed off a few other individual honors. He is tops in the league in runs scored with 88, in hits with 123, and in total bases with 205. Rosie Cantrell, Helena, has batted in the most runs, 74; and Charlie Metro, Texarkana, has the most homers, 20.

Stanley "Red" Todd, Greenville, is still the circuit's top hurler, Bill Vandenberg, Marshall, is runner-up, and "Tiny" Finck, Helena, Al Kelly, Vicksburg, and Tom Perry, Monroe, are close behind. Despite his position among the league's top flingers, Vandenberg was unable to check the sliding Clarksdale DeSotans who lost 18 games in a plunge to seventh place before Marshall took the Clarksdale franchise.

Despite the fact that Greenville boasts the league's leading slugger and hurler, the Monroe White Sox, current loop leaders are tops in team batting and team fielding.

The Sox' heaviest hitter is nearly 50 points behind Bueschen, but the Monroe club has seven regulars batting better than .300, and three others, not including pitchers, have been improving their .200 bracket averages.

Bob Hill is setting the pace for the Sox with .353, and following in order are Dave Philley with .349, Skipper Doug Taitt with .348, Pete Medak with .341, Dale Englehorn with .331, Guy Pruitt with .327, and "Major" Bowles with .307.

Joe Eagar, who has been getting quite a few doubles lately, is only a few steps out of the .300 bracket with .292. Ernie Potocar, a potential .300 hitter, is just finding the range again after being beaned several weeks ago. His present average is .279. Bobby Burt, although the Sox' weakest hitter, has also been doing some lusty batting recently and has jumped his average more than 25 points to .254.

WHISTLE TO BLOW ON 'ZUP' TUESDAY

Illini Board Of Trustees To Iron Out Muddled Athletic Situation

CHICAGO, July 12.—(AP)—The whistle will blow this week for Bob Zuppke of Illinois.

On Tuesday, the university's board of trustees will call "time out" to huddle over Zuppke's status as head Illini football coach. And the board's attempt to straighten out the muddled Illinois athletic situation may mean the end of a spectacular coaching saga begun 28 years ago—or it may signalize the beginning of a new and peaceful era to cap the twilight of a remarkable gridiron career.

There has been little peace during the past three years for Zuppke—62-year-old gridiron strategist, painter, philosopher and lastly, doughty little fighter.

In recent weeks his Lake Harbor, Mich., summer home—usually a retreat where he relaxed with his brushes and canvas—has been the headquarters from which he directed his right to remain on the one job he loves—top mentor at Illinois.

His battle cry, "I'll never quit, they'll have to fire me," has knifed clearly through the discord of a bitter controversy which may force the trustees to shake up the school's athletic staff even to the extent of replacing Wendell S. Wilson, athletic director since 1936 and target of some of "Zups" sharpest barbs.

There is little that is "new" about the current fight Zuppke is waging to continue on at Illinois until he is 65. Three years ago Wilson obtained "Zup's" resignation, with the coach being given a $6,000 yearly retirement pension. But the trustees refused to accept it.

The trustees, it is believed, have a choice of four decisions: (1) Fire both Zuppke and Wilson, who has denied he ever tried to "fire" the veteran coach; (2) retain both another year; (3) fire Zuppke and retain Wilson or (4) fire Wilson and retain Zuppke. The odds seemed to point toward the latter step—with Doug Mills, basketball coach, reported as being a possible choice to replace Wilson.

Should Zuppke come through with flying colors it will be another victory in a career packed with upset winds by teams directed by "Wily Bob."

Delaware-Bred Colt Whips Seven Rivals

LOS ANGELES, July 12.—(AP)—Staretor strengthened his claim as one of the nation's outstanding three-year-olds today by whipping seven rivals in the fourth running of the $25,000 Hollywood Derby.

The Delaware-bred colt, owned by Hugh S. Nesbit, of Los Angeles, flashed across the finish line three-quarters of a length in front of his arch foe, C. S. Howard's Porter's Cap, while the crowd of 32,000 which had installed him as a 6-5 favorite, cheered lustily.

Harry L. Warner's Paper Boy ran third.

WILLIAMS BOOTED FROM .400 CLASS

Averages Show All-Star Hero Has Slipped Three Straight Weeks

CHICAGO, July 12.—(AP)—The American league pitching fraternity had something to crow about this week. After six weeks of trying, it finally had ended Ted Williams' fling as a .400 hitter.

Averages through Friday showed the young Boston slugger and all-star game hero had lost ground for the third consecutive week, falling five points to .398. It marked the first time that he had been out of the .400 class since late in May.

Even so he was four points better off in his race with rival hitters than last week, when Cleveland's Jeff Heath advanced within 23 points of Williams and indicated he might be the man to catch the leader. However, Heath did a nose dive over the week and Roy Cullenbine of St. Louis, who took over second place, found his .371 figure 27 points behind that of Williams.

Heath lost 14 points and wound up third with .366, just one point ahead of Joe DiMaggio of New York and Cecil Travis of Washington. DiMaggio, already on a record spree, had an especially good week and his clubbing, at a .600 rate, lifted him 16 points. Others among the high 10 were Dick Siebert, Philadelphia, .347; Joe Cronin, Boston, .337; Joe Grace, St. Louis, .336; Sam Chapman, Philadelphia, .330; Bill Dickey, New York, .322.

DiMaggio, who bettered the record for hitting safely in consecutive games, got 12 hits in 20 attempts over the week. Among them were two homers that boosted his league leading total to 20. In addition, his 73 runs batted in enabled him to take over the lead in this department from Teammate Charley Keller.

Joe Kuhel of Chicago broke his tie with Heath by stealing two more bases which gave him 12 for the season. The other departmental leaders remained unchanged. Lou Boudreau of Cleveland set the pace in two-base hits with 26, his teammate, Ken Keltner, had the most triples, 10, while a third Cleveland player, Bob Feller, topped the pitchers. Feller had won 17 games and lost four and had struck out 151 men.

New York increased its double play total to 100, while Boston and Cleveland remained the team batting and fielding leaders, respectively. Boston had a .279 batting mark and Cleveland a .978 fielding average.

WILL HARRIDGE LIFTS SUSPENSION OF DYKES

CHICAGO, July 12.—(AP)—William Harridge, president of the American league, tonight lifted his suspension of Jimmy Dykes, Chicago White Sox manager.

Harridge, who suspended Dykes indefinitely last Sunday because he used "abusive and obscene language" in an argument with an umpire, said Dykes could don a uniform again Sunday and thereafter.

AVERAGE COTTON PRICE

NEW ORLEANS, July 12.—(AP)—The average price of middling 15-16 inch cotton at 10 designated southern spot markets today was 19 points higher at 15.21 cents a pound, a new high for the season; average for the past 30 market days was 14.17.

Middling 7-8 inch average was 14.99 cents a pound.

New York

NEW YORK, July 12.—(AP)—Cotton raced ahead to new 11 year peaks in an active trading session today.

Gains of more than $1.00 a bale were reached on Bombay, trade and New Orleans buying encouraged by announced postponement of price ceilings for cottonseed oil.

Also aiding in the upturn were reports of general rains over the cotton growing belt which would favor weevil activity and unfavorable private crop advices from Texas.

Local profit taking and spot house selling became more active toward the close and a few points were trimmed from the tops.

Futures closed 14-22 points higher.

NEW YORK STOCKS

By Victor Eubank

NEW YORK, July 12.—(AP)—Stocks generally moved warily in today's final market session of the week and, while there was little weakness in evidence, many leaders shuffled over a narrowly irregular terrain.

Hesitancy appeared at the start and, at the close, minor fractional variations either way were the rule.

Lively intervals were interspersed with slow-downs but transfers of around 250,000 shares were the largest for a two-hour stretch in two months.

The business picture maintained its hopeful aspects and a sizable batch of pleasing corporation earnings figures drew attention to individual stocks.

Bonds were fairly steady. Cotton futures pushed up in the commodities division.

okes under par for the Cherry Hills urse. He had to be to win. Sarazen, ho donned the robes of a P. G. A. gpin in 1922 for the first of three es—about the time Nelson was a year-old boy—ended up three unr par for the match.

That's golf in any league. Three tts on the 17th green cost Sarazen chance to fight it out on the last le. The number of the most colorperformer in the field, old Plus urs Sarazen, didn't come up this e. He missed a four-foot putt, easy ough for any dub to kick in.

While the Sarazen-Nelson duel proled the dramatic touches of age vs. ith, the Ghezzi-Mangrum encounfurnished its thrills in a rousing neback by the Californian.

Playing in his first P. G. A. chamnship, Mangrum's usually nerves game fell to pieces for the mornround. Wild shooting forced him accept three penalty strokes. He s 3 down at the 18th, 4 down at 24th and 3 behind at the 30th.

He appeared hopelessly outclassed, stuck to it doggedly to win the d, 34th and 35th holes with 4s, last a birdie.

With the match deadlocked and the wd for him after the plucky comek, Mangrum belted his drive some yards. It was too far. The ball led to the edge of the lake that es into the last fairway. He couldn't e a stance except by wading into ter and had to waste a shot chipg back, so he reached the green 3. Ghezzi, meanwhile, hit his secl to the left of the green and pped up dead for his par 4.

oo much muscles put Mangrum of the running. Had the drive n 18 inches less he might have ned up as a finalist in his freshn year. Ghezzi floundered on five the last nine holes to card a 40. completed the 36 holes in 68-74— even par, against Mangrum's 73-144.

ROMANI IS STILL BREAKING MARKS

and his running ability helped him get campus jobs.

"You'll never become a music teacher."

Coincidence seems to have played a large part in Archie's life. When he was eight years old he was severely injured in an accident, and like Cunningham, was told he never could run again. But he wouldn't take this dictum lying down. He began exercising, and by the time he was 17, the high school track coach, impressed by his constant neighborhood running, asked him to come out for track. The 4:40 mile he tacked up for Frontenac High school back in 1931 is still the best in the Kansas Mineral Belt league.

Since then, he has run a 4:07.2 mile, the third fastest ever run by a human. Incidentally, he thinks his N. Y. U. friend, young Leslie MacMitchell, is going to accomplish the much dreamed-of four minute mile one of these days.

Coincidence, too, got him his job in Cape Elizabeth. He was broadcasting about his track experiences, and mentioned that he wanted a music teacher job in some small high school. Norman Cole, superintendent of Cape Elizabeth schools, who used to be a pretty fair half-miler in his college days, was listening in. He dropped Archie a letter and the appointment followed.

Bach and Handel are San Romani's favorite composers, but he is partial to band music, too. One of his prime ambitions is to teach and direct a high school band of about 100 pieces.

"Now, that would be a thrill," he said with a smile.

th the Hot Springs Bathers. El rado managed to get one player the lineup, and only Vicksburg iled to rate a selection. Vicksburg, owever, would have been able to ace Billy Seal at second base if e army draft hadn't caught up with e stellar Hill-Billie.

Doug "Poco" Taitt, popular pilot of Monroe club, who has skippered Sox to league championships dur- two of the past three seasons and aced his club in the title playoffs the other occasion, was selected manager of the All-Stars.

The All-Star team is:

Merv Connors, Texarkana, first base.
Roy Martin, Hot Springs, second ase.
Dick Jones, Greenville, shortstop.
Woody Head, El Dorado, third base.
Charlie Metro, Texarkana, center eld.
Roy Bueschen, Greenville, right eld.
Ernie Potocar, Monroe, catcher.
Tom Perry, Monroe, pitcher.
Stan Todd, Greenville, pitcher
Willard Vandenberg, Marshall, tcher.
Charlie Pescod, Hot Springs, pitcher.
Hal Bennett, Marshall, utility.

Umpires selected to work the game ere Frank DeHaney, Earl Porter ud Newman and Harry Gribbon.

Several Monroe players received ention" for the All-Star team. They ere Pete Medak, Joe Eagar, Dave hilley, Guy Pruitt, Bob Hill and erne Williamson.

Wednesday will be an open date in e Cotton States league and Thurs- y the revised league schedule, as nounced yesterday by Judge Em- ett Harty, loop president, will o to effect. The schedule changes ere made necessary by the entry of arshall into the league. The old hedule, with Clarksdale instead of arshall, would have called for some ad trips "awful" long runs. Und setup, the Sox, who invade Hot Springs after exarkana series, will come right ck home after their battles with the wins and meet the Helena Seaport- her ursday night. Under the ne Sox would have returned shall on Saturday.

EFENDING CHAMP ORCED TO LIMIT

okes under par for the Cherry Hills urse. He had to be to win. Sarazen, ho donned the robes of a P. G. A. gpin in 1922 for the first of three nes—about the time Nelson was a year-old boy—ended up three un- r par for the match.

That's golf in any league. Three tts on the 17th green cost Sarazen chance to fight it out on the last le. The number of the most color- performer in the field, old Plus urs Sarazen, didn't come up this ne. He missed a four-foot putt, easy ough for any dub to kick in.

While the Sarazen-Nelson duel pro- led the dramatic touches of age vs. uth, the Ghezzi-Mangrum encoun- furnished its thrills in a rousing neback by the Californian.

Playing in his first P. G. A. cham- onship, Mangrum's usually nerve- s game fell to pieces for the morn- round. Wild shooting forced him accept three penalty strokes. He s 3 down at the 18th, 4 down at 24th and 3 behind at the 30th.

He appeared hopelessly outclassed, stuck to it doggedly to win the d, 34th and 35th holes with 4s, last a birdie.

With the match deadlocked and the wd for him after the plucky come- k, Mangrum belted his drive some yards. It was too far. The ball led to the edge of the lake that es into the last fairway. He couldn't e a stance except by wading into ter and had to waste a shot chip- g back, so he reached the green 3. Ghezzi, meanwhile, hit his sec- l to the left of the green and pped up dead for his par 4.

Too much muscles put Mangrum of the running. Had the drive n 18 inches less he might have ned up as a finalist in his fresh- n year. Ghezzi floundered on five the last nine holes to card a 40. completed the 36 holes in 68-74— even par, against Mangrum's 73- 144.

and his running ability helped him get campus jobs.

"You'll never become a music teacher."

Coincidence seems to have played a large part in Archie's life. When he was eight years old he was severely injured in an accident, and like Cunningham, was told he never could run again. But he wouldn't take this dictum lying down. He began exercising, and by the time he was 17, the high school track coach, impressed by his constant neighborhood running, asked him to come out for track. The 4:40 mile he tacked up for Frontenac High school back in 1931 is still the best in the Kansas Mineral Belt league.

Since then, he has run a 4:07.2 mile, the third fastest ever run by a human. Incidentally, he thinks his N. Y. U. friend, young Leslie MacMitchell, is going to accomplish the much dreamed-of four minute mile one of these days.

Coincidence, too, got him his job in Cape Elizabeth. He was broadcasting about his track experiences, and mentioned that he wanted a music teacher job in some small high school. Norman Cole, superintendent of Cape Elizabeth schools, who used to be a pretty fair half-miler in his college days, was listening in. He dropped Archie a letter and the appointment followed.

Bach and Handel are San Romani's favorite composers, but he is partial to band music, too. One of his prime ambitions is to teach and direct a high school band of about 100 pieces.

"Now, that would be a thrill," he said with a smile.

Enriched Butter-Krust Bread Announced By Ouachita

NEW PRODUCT IS NOW AVAILABLE IN THIS SECTION

Formula Same As Recommended By Government For Better Health

The Ouachita Baking Company, which has been a leader in its field since its establishment here in October, 1924, has announced that a new, enriched Butter-Krust bread is now available for housewives, cafe owners and other bread users throughout northeast Louisiana.

The new Butter-Krust now includes energy-building vitamins and iron and is made by specifications recommended by the United States government, G. B. Watkins, president and general manager of the bakery, said. A similar formula is used in baking bread which is eaten by Uncle Sam's soldiers and the government has urged that commercial bakers also provide this vitaminized bread for civilians to build health and strength.

At considerable cost, the Ouachita Baking Company was the first to bring air-conditioned bread to north Louisiana. Other improvements have been made in the plant as fast as modern ingenuity has devised better methods for producing bread, and now another step has been taken in the production of a better product.

As explained by Mr. Watkins, the Butter-Krust formula meets the requirements proposed by the Committee on Food and Nutrition of the National Research Council for "enriched bread." Vitamin B-1 is needed in the diet for good appetite, proper digestion and efficient utilization of starches and sugars. Children require adequate amounts for proper growth. Nicotinic acid, which is another of the vitamin B group, and iron are both needed for maintenance of health and strength.

The new enriched Butter-Krust bread is baked to uniform perfection in the Ouachita Baking Company's modern scientific traveling oven, another improvement installed recently at considerable expense. The loaf travels, untouched by human hands, from the time the dough is mixed to the final process, under the most sanitary conditions, and in air-conditioned chambers, until it is finally wrapped in the familiar black and white wrapper and delivered to all parts of this section.

The bread is protected from impurities by washed air and, as stated, is prepared in air-conditioned rooms. It results in a superior product, with tenderer crust, a uniform loaf, richer, better flavor and smoother, creamier slices.

The efficient organization which Mr. Watkins has trained at the Ouachita Baking Company speeds Butter-Krust bread to all parts of northeast Louisiana. The territory covers an 80-mile radius and extends the Arkansas line south to Vidalia, and from the Mississippi river west to near Alexandria.

The company was founded here in October, 1924, by G. B. Watkins, Sr., who had had many years of experience with similar organizations in south Louisiana. G. B. Watkins, Jr., later assumed the presidency of the company and has been eminently successful in its management.

S. W. Rasberry, who has been with the company for 12 years, is secretary-treasurer of the firm. He formerly was with the company at Lake Charles. R. L. Farrow is sales manager. He has been with the company for 11 years, and is in charge of all route men and retail and wholesale sales. T. D. Tillman, who has been with the company for 12 years, is production superintendent. Better known as "Ted," Mr. Tillman is an expert in the production line, having had several years of experience elsewhere before joining Mr. Watkins' concern.

The Ouachita Baking Company also has the largest cake shop in northeast Louisiana, Mr. Watkins said. Although specializing in Butter-Krust bread, the firm bakes a wide variety of cakes and other confections, and has an attractive display room at their plant on South Grand street.

Mr. Watkins said the public is cordially invited to visit the modern plant at any time.

LITTLE BLUEJAY FIGHTS 100 FOLK

Eight Trying To Rescue Baby Bird Injured By Angry Mother

BROOKLYN, N. Y., July 12.—(AP)—It was one little bluejay against 100 residents of Wyona street yesterday, and the bluejay won—until two squad cars of police and an ambulance crew barged in.

Before the reinforcements arrived, the few ounces of feathered dynamite had inflicted eight casualties, and was daring the entire neighborhood to lay a finger upon a fledgling that had fallen from the parental nest.

The jaylet that caused all the commotion tumbled to the sidewalk during a premature attempt to fly and lay in fluttering helplessness while sympathetic citizens gathered around and made clucking noises.

Harry Nochimson, the first to feel the urge for action, picked up the baby bird with a tender stroking of feathers. The mother jay promptly dive-bombed him and he retired quickly with a bloody forehead. Meyer Miller next essayed the task of returning the youngster to the home hearth and his motives likewise were misinterpreted. Likewise, he fled hastily with blood streaming.

To the accompaniment of whizzing feathers, three other men and a woman were routed in similar fashion. Then came Anthony Guaraneiri, a real estate man who owns 19 pigeons, 10 rabbits, a pheasant and a cat and admits he likes animls. He tried tossing the jaylet back to the nest with one hand while fending off the attacking mother with the other. All he did was deflect the attack from himself to 10-year-old Eleanor Kaye who, for variety, got a seven-inch scratch on the arm.

That was enough for Wyona street. Simultaneous calls went out for police and for the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. The police apparently didn't know what to do about it but the society's agent did. He netted the jaylet and carted it off, to be cared for until it gains strength to fend for itself.

Eve Bradford's CHAT COLUMN

WHEN stately hollyhocks bloom along garden walls and blossoming crape myrtle trees encircle the city with flaming banners, then we know that July, the high-noon of the year, is trotting along toward the last month of summer.

We can remember when July was the month to be snoozed through in a hammock hung in a breeze. No time for snoozing this year. Everyone is on the move, imbued with the spirit of adventure. The open road beckons imperatively and the great army of vacationists seeks greener vales and cooler climes.

From the Atlantic to the Pacific, from the gulf coast to Canada, Monroe vacationists are flocking this year. Hungry for a change of scenery, for the sight of cloud-swept peaks, breaking waves, a tang of mountain air, they are leaving the city daily. Others are returning daily, refreshed and ready for whatever lies ahead.

Laura Johnson and Grace Mengis formed a congenial twosome vacationing in Los Angeles. They enjoyed the trip via motor and we venture to say there wasn't a single nook or cranny of interest along the way in which they didn't poke an inquisitive nose.

They dreaded the heat of the desert but imagine their delight when they found out that motorists could rent an air cooling machine for their car. They paid for the machine at the entrance to the desert and their money was refunded with the cost of rental deducted, at the other end.

Whatever became of that old idea that summer was a time when music teachers rested in preparation for the season ahead? Nowadays summer means chiefly a shift in the geographic approach. Estelle Sanders, whose voice to our way of thinking is beautiful enough as it is, will polish up what she calls her "rough notes," under Isaac Van Grove in New York City for the next three weeks. She is off today via the automobile route with three pupils, Johnette Register, Georgiana Williams and Marjorie Kalil. Mrs. Sanders has arranged for an audition with Van Grove for each one of them, including Polly Cole, who will fly to New York.

Before they return home they will visit Eloise Temple, who is studying this summer under Madame Louise Homer at Lake George. Through a stroke of good fortune Eloise was enabled to continue her work with Madame Homer this summer. Just when she had given up all hope, a telephone message from Madame Homer told of arrangements being made by an admirer who wished to keep his identity unknown. This benefactor whoever she or he might be, evidently sees the possibilities of Eloise's voice and desires to see her continue her work.

Mrs. Dean Selig and son, Jonas, are home from Los Angeles, where they attended the 22nd biennial convention of the National Federation of Music clubs. They drank in enough music to keep them happy for many days to come. Morning, afternoon and night they steeped themselves in music. At the Hollywood bowl they heard Nelson Eddy—they heard massed choirs—the Los Angeles Woman's Symphony orchestra—Elsie Houston, Brazilian soprano—Berly Rubinstein and Arthur Loesser, duo-pianists—the Brodetsky chamber music ensemble—Charles Kullman, tenor—Rose Dirman, soprano—Helen Jepson, soprano—Eudice Shapiro, violinist—and so on ad infinitum.

There are many mothers in Monroe today who envy Mrs. C. C. Carroll, whose son, Midshipman Charles Payne, selected her for his "sweetheart" at the ring ceremony at Annapolis Military academy, where he is a first classman. Only six mothers were present in that vast assembly of 1,200 "sweethearts." Girls arrived from the north, east, south and west. One girl was an attractive debutante from Honolulu who remarked to Mrs. Carroll that she was privileged to see her coming out party in colored moving pictures.

Mrs. Carroll, speaking of the ring hop at Annapolis, said: "This occasion has grown out of the sentiment attached to the class ring, one of the treasured possessions of each graduate. While each year's ring maintains the same general character showing the naval academy seal on one side and the class seal on the other with the choice of stone optional with each owner, the designs differ in detail with each class."

The occasion is distinguished by several extra-special features that set it apart from all other occasions, the various committees employing considerable originality to make it more unique than the one previous. The souvenirs for the "drags" (academy lingo) this year were quite unique, being scabbard and removable sword, bar pins of gold.

On that evening a preliminary reception was held for the officers of the class, the various committee chairmen and the guests of honor. This comprised about 15 couples. Mrs. Carroll attended this reception as Midshipman Payne is secretary-treasurer of his class. These guests, in couples, marched to the dining hall for the banquet to be seated at the "honor" table. Mrs. Carroll had the distinction of being the only midshipman's mother seated at the "honor" table, all others were "sweethearts."

The crowning event of the evening arrived when each couple mounted the carpeted dias and passed through the large gilded replica of the class ring, surmounted by a glowing globe of crystals that simulated the jewel. As each couple approached the archway, they took her host's ring, which she had worn tied around her wrist or her neck up to this time, and, suspended from a silken cord, she christened it by dipping it successively into three bowls, one containing water of the Atlantic, one of the Pacific, and one of the Caribbean sea, which symbolizes the journeys that lie ahead. She then placed the ring upon her host's finger, and together they passed through the archway—pausing to embrace each other. It is a very romantic moment especially if the "sweetheart" is presented with a miniature class ring which is considered an engagement ring. Mrs. Carroll saw several placed on the hands of sweethearts.

Another interesting feature of Mrs. Carroll's visit was her presence at Annapolis during Midshipman Payne's term of office as regimental subcommander, the second highest office bestowed upon a midshipman. Normally Midshipman Payne would graduate in June, 1942, but due to war conditions, the classes are being moved up and he is scheduled to finish December 19.

Everyone in Monroe who visits Mexico City comes back with thrilling tales of bull fights, glamorous cafe nights, drifting on barges laden with exotic flowers in the floating gardens at Xochililco, visiting sacred shrines and cathedrals where there is enough gold in the trimmings to float the national debt.

Of all the visitors, none are more enthusiastic than Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Rinehart, who recaptured some of the glamour of their courtship days at Xochililco, where they were serenaded in typical Mexican fashion as they drifted down the flowery stream.

Mrs. Rinehart said the motor trip to Mexico City was brimming with thrills. At Laredo the American way of life suddenly changes. Nobody hurries and nobody asks the time of day. There is almost nothing to the immigration inspection and not much more to baggage inspection, but everyone takes his time. From Laredo the climb is ever upward toward Monterrey, Mexico's greatest industrial center. The drive brings one to vast stretches of cactus, wasteland, dusty trails and sunlit tableland. There is an occasional settlement of adobe houses and children in rags run out to meet the passing motorists. The road winds to 3,500 feet in a little more than 50 miles. There is a continuous panorama of peaks in the distance, and an occasional stream where women are doing their washing and the men are in swimming. The motorist feels that he is reaching to the skies and then suddenly the drive is downward to Mexico City.

Mary Grace Lawn was as free as a bird when she visited New York this summer. In times past she spent her vacation brushing up on her music at the Julliard School of Music, but this year she decided to do the things she had always wanted to do but never before found time. She was a veritable butterfly winging her way from one musical to another and to all the good shows. She also sat under the stars and listened to Lily Pons, who sang at out-of-door concerts.

One of the nicest things that can happen to a temperate soul on a warm summer day is to be presented with a frosty glass of something or other in a shady garden where charming hostesses flutter around endeavoring to make guests comfortable.

Guests at a morning garden party at the Neil McHenry plantation home last week were encircled with blossoming crape myrtle trees. They ranged in color from deep pink to mauve with an occasional white blossom for variation. After motoring along a hot highway the frosted drinks were most refreshing.

Edith Rodriguez, her two children, Bill and Mary Gertrude, and her mother, Gertrude Mayfield Brown, are absorbing sunshine in the "Heart of the Hills" at Kerrville, Tex., where they are occupying one of those delightful cottages for the next six weeks. There will never be a dull moment for them as Edith has mapped out their plans as thoroughly as a general. They will take little excursions into Mexico and will do some surf bathing at Corpus Christi. Later they will be joined by William, who will spend his vacation with his family and enjoy the full calendar of events arranged by Edith.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED

Miss Johnney Horton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Horton, whose engagement and approaching marriage to Carlton C. Salley, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Salley, has just been announced. Miss Horton and Mr. Salley attended L. P. I. at Ruston. Mr. Salley is now associated with the state finance department in Baton Rouge.

Camp Waldemar Girls Entertained At Party

As colorful as a Mexican fiesta was the party at the Mouk camp in Moon Lake, planned by Mrs. Harold Mouk and Mrs. Elmer Slagle, for the entertainment of girls who will leave this week for Camp Waldemar.

The supper table developed in fiesta colors was covered with bright orange colored mats emblazoned with Mexican symbols and figures. The central decor was a wide, flaring wooden bowl filled with bright red peppers, and other vegetables associated with Mexico.

Following the supper hour the girls enjoyed boating on the lake and singing camp songs. Games were introduced later for diversion and prizes were presented to Mary Dixon and Jo Ann Biedenharn, and Jessie Lee Touchstone.

The following girls were present: Cornelia McHenry, Jessie Lee Touchstone, Mary Moss Madison, Louise Tisdale, Elizabeth Humble, Pauline Breard, Marjory Nicol of Ruston, Betty Jane Robinson of Bastrop, Arabella Bancroft, Sara Terzia, June Lewis, Rhoda Kellogg, Mary Dixon, Mary Anita Lennon, Barbara Todd of Tallulah, Sis Kilpatrick, Mary Alice Mickel, Esther Ewing, Nancy Ross of Mobile, June Sherousse of Gilbert, Ann Humphries, Mary Helen Walker, Betty Sue Jones, Jo Ann Biedenharn, Jerry Biedenharn, Betty Sue Shotwell, Clarice Slagle, Lee Slagle, Ann Brown, Frances Black, Marguerite Lamkin, Cleta Godfrey, Joan Boardman, Alice Mozelle Perry.

Assisting the hostesses were: Mrs. Melville Vaughan, Mrs. O. M. Grisham, Mrs. Robert Kellogg, Mrs. O. R. Lewis, Mrs. Kirt Touchstone, Mrs. Sam Humphries, Mrs. Walter Black, Mrs. Colvin Todd, Mr. Elmer Slagle and Mr. Harold Mouk.

Objectives Of Y. W. C. A Outlined By Mrs. White

Mrs. J. R. White, president of the local Y. W. C. A., in speaking of the work and purpose of the association says:

"There is a definite place in the Y. W. C. A. for young women in all walks of life. Although the Y. W. C. A. in small towns as a rule does not maintain their own home yet it occupies a firm place in the civic life of the community.

"The Y. W. C. A. takes on the character of the community of which it is a part, for its aim is to meet the needs of the girls and women of a given place and it is concerned with the welfare of people of the community. Its program includes an active interest in the conditions of life of people in all parts of the country and community. An adage about the Y. W. C. A. is that it exists to meet 'whatever the girls need most.' For this reason there is no one set program. The program originates through the needs and interests of the girls and women, which needs in the long run are more or less the needs of humanity. The Y. W. C. A. works on many things of concern to people of all ages. The program of the Y. W. C. A. is not composed of just things that will fill the time of meeting but of activity which meets the needs and develops interests in accordance with the Y. W. C. A. purpose which is: 'To build a fellowship of women and girls devoted to the task of realizing in our common life those ideals of personal and social living to which we are committed by our faith as Christians and in this endeavor we seek to understand Jesus and to share His love for all people and to grow in the knowledge and love of God.' Membership in the Y. W. C. A. is open to all women and girls in the community who want to belong, who accept the responsibility of carrying on its great heritage and work and accept its purpose. The Y. W. C. A. can carry on this great work of meeting the needs of girls and women in this local community through its participation in the Community Chest of the Twin Cities."

Mobile Kitchens Bought By B. And P. W. Clubs

Mrs. Mae McIntosh Modes, publicity chairman of the Monroe Business and Professional Women's Club, has just received word from national headquarters that three more mobile kitchens have been purchased with the federation's latest check for $4,500, covering members' contributions. That means American business and professional women have now provided eight motorized kitchens for relief work in devastated areas. The number tops by two the original goal of half a dozen based upon a request for a 25-cent contribution from each federation member.

And close on the heels of the check's writing, comes a letter from Caroline Haslett, chairman of the British ministry of Labour, whose advice and cooperation the American givers have been leaning on heavily. She points to an interesting new use to which the kitchens you have already sent are being put. The horrifying rate at which ships have been sunk means Britain must face the possibility of food shortages. Hence the growing and preservation of foods have become a major campaign.

"An organization called The Women's Institute is undertaking the preservation of the first crop throughout the country," explained Miss Haslett, "and jam will be made in all village halls and schools. But jam needs a lot of sugar, and we are short of sugar. Therefore, the surplus fruit must be bottled or canned.

"If we can fit up some of your mobile kitchens with portable canning and bottling apparatus, they could tour rural districts on a pre-arranged schedule and preserve the fruit crop. This winter we shall need every ounce of food we can get and we must not waste any of it.

"If this plan meets with your approval, would you be willing to send a sum for the purchase of canning and bottling equipment, or if necessary send some portable apparatus? There is a certain urgency in the time factor, because we must get going before the fruit starts to ripen."

Miss Haslett also asks if donors will be willing to let federation kitchens be used to supply necessary food and drink to workers in damaged factories.

"There isn't time for the workers to knock off and go in search of a midday or midnight meal outside the factory," Miss Haslett explained.

Eve Bradford's CHAT COLUMN

WHEN stately hollyhocks bloom along garden walls and blossoming crape myrtle trees encircle the city with flaming banners, then we know that July, the high-noon of the year, is trotting along toward the last month of summer.

We can remember when July was the month to be snoozed through in a hammock hung in a breeze. No time for snoozing this year. Everyone is on the move, imbued with the spirit of adventure. The open road beckons imperatively and the great army of vacationists seeks greener vales and cooler climes.

From the Atlantic to the Pacific, from the gulf coast to Canada, Monroe vacationists are flocking this year. Hungry for a change of scenery, for the sight of cloud-swept peaks, breaking waves, a tang of mountain air, they are leaving the city daily. Others are returning daily, refreshed and ready for whatever lies ahead.

Laura Johnson and Grace Mengis formed a congenial twosome vacationing in Los Angeles. They enjoyed the trip via motor and we venture to say there wasn't a single nook or cranny of interest along the way in which they didn't poke an inquisitive nose.

They dreaded the heat of the desert but imagine their delight when they found out that motorists could rent an air cooling machine for their car. They paid for the machine at the entrance to the desert and their money was refunded with the cost of rental deducted, at the other end.

Whatever became of that old idea that summer was a time when music teachers rested in preparation for the season ahead? Nowadays summer means chiefly a shift in the geographic approach. Estelle Sanders, whose voice to our way of thinking is beautiful enough as it is, will polish up what she calls her "rough notes," under Isaac Van Grove in New York City for the next three weeks. She is off today via the automobile route with three pupils, Johnette Register, Georgiana Williams and Marjorie Kalil. Mrs. Sanders has arranged for an audition with Van Grove for each one of them, including Polly Cole, who will fly to New York.

Before they return home they will visit Eloise Temple, who is studying this summer under Madame Louise Homer at Lake George. Through a stroke of good fortune Eloise was enabled to continue her work with Madame Homer this summer. Just when she had given up all hope, a telephone message from Madame Homer told of arrangements being made by an admirer who wished to keep his identity unknown. This benefactor whoever she or he might be, evidently sees the possibilities of Eloise's voice and desires to see her continue her work.

Mrs. Dean Selig and son, Jonas, are home from Los Angeles, where they attended the 22nd biennial convention of the National Federation of Music clubs. They drank in enough music to keep them happy for many days to come. Morning, afternoon and night they steeped themselves in music. At the Hollywood bowl they heard Nelson Eddy—they heard massed choirs—the Los Angeles Woman's Symphony orchestra—Elsie Houston, Brazilian soprano—Berly Rubinstein and Arthur Loesser, duo-pianists—the Brodetsky chamber music ensemble—Charles Kullman, tenor—Rose Dirman, soprano—Helen Jepson, soprano—Eudice Shapiro, violinist—and so on ad infinitum.

There are many mothers in Monroe today who envy Mrs. C. C. Carroll, whose son, Midshipman Charles Payne, selected her for his "sweetheart" at the ring ceremony at Annapolis Military academy, where he is a first classman. Only six mothers were present in that vast assembly of 1,200 "sweethearts." Girls arrived from the north, east, south and west. One girl was an attractive debutante from Honolulu who remarked to Mrs. Carroll that she was privileged to see her coming out party in colored moving pictures.

Mrs. Carroll, speaking of the ring hop at Annapolis, said: "This occasion has grown out of the sentiment attached to the class ring, one of the treasured possessions of each graduate. While each year's ring maintains the same general character showing the naval academy seal on one side and the class seal on the other with the choice of stone optional with each owner, the designs differ in detail with each class."

The occasion is distinguished by several extra-special features that set it apart from all other occasions, the various committees employing considerable originality to make it more unique than the one previous. The souvenirs for the "drags" (academy lingo) this year were quite unique, being scabbard and removable sword, bar pins of gold.

On that evening a preliminary reception was held for the officers of the class, the various committee chairmen and the guests of honor. This comprised about 15 couples. Mrs. Carroll attended this reception as Midshipman Payne is secretary-treasurer of his class. These guests, in couples, marched to the dining hall for the banquet to be seated at the "honor" table. Mrs. Carroll had the distinction of being the only midshipman's mother seated at the "honor" table, all others were "sweethearts."

The crowning event of the evening arrived when each couple mounted the carpeted dias and passed through the large gilded replica of the class ring, surmounted by a glowing globe of crystals that simulated the jewel. She then placed the ring upon her host's finger, and together they passed through the archway—pausing to embrace each other. It is a very romantic moment especially if the "sweetheart" is presented with a miniature class ring which is considered an engagement ring. Mrs. Carroll saw several placed on the hands of sweethearts.

Another interesting feature of Mrs. Carroll's visit was her presence at Annapolis during Midshipman Payne's term of office as regimental subcommander, the second highest office bestowed upon a midshipman. Normally Midshipman Payne would graduate in June, 1942, but due to war conditions, the classes are being moved up and he is scheduled to finish December 19.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED

Miss Johnney Horton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Horton, whose engagement and approaching marriage to Carlton C. Salley, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Salley, has just been announced. Miss Horton and Mr. Salley attended L. P. I. at Ruston. Mr. Salley is now associated with the state finance department in Baton Rouge.

Camp Waldemar Girls Entertained At Party

As colorful as a Mexican fiesta was the party at the Mouk camp in Moon Lake, planned by Mrs. Harold Mouk and Mrs. Elmer Slagle, for the entertainment of girls who will leave this week for Camp Waldemar.

The supper table developed in fiesta colors was covered with bright orange colored mats emblazoned with Mexican symbols and figures. The central decor was a wide, flaring wooden bowl filled with bright red peppers, and other vegetables associated with Mexico.

Following the supper hour the girls enjoyed boating on the lake and singing camp songs. Games were introduced later for diversion and prizes were presented to Mary Dixon and Jo Ann Biedenharn, and Jessie Lee Touchstone.

The following girls were present: Cornelia McHenry, Jessie Lee Touchstone, Mary Moss Madison, Louise Tisdale, Elizabeth Humble, Pauline Breard, Marjory Nicol of Ruston, Betty Jane Robinson of Bastrop, Arabella Bancroft, Sara Terzia, June Lewis, Rhoda Kellogg, Mary Dixon, Mary Anita Lennon, Barbara Todd of Tallulah, Sis Kilpatrick, Mary Alice Mickel, Esther Ewing, Nancy Ross of Mobile, June Sherousse of Gilbert, Ann Humphries, Mary Helen Walker, Betty Sue Jones, Jo Ann Biedenharn, Jerry Biedenharn, Betty Sue Shotwell, Clarice Slagle, Lee Slagle, Ann Brown, Frances Black, Marguerite Lamkin, Cleta Godfrey, Joan Boardman, Alice Mozelle Perry.

Assisting the hostesses were: Mrs. Melville Vaughan, Mrs. O. M. Grisham, Mrs. Robert Kellogg, Mrs. O. R. Lewis, Mrs. Kirt Touchstone, Mrs. Sam Humphries, Mrs. Walter Black, Mrs. Colvin Todd, Mr. Elmer Slagle and Mr. Harold Mouk.

Miss Josephine Elizabeth McCook To Marry John Lewis Low, Jr., Today

Ceremony To Be Held At Methodist Church

Many Pre-Nuptial Affairs Given In Honor Of Bride-To-Be Here During Past Few Days

A wedding in which the sincere interest of a wide circle of friends is centered will take place this afternoon at 2 o'clock when Miss Josephine Elizabeth McCook will become the bride of Mr. John Lewis Low, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Low of Laurel, Miss., at a ceremony performed by Dr. A. M. Freeman at the First Methodist church.

The wedding today is the climax of many charming prenuptial affairs given by hostesses during Miss McCook's engagement days.

Affairs of the past few days have been unusually enjoyable, prominent among them being the linen shower given by Mrs. S. W. Raby and her daughter, Frances, at their home Wednesday night.

Mrs. Raby received guests in a black sheer model accented with white. Miss Raby wore a white summery model. Miss McCook wore a crisp green dotted swiss frock with white accessories and white gladioli corsage. Her mother, Mrs. Rhes McCook, wore a beige sheer model with salmon gladioli corsage.

Tall urns filled with gladioli were placed in the reception suite where guests gathered for conversation and to watch Miss McCook unwrap her gifts of linen. Her gift from the hostesses was a pair of pale blue linen sheets.

Frosted fruit drinks, canapes, cakes, and confections were served in the dining room, where myriad red rosebuds formed the floral ornamentation of the refreshment table.

Among those present were: Misses Dotty White, Jean Graves, Nell DeLee, Carolyn and Virginia Husted, Monica Liles, Mildred Keller, Betty Rinehart, Jean Hale, Florence Fluker, Che [illegible] .kle, Patsy Slack, Nicky [illegible] argaret Butler, Ellen Hale, [illegible] olyn Oliver, Sue McBride, "Tweetie" Myers, Annie Lee Russell, Priscilla Butler, Mary and Sara Guy, Ma[illegible] affney, Martha Jones, Bitsy Mc[illegible] y, Mesdames E. R. Dawson, [illegible] McRaney, R. O. Ware, M. W. [illegible] mery, Rhes McCook, Rhes Mc[illegible] Jr., Ted Duckworth, and A. B. My[illegible]

Miss McCook shared honors with Miss Dorothy Dameron of Port Allen at the conversational hour given by Miss Sara Frances Hinkle at her plantation home Thursday.

Miss Hinkle wore a smart model of rust linen and white embroidered pique with a salmon gladioli corsage. Miss McCook wore a frock in which yellow, green, and brown were effectively combined and a white gladioli corsage. The other honor guest, Miss Dameron, was wearing a lovely pink sheer dress with matching pink corsage.

A green and white color scheme, appropriate for the country setting, was meticulously adhered to both in the floral decorations and the refreshments. Assorted sandwiches, cakes, and frosted drinks were served by Miss Patsy Slack and Miss Carolyn Oliver.

Tri-hostesses at a conversational hour Monday honoring Miss McCook were Miss Nell DeLee, Mrs. Billy Haynes, and Mrs. Ted Duckworth. Miss DeLee wore poudre blue swiss accented with crisp white embroidered organdie. Mrs. Haynes wore blue eyelet embroidered pique, and Mrs. Duckworth was dressed in a white shirtwaist frock.

The honor guest was charmingly gowned in a full-skirted blue model trimmed with white rickrack bows, with a corsage of pink carnations. Her mother, Mrs. Rhes McCook, wore a blue and white sheer gown.

Frosted drinks and sandwiches were served by the hostesses at intervals throughout the evening to Misses Frances Raby, Mary Hayward, JoAnn Guerriero, Patsy Slack, Mary Guy, Adelaide Parker, Veronica Wilds, Virginia Husted, Monica Liles, Dodie Hart, Carolyn Oliver, Margaret Butler, Florence Fluker, Che Che Hinkle, Martha Jones, Bitsy McHenry, Gail MacDonald, Mildred Keller, Neina McDonald, Priscilla Butler, Beverly Peevy, Nicky Nichols, Ellen Hale, Jean Graves, Dottie White, Barbara Sackett, Mary Inabnet, Jean Hale, Frances Smith, Carolyn Husted, Ella Mae King, Peggy McCrary, Mary Fudickar, Ann Carter Johnson, Annie Lee Russell, Mesdames Clarence DuBos, Rhes McCook, Jr., Rhes McCook, and S. B. DeLee.

Charles Wilds Marries Marie Elizabeth Perabo

Of much interest to friends in Monroe was the marriage of Charles Wilds to Miss Marie Elizabeth Perabo, June 30 in St. Louis, Mo. The account of the wedding which appeared in the St. Louis Daily Globe-Democrat follows:

"The wedding of Miss Marie Elizabeth Perabo, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Phil Perabo of Tupelo, Miss., and Charles Ernest Wilds Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ernest Wilds of Monroe, La., took place here yesterday morning at 9 o'clock at St. Mary Magdalene's Church with Rev. A. L. Stamm officiating.

Miss Perabo was escorted to the altar by her father. The bride wore an all white crepe, street-length dress cut on princess lines and trimmed at the neck and down the front with silk braid. Her shoulder-length veil fell from a small white turban, and she carried a nosegay of fever feu, larkspur and baby breath. Her only ornament, a gift from the groom, was an heirloom diamond and pearl brooch.

Miss Carolyn Perabo was her sister's maid of honor and only attendant. Her street-length gown was pastel blue with which she wore a crocheted Milan bonnet trimmed with brown quills. Her bouquet was of yellow daisies and baby breath, tied with yellow satin ribbon.

Mr. Wilds had as his best man Sam Walker of Monroe. The ushers were Phil Perabo Jr. of Tupelo, brother of the bride, and George Guider of Vicksburg, Miss.

Mrs. Perabo's gown was of white silk jersey with navy blue and white accessories. Her corsage was of tea roses. Mrs. Wilds chose a black lace dress and a large black and white hat and wore a corsage of gardenias.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George T. Desloge, 6807 Pershing avenue. After a short wedding trip the bride and groom will be at home at 3548 Sidney street.

Since her graduation from Maryville College of the Sacred Heart last year, Miss Perabo has made her home in St. Louis. Mr. Wilds is attending the school of medicine at St. Louis University."

Among the out-of-town guests attending the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Wilds and daughters, Veronica, Betty Jane, and Helen, and Mr. Sam Walker, Jr., all of Monroe, La.

Louisiana Works Are Popular At Library

Louisiana books and libraries are being mobilized to aid in national defense. Books and libraries contribute in all possible ways to the improvement of the democratic way of life, having not only the opportunity to increase the understanding of what democracy is, but of what its enemies are. Books giving facts about the present war and our country's relation to it are in great demand at the public library. Some of the most informative ones available now are: William Shirer's "Berlin Diary," "Diary of Ambassador Dodd," "Battle of Britain," "R. A. F. in Action," "The Darkest Hour" by Leo Lania, "All Gaul is Divided," "Union Now With Britain" by Clarence Streit, "Caribbean Danger Zone" by Fred Rippy, "This Is London" by Edward R. Murrow, "The Time Is Now" by Van Passen, "Why England Slept" by J. F. Kennedy, "United We Stand" by Baldwin.

"Berlin Diary" is a personal and revealing journal of William J. Shirer, Berlin correspondent for the Columbia Broadcasting system from 1934 to 1941. Unhampered by censorship, he tells the things he saw and experienced during the seven terrible years in which Hitler rose to power and conquered most of a continent. This outstanding book by a well-informed and competent observer is highly recommended.

Another interesting book "The R. A. F. In Action" gives a picture of the Royal Air Force in the first year of the war against Germany. It contains a summary of the year's unparalleled achievements—Dunkirk, the Battle of Britain, the Bombers' offensive. Adding to the value of the book are one hundred selected photographs illustrating each branch of R. A. F. activity.

Another new book appealing to both juveniles and adults is "I Go By Land, I Go By Sea," by P. L. Travers. It relates the story of two English children sent by their parents to Canada to find safety from air raids. Written in the form of ten-year-old Sabrina's diary, the story is told with delightful humor as well as with pathos.

Two thrilling new mysteries received this week are: "N or M?" by Agatha Christie and "Justice Be Damned" by A. R. Hillard. The latter is the winner of the Mary Roberts Rinehart Mystery Novel Prize contest.

Other new books are "Restless Are The Sails" by Evelyn Eaton, the Waits;" "The Long Chance" (Western) by Max Brand; "The Transposed Heads" by Thomas Mann; and Idwal Jones' "Black Bayou" a story of the moss-hung cypress marshes of Louisiana and of Egremont, last of the great sugar plantations of the Delta.

Chi Omega Members Guests At Breakfast

Breakfast at 9:30 o'clock Saturday morning at the Rendezvous was a charming interlude for members of Chi Omega sorority with Miss Jane Humphries, hostess.

The breakfast table, covered with white damask and adorned with beautiful garden flowers marked covers for two prominent sorority members from out of the city, Miss Jane Porter of Baton Souge and Miss Dorothy Dameron of Port Allen and the following local members including the hostess: Miss Kathleen Mize, Miss Sara Frances Hinkle, Miss Margaret McDonald, Miss Jean Pearce, Miss Mary Hayward, Miss Winnie Graham Breard.

Luncheon in the main dining room of the Frances Hotel last Friday was another charming compliment extended Miss Porter and Miss Dameron by Chi Omega members.

Miss Mamie McNeill left Saturday afternoon via Delta Airways for San Antonio and will continue her journey to Monterey, Mexico, to visit her sister, Mrs. Nela T. Evans, who makes her home at the Colonial Hotel in that city. Miss McNeill is anticipating the pleasure of motoring with her sister to Mexico City and to Acapulco, a beautiful resort on the Pacific coast.

Miss Willie Mae Cash is convalescing at her home, 410 South Fifth street, from a recent operation and will be glad to have her friends call.

Sergeant W. T. Bowles of Fort Benning, Ga., was the guest last week of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Bowles.

Mrs. Jettie Breathwit Marries R. F. Jones

Claiming the sincere interest of a wide circle of friends is the announcement of the marriage of Mrs. Jettie Ray Breathwit of this city and Mr. R. F. Jones of El Reno, Okla., Sunday morning, July 6, at the First Methodist Church parsonage with the pastor, Rev. A. M. Freeman D.D., officiating in the presence of relatives.

The bride, well known throughout this section of the state, was formerly associated with the public school system and for the past few months has been employed by the United States Selective Service. She was a prominent figure in Methodist church circles.

Mr. Jones is president of the Jones Furniture Company of El Reno where he and his bride will make their future home. He is past president of Kiwanis Club and is a member of the board of stewards of the El Reno Methodist Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Jones are spending their honeymoon in the Ozark mountains.

Miss Dorothy Carter Weds John Whitfield

Announcement is made today of the marriage of Miss Dorothy Carter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Carter, and John B. Whitfield, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. Whitfield on June 28. The ceremony was performed at the Farmerville Methodist parsonage with the pastor, Reverend William Byrd, officiating in the presence of a few intimate friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Whitfield are now at home to their friends at 408 St. John street.

Miss Helen Pott Weds Mr. McDuff At Winnsboro

A summer wedding of beautiful simplicity and much interest was that of Miss Helen Pott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Pott of Winnsboro, and Mr. A. Leslie McDuff, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jno. L. McDuff of Chase.

The ceremony was solemnized Tuesday, July 1, at 10 o'clock at the First Methodist church in Winnsboro, with the Rev. O. L. Tucker performing the double-ring ceremony.

Simplicity and solemnity characterized every detail of the impressive ceremony performed before the altar, with low white bowls of white gladioli, daisies and feverfew on the chancel rail. White gladioli and daisies tied with bridal tulle in white pedestal baskets were placed in the background. Fronds of lacy fern, tied with white bridal tulle marked the pews, reserved for the members of the two families.

Mrs. W. L. McDuff, wearing a blue linen lace model and a shoulder corsage of pink roses, presided at the piano. Mr. James Mays sang "I Love You Truly" and "Because." The bridal party entered to the strains of the "Bridal Chorus" from Lohengrin and "Liebestraum" was softly played during the ceremony.

Miss Mildred Pott, sister of the bride, served as maid of honor. She wore a dark eyelet jersey with white accessories and a corsage of pink gladioli.

Mr. De Marcus McDuff served his cousin as best man.

Her shoulder-length veil fell from a small white turban, and she carried a nosegay of fever feu, larkspur and baby breath. Her only ornament, a gift from the groom, was an heirloom diamond and pearl brooch.

Miss Carolyn Perabo was her sister's maid of honor and only attendant. Her street-length gown was pastel blue with which she wore a crocheted Milan bonnet trimmed with brown quills. Her bouquet was of yellow daisies and baby breath, tied with yellow satin ribbon.

Mr. Wilds had as his best man Sam Walker of Monroe. The ushers were Phil Perabo Jr. of Tupelo, brother of the bride, and George Guider of Vicksburg, Miss.

Mrs. Perabo's gown was of white silk jersey with navy blue and white accessories. Her corsage was of tea roses. Mrs. Wilds chose a black lace dress and a large black and white hat and wore a corsage of gardenias.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George T. Desloge, 6807 Pershing avenue. After a short wedding trip the bride and groom will be at home at 3548 Sidney street.

Since her graduation from Maryville College of the Sacred Heart last year, Miss Perabo has made her home in St. Louis. Mr. Wilds is attending the school of medicine at St. Louis University."

Among the out-of-town guests attending the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Wilds and daughters, Veronica, Betty Jane, and Helen, and Mr. Sam Walker, Jr., all of Monroe, La.

Miss Helen Pott Weds Mr. McDuff At Winnsboro

A summer wedding of beautiful simplicity and much interest was that of Miss Helen Pott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Pott of Winnsboro, and Mr. A. Leslie McDuff, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jno. L. McDuff of Chase.

The ceremony was solemnized Tuesday, July 1, at 10 o'clock at the First Methodist church in Winnsboro, with the Rev. O. L. Tucker performing the double-ring ceremony.

Simplicity and solemnity characterized every detail of the impressive ceremony performed before the altar, with low white bowls of white gladioli, daisies and feverfew on the chancel rail. White gladioli and daisies tied with bridal tulle in white pedestal baskets were placed in the background. Fronds of lacy fern, tied with white bridal tulle marked the pews, reserved for the members of the two families.

Mrs. W. L. McDuff, wearing a blue linen lace model and a shoulder corsage of pink roses, presided at the piano. Mr. James Mays sang "I Love You Truly" and "Because." The bridal party entered to the strains of the "Bridal Chorus" from Lohengrin and "Liebestraum" was softly played during the ceremony.

Miss Mildred Pott, sister of the bride, served as maid of honor. She wore a dark eyelet jersey with white accessories and a corsage of pink gladioli.

Mr. De Marcus McDuff served his cousin as best man.

Louisiana Works Are Popular At Library

Louisiana books and libraries are being mobilized to aid in national defense. Books and libraries contribute in all possible ways to the improvement of the democratic way of life, having not only the opportunity to increase the understanding of what democracy is, but of what its enemies are. Books giving facts about the present war and our country's relation to it are in great demand at the public library. Some of the most informative ones available now are: William Shirer's "Berlin Diary," "Diary of Ambassador Dodd," "Battle of Britain," "R. A. F. in Action," "The Darkest Hour" by Leo Lania, "All Gaul is Divided," "Union Now With Britain" by Clarence Streit, "Caribbean Danger Zone" by Fred Rippy, "This Is London" by Edward R. Murrow, "The Time Is Now" by Van Passen, "Why England Slept" by J. F. Kennedy, "United We Stand" by Baldwin.

"Berlin Diary" is a personal and revealing journal of William J. Shirer, Berlin correspondent for the Columbia Broadcasting system from 1934 to 1941. Unhampered by censorship, he tells the things he saw and experienced during the seven terrible years in which Hitler rose to power and conquered most of a continent. This outstanding book by a well-informed and competent observer is highly recommended.

Another interesting book "The R. A. F. In Action" gives a picture of the Royal Air Force in the first year of the war against Germany. It contains a summary of the year's unparalleled achievements—Dunkirk, the Battle of Britain, the Bombers' offensive. Adding to the value of the book are one hundred selected photographs illustrating each branch of R. A. F. activity.

Another new book appealing to both juveniles and adults is "I Go By Land, I Go By Sea." by P. L. Travers. It relates the story of two English children sent by their parents to Canada to find safety from air raids. Written in the form of ten-year-old Sabrina's diary, the story is told with delightful humor as well as with pathos.

Two thrilling new mysteries received this week are: "N or M?" by Agatha Christie and "Justice Be Damned" by A. R. Hillard. The latter is the winner of the Mary Roberts Rinehart Mystery Novel Prize contest.

Other new books are "Restless Are The Sails" by Evelyn Eaton, the Waits;" "The Long Chance" (Western) by Max Brand; "The Transposed Heads" by Thomas Mann; and Idwal Jones' "Black Bayou" a story of the moss-hung cypress marshes of Louisiana and of Egremont, last of the great sugar plantations of the Delta.

Miss Mamie McNeill left Saturday afternoon via Delta Airways for San Antonio and will continue her journey to Monterey, Mexico, to visit her sister, Mrs. Nela T. Evans, who makes her home at the Colonial Hotel in that city. Miss McNeill is anticipating the pleasure of motoring with her sister to Mexico City and to Acapulco, a beautiful resort on the Pacific coast.

Miss Willie Mae Cash is convalescing at her home, 410 South Fifth street, from a recent operation and will be glad to have her friends call.

Sergeant W. T. Bowles of Fort Benning, Ga., was the guest last week of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Bowles.

Mrs. Jettie Breathwit Marries R. F. Jones

Claiming the sincere interest of a wide circle of friends is the announcement of the marriage of Mrs. Jettie Ray Breathwit of this city and Mr. R. F. Jones of El Reno, Okla., Sunday morning, July 6, at the First Methodist Church parsonage with the pastor, Rev. A. M. Freeman D.D., officiating in the presence of relatives.

The bride, well known throughout this section of the state, was formerly associated with the public school system and for the past few months has been employed by the United States Selective Service. She was a prominent figure in Methodist church circles.

Mr. Jones is president of the Jones Furniture Company of El Reno where he and his bride will make their future home. He is past president of Kiwanis Club and is a member of the board of stewards of the El Reno Methodist Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Jones are spending their honeymoon in the Ozark mountains.

Impressive Ceremony Performed At Grace Church; Couple Goes To Gulf Coast On Honeymoon

Candles flamed high on the altar at Grace church, Tuesday afternoon, July 8, when Miss Marabel Allen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Allen, became the bride of J. Carey Nettles, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Nettles.

In the midst of the tapers pink roses overflowed from tall floor standards creating a most effective background for the ceremony performed by Rev. E. F. Hayward, rector of Grace Episcopal church.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a navy blue sheer tailleur with white felt hat and all accessories of white. Her bouquet was fashioned of stephanotis and valley lilies. For something old she carried the imported lace handkerchief that has been carried by generations of brides in the Allen family.

Immediately following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Nettles motored to New Orleans and the gulf coast for their honeymoon. Later they will motor to Langley field, Va., where Mr. Nettles is associated with the United States government.

The bride is a graduate of the Ouachita Parish High school and Northeast Junior college. For the past two years she has been associated with The Palace of this city.

Mr. Nettles is a graduate of the Neville High school and Northeast Junior college and received his degree in electrical and mechanical engineering from the Louisiana State university.

Mrs. Sims Entertains For Miss Laura Turner

Beautiful flowers were placed with artistry in the reception suite of Mrs. J. Vernon Sims' home when she entertained last Tuesday afternoon between the hours of 4:30 and 6:30 in honor of Miss Laura Turner, a popular bride-elect.

Miss Sue Williams, attractively attired in a semi-formal model of pink marquisette with pink gladioli corsage, assisted in receiving. Mrs. Sims, Miss Turner, Mrs. Clyde Turner, Miss Tommie Gaddis, Mrs. Jeff Hair, Mrs. Maydie Everett and Mrs. T. P. Wells stood in the reception suite.

Miss Turner, the guest of honor, wore on this occasion one of her loveliest trousseau models, a beautiful white embroidered eyelet very full as to skirt with a high neckline and trimmed with almond green bows. Her corsage was of pink carnations.

Other members of the receiving line and those assisting with the courtesies of the afternoon wore sheer floor length models of pastel shades with harmonizing corsages.

The highlight of the afternoon's entertaining was the viewing of the beautiful gifts which had been presented to the bride by her many friends. Noted among the wide selection were pieces of silver, china, linens, pottery and crystal in the "Dolly Madison" pattern. Mrs. Ernest Parra of Lake Providence, wearing a lovely afternoon frock, with yellow corsage, assisted in displaying the gifts.

A bridal theme was used in every detail of the candlelit dining room where guests were served iced fruit punch and individual wedding cakes. The table covered in pink and overlaid with a handsome Quaker lace cloth was draped at each corner with bows of pink and white tulle and had for central decor a miniature bride and groom in full wedding regalia standing on a mirrored plaque surrounded by bride's bouquets and wedding slippers filled with rice. Tall pink tapers burned in crystal candlesticks at the four corners.

The buffet was adorned with a low bowl of pink roses flanked by pink crystal candlesticks.

Mrs. Joseph Y. Kelly presided at the punch bowl and was assisted in serving by Mrs. Dee Hamilton and Miss Laura Mae Williams.

Fifty or more guests called during the receiving hours.

Miss Josephine McCook Honoree At Party Here

Informality was the keynote of the conversational hour arranged by Mrs. Rhes McCook, Jr., in her home Saturday night complimentary to Miss Josephine McCook.

Delicious refreshments were served from a spacious buffet in the dining room centered with a beautifully embossed cake surmounted with bride and bridegroom figurines. Ices and other confections were served with the cake cut by the guest of honor.

Mrs. McCook took this opportunity to present her guest of honor with a beautiful gift of silver.

Enjoying the courtesies extended by this gracious hostess, in addition to the guest of honor and her mother, Mrs. Rhes McCook were: Misses Jean and Ellen Hale, Mary and Sara Guy, Sara Frances Hinkle, Florence Fluker, Betty Rinehart, Frances Raby, Priscilla Butler, Mrs. Billy Haynes and Mrs. Ted Duckworth.

Miss Betty Jane Wilds recently left Monroe, to attend Camp Sequoia at Bristol, Va. She was accompanied to camp by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Wilds, after stopping first in St. Louis to attend the wedding of her brother, Charles Wilds.

Sergeant Randolph Hart, who is stationed at Camp Hulen, Texas, enjoyed a visit last week with relatives in this city.

Miss Helen Nowell, Clowe B. Smith Wed

Ceremony Performed At West Monroe Methodist Church Before Large Concourse Of Friends

The West Monroe Methodist church was the scene of an interesting nuptial event, when Miss Helen Elizabeth Nowell, daughter of Mrs. James Allen Nowell, became the bride of Clowe Bernard Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Cruse, July 9, at seven o'clock in the evening with Dr. C. Karlos Smith, pastor, officiating in the presence of a large concourse of friends and members of the family.

White wicker Princess baskets overflowing with pale pink gladioli were placed against a background of woodwardia fern and white wrought-iron candelabra in which burned cathedral tapers. The lighting of candles by the ushers, Leon Nolan and David Hunt, took place while the organist, Mrs. Raymond Spence, rendered a prenuptial concert. Mrs. Spence accompanied Miss Jane Smith, who sang "Because." During the ceremony, Mrs. Spence played MacDowell's "To a Wild Rose."

The bride, unattended, joined the bridegroom at the altar. She wore a distinctive Bahama blue model with full length, fitted coat with lapels of Irish lace. She wore an off-the-face hat of white straw with shoulder length blue veil and a corsage of orchids.

Immediately following the double-ring ceremony an informal reception was held at the home of Miss Helen Hunt. Mr. and Mrs. Smith were assisted in receiving by Mr. and Mrs. Cruse and Mrs. Nowell. Mrs. Cruse wore a black and white chiffon model and Mrs. Nowell wore a navy blue sheer model.

Beautiful flowers banked the mantels and were placed at vantage points in the reception suite and in the dining room where the bride cut the cake before departing on her honeymoon. The table was lace covered and florally adorned with a wide-spreading plaque of auratum lilies.

Miss Maud Brownlee and Miss Jane Smith presided over the punch bowls.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith are spending their honeymoon in the Ozark mountains. Upon their return they will be at home at 510 Hilton street.

Mrs. Smith traveled in a navy blue sheer ensemble with Alencon lace yoke and navy blue accessories.

Impressive Ceremony Performed At Grace Church; Couple Goes To Gulf Coast On Honeymoon

Candles flamed high on the altar at Grace church, Tuesday afternoon, July 8, when Miss Marabel Allen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Allen, became the bride of J. Carey Nettles, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Nettles.

In the midst of the tapers pink roses overflowed from tall floor standards creating a most effective background for the ceremony performed by Rev. E. F. Hayward, rector of Grace Episcopal church.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a navy blue sheer tailleur with white felt hat and all accessories of white. Her bouquet was fashioned of stephanotis and valley lilies. For something old she carried the imported lace handkerchief that has been carried by generations of brides in the Allen family.

Immediately following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Nettles motored to New Orleans and the gulf coast for their honeymoon. Later they will motor to Langley field, Va., where Mr. Nettles is associated with the United States government.

The bride is a graduate of the Ouachita Parish High school and Northeast Junior college. For the past two years she has been associated with The Palace of this city.

Mr. Nettles is a graduate of the Neville High school and Northeast Junior college and received his degree in electrical and mechanical engineering from the Louisiana State university.

Other members of the receiving line and those assisting with the courtesies of the afternoon wore sheer floor length models of pastel shades with harmonizing corsages.

The highlight of the afternoon's entertaining was the viewing of the beautiful gifts which had been presented to the bride by her many friends. Noted among the wide selection were pieces of silver, china, linens, pottery and crystal in the "Dolly Madison" pattern. Mrs. Ernest Parra of Lake Providence, wearing a lovely afternoon frock, with yellow corsage, assisted in displaying the gifts.

A bridal theme was used in every detail of the candlelit dining room where guests were served iced fruit punch and individual wedding cakes. The table covered in pink and overlaid with a handsome Quaker lace cloth was draped at each corner with bows of pink and white tulle and had for central decor a miniature bride and groom in full wedding regalia standing on a mirrored plaque surrounded by bride's bouquets and wedding slippers filled with rice. Tall pink tapers burned in crystal candlesticks at the four corners.

The buffet was adorned with a low bowl of pink roses flanked by pink crystal candlesticks.

Mrs. Joseph Y. Kelly presided at the punch bowl and was assisted in serving by Mrs. Dee Hamilton and Miss Laura Mae Williams.

Mrs. Sims Entertains For Miss Laura Turner

Beautiful flowers were placed with artistry in the reception suite of Mrs. J. Vernon Sims' home when she entertained last Tuesday afternoon between the hours of 4:30 and 6:30 in honor of Miss Laura Turner, a popular bride-elect.

Miss Sue Williams, attractively attired in a semi-formal model of pink marquisette with pink gladioli corsage, assisted in receiving. Mrs. Sims, Miss Turner, Mrs. Clyde Turner, Miss Tommie Gaddis, Mrs. Jeff Hair, Mrs. Maydie Everett and Mrs. T. P. Wells stood in the reception suite.

Miss Turner, the guest of honor, wore on this occasion one of her loveliest trousseau models, a beautiful white embroidered eyelet very full as to skirt with a high neckline and trimmed with almond green bows. Her corsage was of pink carnations.

Miss Josephine McCook Honoree At Party Here

Informality was the keynote of the conversational hour arranged by Mrs. Rhes McCook, Jr., in her home Saturday night complimentary to Miss Josephine McCook.

Delicious refreshments were served from a spacious buffet in the dining room centered with a beautifully embossed cake surmounted with bride and bridegroom figurines. Ices and other confections were served with the cake cut by the guest of honor.

Mrs. McCook took this opportunity to present her guest of honor with a beautiful gift of silver.

Enjoying the courtesies extended by this gracious hostess, in addition to the guest of honor and her mother, Mrs. Rhes McCook were: Misses Jean and Ellen Hale, Mary and Sara Guy, Sara Frances Hinkle, Florence Fluker, Betty Rinehart, Frances Raby, Priscilla Butler, Mrs. Billy Haynes and Mrs. Ted Duckworth.

Mrs. McCook was assisted by her mother, Mrs. L. L. Salley.

Welcome Garden Club Meets With Mrs. Clark

Members of the Welcome Garden club held their July meeting at the home of Mrs. W. D. Clark, 201 Parnell avenue, West Monroe, with Mrs. Jack Bagwell as co-hostess.

The day being unusually warm, the guests upon entering this hospitable home were invited to the dining room, where they were served frosted frappe from a crystal bowl placed at one end of the lace-covered table. Silver trays held a varied assortment of delicious little cakes. Mrs. H. V. Collins, club president, presided over the punch bowl.

After this short social interlude a brief business meeting was conducted by the president. The membership being so large it was decided to dispense with the roll call for the present.

Mrs. Vance J. Rhodes, chairman of the flower arrangements, reported after a conference with her committee that 10 points would be given for every entry of a specimen and 50 points for the most outstanding specimen. Points for artistic arrangements remain as previously decided and are to be classed as large, medium and miniature artistic arrangements.

The president appointed Mrs. D. F. Dennis and Mrs. Walter Fischer as the July visiting committee.

The meeting was then turned over to the program chairman, Mrs. Jack Bagwell, who introduced the hostess as the first speaker.

Mrs. W. D. Clark spoke on "Plants for Shady Places." One realized as she talked that she had really delved into books to obtain material to help those confronted with the problem of finding suitable plants for shady places.

Mrs. Clark gave as one source of her material the splendid book called "The Book of Garden Magic," by Roy E. Biles. This book is priced at $3.50 and is published by the Garden Aid Societ[illegible]nnati, O.

A[illegible] interesting facts gleaned [illegible]s. Clark's helpful talk are as [illegible]ws:

"[illegible]re are many shade loving pla[illegible]. However these often do [illegible] grow [illegible] in the shade because [illegible]r plant[illegible]d trees sap them. [illegible] is theref[illegible]dvisable to prune th[illegible] roots [illegible] trees [illegible] shrubs so as t[illegible] able [illegible] sma[illegible] shade loving [illegible]s to [illegible]. A[illegible] one must k[illegible] these plan[illegible] watered and fert[illegible]ed.

"Plan[illegible]owing in shaded areas are more susceptible to plant diseases and insects, therefore the good gardener will keep an eye open for these and use the spray.

"One finds broad leafed evergreens doing nicely and white flowered plants do better than colored ones, as usually the colored ones are rather pale. The red bud, dogwood and Jap maple are suitable for shade. Early bulbs do well. Day lilies require partial shade while the lovely rose pink lily known as Rain Lily and which reaches a height of from eight to 12 inches springs up over night especially after a rain.

"Grass seed for shady places is expensive since the seed is hard to obtain. However, it pays to buy this good seed and mix it at home with your standard mixture. The two varieties mentioned are the fine textured called Chewing Fescue, and the coarse called Poa Memoralis. As to vines the ivy is always suitable and the many varieties of honeysuckle and clematis. There are types for every spot. The clematis for instance needs its roots in full shade and foliage in partial shade. All ferns are suitable, including wood and tame varieties. There is a new variety of plant called Oregon pine which is similar to arbor vitae but is finer in texture. This remains green all winter unless the winter is too severe. Then it comes up again from the foot. If one wishes late pansies, plant in the shade. Forget-me-nots are good too. Ajuga, which resembles the grape hyacinth, grows low and multiplies rapidly."

Mrs. Bagwell next introduced Mrs. R. R. Pigott, a new member, who gave an illustrated talk regarding wild flowers. She had a container full of different specimens of wild flowers gathered on her farm and some of these were exceptionally fine and large specimens. Some of the plants and flowers shown and discussed were the rose gentian which is native to this parish, the broad-leafed cone flower belonging to the rutabaga flower family, horse mint which sort of vines on the ground, also a lovely tall growing grass belonging to the Yucca family, the sun flower, a dry pale yellow, and the wild variety of the blanket flower which is similar to our gallardia, the butterfly weed, and if these flowers are pulled off they'll keep blooming to reproduce themselves. Several different grasses bloom, a wonderful five part huge specimen of the milk weed pod; a very large Jack in the in the Pulpit. It's growth had almost Pulpit; and a specimen of the sour wood tree which is very fragrant and has red foliage from September to February.

During the question and answer period, a monthly feature of the club, one member mentioned that a splendid grass for shade is the St. Augustine grass. This must be purchased by the clump or root and can be purchased in Shreveport for $2.50 a bushel. It makes a wide bladed grass and is lovely when cut.

At the close of the meeting guests were invited to see the artistic flower arrangements made by the hostesses and which were placed advantageously throughout this lovely home. In the dining and living rooms were artistic arrangements of lavendar and purple gladioli.

In the master bedroom were arrangements in pink roses, pink snapdragon and lavendar phlox to blend with the pink and blue of the room. In another bedroom was seen a lovely arrangement of gallardia, daisies and gladioli.

In the kitchen were displayed the different arrangements and specimen entries made by members.

Before departing the approximately 50 members and guests were invited to inspect the adjoining gardens of the hostess and co-hostess and found them most artistic in arrangement.

DON'T LET
GRAY HAIR
RUIN your VACATION

Safe!

You can have a better time with young-looking hair. So, if you have gray hair, just wet it with Canute Water. A few applications will completely re-color it, similar to its former natural shade . . . in one day, if you wish. After that, attention only once a month will keep it young-looking.

Your hair will retain its naturally soft texture and lovely new color even after shampooing, perspiration, curling or waving. It remains clean and natural to the touch and looks natural in any light.

Skin Test NOT Needed

Canute Water is pure, colorless and crystal-clear. It has a remarkable record of 25 years without injury to a single person. In fact, scientific research at one of America's greatest Universities proved Canute Water to be perfectly harmless.

No Other Product Can Make All These Claims

Is it any wonder that we sell more Canute Water than all other hair coloring preparations combined?

Welcome Garden Club Meets With Mrs. Clark

The day being unusually warm, the guests upon entering this hospitable home were invited to the dining room, where they were served frosted frappe from a crystal bowl placed at one end of the lace-covered table. Silver trays held a varied assortment of delicious little cakes. Mrs. H. V. Collins, club president, presided over the punch bowl.

After this short social interlude a brief business meeting was conducted by the president. The membership being so large it was decided to dispense with the roll call for the present.

Mrs. Vance J. Rhodes, chairman of the flower arrangements, reported after a conference with her committee that 10 points would be given for every entry of a specimen and 50 points for the most outstanding specimen. Points for artistic arrangements remain as previously decided and are to be classed as large, medium and miniature artistic arrangements.

The president appointed Mrs. D. F. Dennis and Mrs. Walter Fischer as the July visiting committee.

The meeting was then turned over to the program chairman, Mrs. Jack Bagwell, who introduced the hostess as the first speaker.

Mrs. W. D. Clark spoke on "Plants for Shady Places." One realized as she talked that she had really delved into books to obtain material to help those confronted with the problem of finding suitable plants for shady places.

Mrs. Clark gave as one source of her material the splendid book called "The Book of Garden Magic," by Roy E. Biles. This book is priced at $3.50 and is published by the Garden Aid Society [illegible]nnati, O.

A[illegible] interesting facts gleaned [illegible]s. Clark's helpful talk are as [illegible]ws:

[illegible]re are many shade lovin[illegible] plan[illegible]. However these often do [illegible] grow [illegible] in the shade because [illegible] is plants [illegible]d trees sap them. [illegible] therefo[illegible] advisable to prune th[illegible] [illegible]ots [illegible] trees [illegible] shrubs so as t[illegible] [illegible]able [illegible] sma[illegible] shade loving [illegible]s to [illegible] A[illegible] one must ke[illegible] these plants [illegible] watered and fert[illegible]d.

"Plan[illegible]wing in shaded [illegible]reas are more susceptible to plant diseases and insects, therefore the good gardener will keep an eye open for these and use the spray.

"One finds broad leafed evergreens doing nicely and white flowered plants do better than colored ones, as usually the colored ones are rather pale. The red bud, dogwood and Jap maple are suitable for shade. Early bulbs do well. Day lilies require partial shade while the lovely rose pink lily known as Rain Lily and which reaches a height of from eight to 12 inches springs up over night especially after a rain.

"Grass seed for shady places is expensive since the seed is hard to obtain. However, it pays to buy this good seed and mix it at home with your standard mixture. The two varieties mentioned are the fine textured called Chewing Fescue, and the coarse called Poa Memoralis. As to vines the ivy is always suitable and the many varieties of honeysuckle and clematis. There are types for every spot. The clematis for instance needs its roots in full shade and foliage in partial shade. All ferns are suitable, including wood and tame varieties. There is a new variety of plant called Oregon pine which is similar to arbor vitae but is finer in texture. This remains green all winter unless the winter is too severe. Then it comes up again from the foot. If one wishes late pansies, plant in the shade. Forget-me-nots are good too. Ajuga, which resembles the grape hyacinth, grows low and multiplies rapidly."

Mrs. Bagwell next introduced Mrs. R. R. Pigott, a new member, who gave an illustrated talk regarding wild flowers. She had a container full of different specimens of wild flowers gathered on her farm and some of these were exceptionally fine and large specimens. Some of the plants and flowers shown and discussed were the rose gentian which is native to this parish, the broad-leafed cone flower belonging to the rutabaga flower family, horse mint which sort of vines on the ground, also a lovely tall growing grass belonging to the Yucca family, the sun flower, a dry pale yellow, and the wild variety of the blanket flower which is similar to our gallardia, the butterfly weed, and if these flowers are pulled off they'll keep blooming to reproduce themselves. Several different grasses bloom, a wonderful five part huge specimen of the milk weed pod; a very large Jack in the Pulpit. It's growth had almost Pulpit; and a specimen of the sour wood tree which is very fragrant and has red foliage from September to February.

During the question and answer period, a monthly feature of the club, one member mentioned that a splendid grass for shade is the St. Augustine grass. This must be purchased by the clump or root and can be purchased in Shreveport for $2.50 a bushel. It makes a wide bladed grass and is lovely when cut.

At the close of the meeting guests were invited to see the artistic flower arrangements made by the hostesses and which were placed advantageously throughout this lovely home. In the dining and living rooms were artistic arrangements of lavendar and purple gladioli.

In the master bedroom were arrangements in pink roses, pink snapdragon and lavendar phlox to blend with the pink and blue of the room. In another bedroom was seen a lovely arrangement of gallardia, daisies and gladioli.

In the kitchen were displayed the different arrangements and specimen entries made by members.

Before departing the approximately 50 members and guests were invited to inspect the adjoining gardens of the hostess and co-hostess and found them most artistic in arrangement.

DON'T LET GRAY HAIR RUIN Your VACATION

You can have a better time with young-looking hair. So, if you have gray hair, just wet it with Canute Water. A few applications will completely re-color it, similar to its former natural shade . . . in one day, if you wish. After that, attention only once a month will keep it young-looking.

Your hair will retain its naturally soft texture and lovely new color even after shampooing, perspiration, curling or waving. It remains clean and natural to the touch and looks natural in any light.

Safe!
Skin Test NOT Needed
Canute Water is pure, colorless and crystal-clear. It has a remarkable record of 25 years without injury to a single person. In fact, scientific research at one of America's greatest Universities proved Canute Water to be perfectly harmless.

No Other Product Can Make All These Claims
Is it any wonder that we sell more Canute Water than all other hair coloring preparations combined?

BANKING
IS O.K.

Because you can accumulate funds while your earning power is at its peak, banking for future security is a wise precaution!

But also important is the building of a secure spiritual life, so that when the pleasures of youth begin to pall, and responsibilities make a less active social life necessary, there will be not only love for one another and financial security to enrich life . . . but calmness of spirit and deep faith in the future as His hand guides it. You are never too young . . . never too old, to find peace and joy in the church of your faith, by regular attendance, at least each Sunday.

Miss Martha Carr And T. H. Fisher Married

Bride In Ceremony At Dayton, O., Is Widely Known Throughout Northeast Louisiana

The following account taken from the Dayton Daily will be of interest to a host of relatives and friends of the bride throughout north Louisiana:

"Early summer claimed one of the most prominent weddings of the year Saturday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock, when Miss Martha Carr walked to the altar in St. Pauls, Oakwood, to become the bride of T. Hart Fisher of Cincinnati.

"The bride is the daughter of Mrs. McIlwain Carr of Harman avenue and Lewis F. Carr of Northview road, and Mr. Fisher is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Teasdale Fisher of Cincinnati.

"The Rev. John Weaver of Troy read the Episcopal wedding service, following a program of organ music by Mrs. Ruth Servis Holland.

"Adding beauty to the chapel-like church room of St. Pauls, were St. Joseph lilies and baby's breath at the altar, on each side of which were five and seven-branch candelabras. In the chancel were huge oil jars filled with baby's breath, huckleberry foliage and woodwardia fern. Similar greenery was also used throughout the church.

"Seating the guests and preceding the bride and her attendants to the altar were the ushers. Timothy Hinkley, Bruce Embry, Charleton Fisher, Sanford Courter, Louis Johnstone, all of Cincinnati, and William Cook of Dayton. Albert Fisher, Jr., served as best man for his brother.

"The bridesmaids were the Misses Sylvia Reed, Marian Carr, Dottie Rehling, Carol Lauzon, Betty Houk, and Frances Fisher of Cincinnati. The maid of honor was Miss Alice Fisher, the bridegroom's sister, and Patsy Fisher, also a sister, was flower

The entire color scheme of the dding, including the gowns of the de's attendants, was green and ite, suggesting coolness. The gowns ere of white organdy with short eeves sweetheart necklines, fitted idr s and full skirts finished with w flounce edged in ric-rac braid. -rac also finished the sweet- necklines. The attendants wore lge pleated hats of white felt soft dressmaker details and ly open crowns and they carried ense gloriosa fern.

ne maid of honor was in pale green organdy made on the same pattern and her hat was of deeper shade green and she also carried green fern.

"The flower girl's frock was tucked white organdy with ric-rac trim on the neckline and buttons down the front. Her hat had an open crown and was of cartridge pleated felt and she carried a tiny bouquet of white flowers outlined with leaves.

"The bride walked to the altar in white organdy made with high round cordless neckline and a yoke outlined by organdy puffing, which created a heart-shaped trim. The sleeves were long and fitted and were slightly widened at the shoulder and were pointed over the hands. The gown had a fitted midriff and the skirt was full with a long train. She wore a long tulle veil fashioned from a Juliet cap of rare Duchesse lace which belonged to the bride's great-grandmother, Mrs. Preserved Smith, who was one of the early settlers of Dayton and Cincinnati.

"Guests were invited to the home of the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Sylvester Carr, on Northview road for a reception after the ceremony.

"White flowers and greenery were used as a background for the receiving line. Mrs. Carr, the bride's mother, received with the bridal couple and the bride's attendants in a gown of lemon yellow crepe of Bruyere design with the new sloping shoulder line, accented by tucks forming a deep V-yoke in the back. She wore a hat of matching felt, pill box shape, finished with a frothy sea foam green veil. Her corsage was of green orchids and she wore matching accessories.

"Mrs. Sylvester Carr, the bride's grandmother, received in a grey georgette dress with white flower design and a purple hat trimmed in violets. Her corsage was of white orchids.

"The buffet table was arranged in a pavilion on the lawn and was attractive with phlox, white delphinium and Canterbury bells and silver candelabras.

"Mr. and Mrs. Fisher left for a trip to the Smoky mountains. The latter's traveling ensemble was a suit of navy sheer with knife pleated skirt and a long torso jacket trimmed in yellow. Her hat was a navy off-the-face model with a navy veil.

"The bride is the granddaughter of Mr. John Russell McIlwain and the late Mrs. McIlwain of Mer Rouge, La., and Mrs. Sylvester Carr and the late Mr. Carr of Dayton, O."

ACHIEVEMENT NIGHT OBSERVED BY CLUB

The Okaloosa Home Demonstration club held its regular July meeting in the home of Mrs. J. E. Fletcher and was in the nature of an achievement night affair, Mrs. E. M. Frith, president, presided.

Four delegates, Mrs. E. M. Frith, Mrs. J. A. Kilpatrick, Mrs. F. J. Crowell and Mrs. N. L. Coon were named to attend the short course at Louisiana State university for farm men and women.

After the business session the meeting was given over to Mrs. Jewel L. McQuiller, parish home demonstration agent, who discussed "The Farm Homemaker Looks at Her Family Resources in the National Defense Program."

At the close of the meeting, those present enjoyed an achievement night picnic. Those attending were: Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Frith and children, Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Hobbs and family, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Kilpatrick and children, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Fletcher and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. N. L. Coon and son, Mrs. J. L. Hackworth and children, Mrs. F. J. Crowell, Mrs. Allen Crowell, Mrs. Fairchild, and Mrs. Jewel L. McQuiller.

EXPLOSION VICTIM NOW RECOVERING

W. S. Lambert, 33, of Monroe, is recovering from serious burns received when a tank of gas on a truck he was driving near Minden exploded on Tuesday. Mr. Lambert was rushed to a Minden hospital where he received prompt treatment.

The man's father, W. R. Lambert, returned Saturday from Minden and said that his son was resting well and his complete recovery is anticipated.

The tank on the truck that was being driven contained a gas reservoir which is used to supply fuel for homes that are located in the country inaccessible to a natural gas supply.

What caused the explosion is not known. The truck was a complete loss.

In Finland, only six persons own property valued at more than $700,000.

TUESDAY SET AS LAND DEADLINE

99 Per Cent Already Signed In Parish For Army Maneuvers

With a Tuesday deadline, 9,870 acres of land in Ouachita parish needed by the war department for the biggest war games in the nation's history still have not been covered by maneuver agreements, George D. Pipes, president of the police jury and chairman of the parish maneuvers council, announced yesterday.

Already 99 per cent of the desired land here has been made available for the army maneuvers, placing Ouachita among the leading parishes in the agreement project, Mr. Pipes said.

The remaining one per cent, though made up of small tracts, still is of vital importance to the war department, the parish chairman declared, urging every person who has not signed an agreement to do so before Tuesday. Maps of the area and plans for war games cannot be completed until the war department has permission to use all the land in the maneuver area, and one small tract may divide large ones and make them useless for army service, Mr. Pipes explained. Maneuver agreements, he said, are insurance against damage to land or property, for the government promises compensation for any loss or damage.

Parish and ward councilmen are pushing a house-to-house campaign in an effort to complete land acquisition before the deadline.

Ward 4 already has been covered, the first in the parish to finish up the agreement project. C. A. Kincaid, police juror, is chairman of the ward council, and J. B. Filhiol is vice-chairman of the ward council. Ward 9 almost is completed. Dan Owens, police juror, is chairman, C. A. Jordan, vice-chairman, and J. J. Jones, secretary of the ward council. Other wards are nearing completion, with Ward 5 lagging. Tom Hicks, juror and chairman of the Ward 5 council, plans to wind up the campaign by the deadline, and has asked for volunteers to furnish transportation.

Troop movements into Louisiana preceding the maneuvers are scheduled to begin July 25, making it imperative that agreements on the selected area be completed, Mr. Pipes said.

Miss Martha Carr And T. H. Fisher Married

Bride In Ceremony At Dayton, O., Is Widely Known Throughout Northeast Louisiana

The following account taken from the Dayton Daily will be of interest to a host of relatives and friends of the bride throughout north Louisiana:

"Early summer claimed one of the most prominent weddings of the year Saturday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock, when Miss Martha Carr walked to the altar in St. Pauls, Oakwood, to become the bride of T. Hart Fisher of Cincinnati.

"The bride is the daughter of Mrs. McIlwain Carr of Harman avenue and Lewis F. Carr of Northview road, and Mr. Fisher is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Teasdale Fisher of Cincinnati.

"The Rev. John Weaver of Troy read the Episcopal wedding service, following a program of organ music by Mrs. Ruth Servis Holland.

"Adding beauty to the chapel-like church room of St. Pauls, were St. Joseph lilies and baby's breath at the altar, on each side of which were five and seven-branch candelabras. In the chancel were huge oil jars filled with baby's breath, huckleberry foliage and woodwardia fern. Similar greenery was also used throughout the church.

"Seating the guests and preceding the bride and her attendants to the altar were the ushers, Timothy Hinkley, Bruce Embry, Charleton Fisher, Sanford Courter, Louis Johnstone, all of Cincinnati, and William Cook of Dayton. Albert Fisher, Jr., served as best man for his brother.

"The bridesmaids were the Misses Sylvia Reed, Marian Carr, Dottie Rehling, Carol Lauzon, Betty Houk, and Frances Fisher of Cincinnati. The maid of honor was Miss Alice Fisher, the bridegroom's sister, and Patsy Fisher, also a sister, was flower [illegible]

[illegible] The entire color scheme of the [illegible]dding, including the gowns of the [illegible]de's attendants, was green and [illegible]ite, suggesting coolness. The gowns [illegible]ere of white organdy with short [illegible]eeve[illegible] sweetheart necklines, fitted [illegible]idr[illegible]s and full skirts finished with w[illegible] flounce edged in ric-rac braid. [illegible]-rac also finished the sweet[illegible] necklines. The attendants wore [illegible]dge pleated hats of white felt [illegible] soft dressmaker details and [illegible]dy open crowns and they carried [illegible]ense gloriosa fern.

[illegible]he maid of honor was in pale green organdy made on the same pattern and her hat was of deeper shade green and she also carried green fern.

"The flower girl's frock was tucked white organdy with ric-rac trim on the neckline and buttons down the front. Her hat had an open crown and was of cartridge pleated felt and she carried a tiny bouquet of white flowers outlined with leaves.

"The bride walked to the altar in white organdy made with high round cordless neckline and a yoke outlined by organdy puffing, which created a heart-shaped trim. The sleeves were long and fitted and were slightly widened at the shoulder and were pointed over the hands. The gown had a fitted midriff and the skirt was full with a long train. She wore a long tulle veil fashioned from a Juliet cap of rare Duchesse lace which belonged to the bride's great-grandmother, Mrs. Preserved Smith, who was one of the early settlers of Dayton and Cincinnati.

"The bride carried an exquisite bouquet of stephanotis. She walked to the altar with her father, who gave her in marriage.

"Guests were invited to the home of the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Sylvester Carr, on Northview road for a reception after the ceremony.

"White flowers and greenery were used as a background for the receiving line. Mrs. Carr, the bride's mother, received with the bridal couple and the bride's attendants in a gown of lemon yellow crepe of Bruyere design with the new sloping shoulder line, accented by tucks forming a deep V-yoke in the back. She wore a hat of matching felt, pill box shape, finished with a frothy sea foam green veil. Her corsage was of green orchids and she wore matching accessories.

"The bridegroom's mother received in multi-colored print sheer with a white background, with purple and green predominating and a flowered hat to blend with the gown. Her corsage was of white orchids with purple throats.

"Mrs. Sylvester Carr, the bride's grandmother, received in a grey georgette dress with white flower design and a purple hat trimmed in violets. Her corsage was of white orchids.

"The buffet table was arranged in a pavilion on the lawn and was attractive with phlox, white delphinium and Canterbury bells and silver candelabras.

"Mr. and Mrs. Fisher left for a trip to the Smoky mountains. The latter's traveling ensemble was a suit of navy sheer with knife pleated skirt and a long torso jacket trimmed in yellow. Her hat was a navy off-the-face model with a navy veil.

"The bride is the granddaughter of Mr. John Russell McIlwain and the late Mrs. McIlwain of Mer Rouge, La., and Mrs. Sylvester Carr and the late Mr. Carr of Dayton, O."

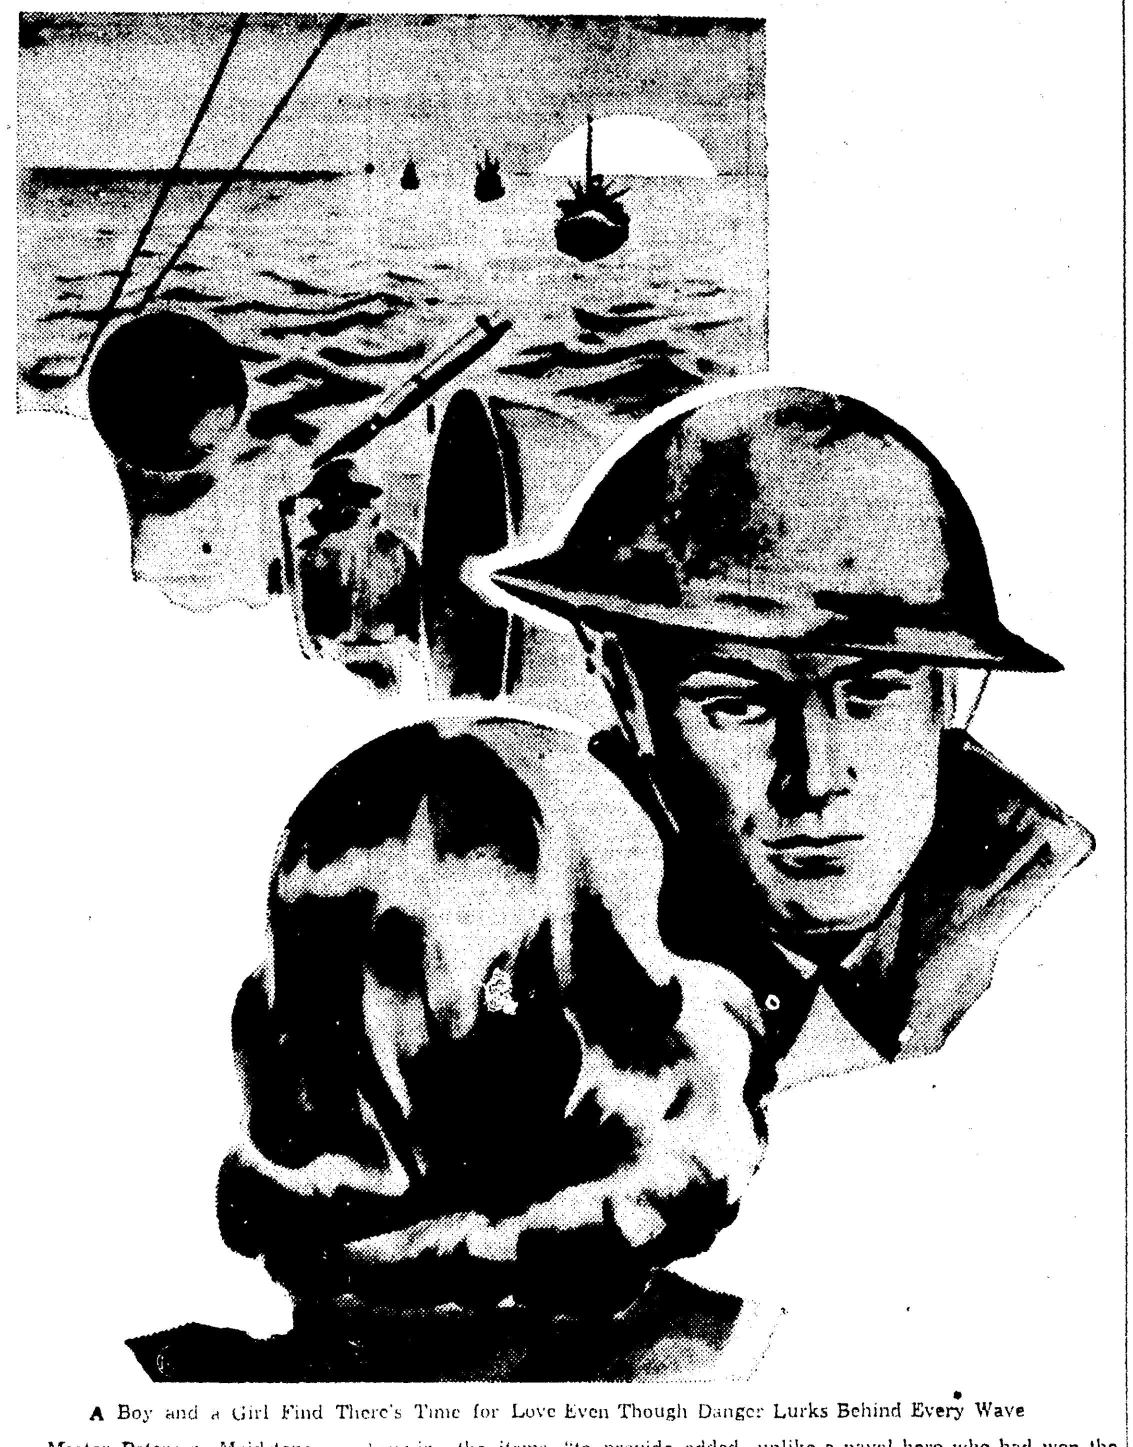
● SERIAL STORY

MURDER IN CONVOY

BY A. W. O'BRIEN

COPYRIGHT, 1941, NEA SERVICE, INC.



A Boy and a Girl Find There's Time for Love Even Though Danger Lurks Behind Every Wave

CHAPTER 1

"I regret to state, Gentlemen," said the commodore presiding at Troopship Convoy MX Conference, "that the British Intelligence has obtained positive information that a Nazi agent will be among the 20,000 troops sailing with us tomorrow . . ."

Across the expanse of mahogany table the Sea Dogs' bronzed faces failed to register any emotion. Only by their neglected cigar ashes and strained postures could you detect the suppressed excitement among the gathering of Canadian and British naval officers. Their gold-braided sleeves revealed three held the rank of captain. The speaker and one other were "Wavy Navy" men—admirals of 1914-18 who had taken voluntary demotion to commodore rank in order to serve again.

"This Nazi agent," the marble-faced commodore continued, "is reported to be a member of one of the units. It is obviously impractical at this late date to start an investigation of the 20,000 soldiers so he'll have to come along. His mission is possibly designed as a suicide chore—most likely to get information that will bring about an attack on the convoy.

"Sinking a troopship under full naval guard would undoubtedly please Mr. Hitler no end. Your alertness at all times during the voyage should prevent any such unfortunate occurrence. Now . . ." the commodore fingered a sheaf of papers.

"Now I have a surprise for you. There is lying in the basin a large merchant ship convoy waiting to sail. It will start at dawn. The 11 troopships will leave on a separate schedule later in the day and join the merchant men at a rendezvous as provided in your Sealed Orders and then take up Formation L . . ."

There was a murmur of protest. These Sea Dogs knew the perils of this unprecedented move—fast ocean greyhounds and ponderous freighters milling around perhaps in a heavy sea. The commodore let the kettle boil before resuming:

"It's unprecedented and the Navy realizes the task lying ahead [illegible] all part of a plan the [illegible] of which I am not at libert[illegible] divulge. I shall now usher in [illegible] captains of the merchantmen sailing with you for the purpose of discussing convoy de[illegible]."

The gold-braided officers rose as a group of weather-beaten skippers. Many fidgeting in unaccustomed starched collars and wearing shiny blue serge suits, entered the board room. Shyly they took the places offered them, and you could sense the common bond between these humble rulers of the plodding freighters and the neatly groomed commanders of the sleek warships. They were cooperating factors in keeping the Atlantic lifeline open.

The skippers to whom adventure had long since become routine found supreme satisfaction in every cargo delivered. The naval officers, they knew, stood ready to die in their defense. A lieutenant-commander called the roll in crisp tones:

"Master Lowestoft, Landover Castle . . . Master Peterson, Maidstone . . . Master Tangmere, Dover Queen . . . Master Samuels, Cheltenham Maid" . . . and, as he did so, each Master replied "Aye, aye, Sir!"

Four mimeographed sheets were passed to each man in the room. They carried the names of the vessels, the time schedule of leaving the basin, the time gap that would result if any ship failed to follow its preceding ship sharp on the minute, the course to be followed after passing the submarine gate, when the joint convoy would form and what signal code was to be followed in zigzagging across the ocean.

"The freighters take the outer lanes," the commodore stated in discussing the items, "to provide added protection for the liners. In return you will be protected by the heaviest naval escort in history!"

The commander of the Atlantic Coast was then called upon to describe the protective measures under his jurisdiction . . . the flights of Stranraer flying boats that would be combing the inlets while the minesweepers worked ahead of the convoy out of the harbor . . . the R. C. A. F. bomber-reconnaissance planes flying almost to mid-ocean as an anti-sub measure. He concluded by introducing Captain Leedscourt, V. C., who would command the escorting warships.

Captain Leedscourt was amazingly unlike a naval hero who had won the Victoria Cross in 1917 for sinking an enemy battleship in its home harbor by tying a torpedo to the side of a motorboat and entering under cover of darkness. Only about 43, he wore old-fashioned "sideboards" down each cheek. He flipped a white silk handkerchief from one sleeve and coughed into it lightly before arising to begin semi-apologetically:

"It will be my job, gentlemen, to protect you if attacked . . . "

Without employing a single excess word he outlined a plan of action "that has already met with considerable success." He explained that if attacked by surface craft he "would hit with the full force at my command while you must follow your Sealed Orders."

"And now you are asked to listen more closely—this is an important command to all cargo-carrying ships in the convoy as well as the troopships. If one or more of you should be attacked by a submarine, all other vessels must proceed at full speed AWAY from the torpedoed ship or ships, leaving the survivors to their fate—temporarily at least. The purpose is to curtail loss to an absolute minimum. Stationary ships would provide too good a target for even the poorest U-boat marksmen."

The commodore tugged at Captain Leedscourt's sleeve. They whispered together for a few seconds before the captain spoke again:

"I have just been reminded, gentlemen, that one of you ship masters commands a trawler . . ." He looked around the room. A deep voice boomed from the far corner:

"Aye, sir, I command the Loch Lomond."

The Scot's rich burr seemed to please the captain.

"My compliments, sir, to yourself and the good Loch Lomond. I'm sure any vessel bearing so stout a name would relish the task I have in mind. Would you volunteer to sail at the extreme rear of the convoy and pause to pick up any survivors in case of emergency? It is barely possible that a submarine would risk staying behind long enough to attack a trawler—that and the lowness of your vessel in the water would make the target a poor one for him. However, it is entirely voluntary and I cannot . . ."

The old tar was on his feet, beaming like a harvest moon:

"On behalf of the Loch Lomand, sir, I accept the post. She's always happy to help out the Navy!"

The room echoed with deep-throated, good-natured laughter. The friendly rivalry between the two services was never so superbly evident. The captain flashed a smile at the commodore.

"And the Navy is grateful," his tone sobered. "In conclusion, I must point out to you that should your vessel or vessels be overtaken by serious engine trouble, or should faulty navigation or bad weather cause you to lag behind the convoy, you must proceed as best you can to whatever port you may choose. The escort's duty is to remain with the main convoy and stragglers cannot be given protection.

"Somewhere around mid-ocean a heavy escort from the Royal Navy, probably accompanied by an aircraft carrier, will meet the convoy. They will relieve the Royal Canadian Navy escort as well as some of the Royal Navy ships assigned to special duties from this point."

The commodore took over.

"There is only one more matter to bring before this conference. You are under strictest secrecy orders in being informed that we have good reason to believe a very forceful attempt is to be made by the enemy at some time during this crossing to attack the convoy—and particularly the troopships.

"I cannot divulge any further details but the information is sufficiently urgent to prompt an order from the Admiralty that all freighter captains be given full opportunity to withdraw from the convoy without any reflection upon themselves. If they remain, they must do so under complete authority of the escort command and be prepared to sacrifice themselves, if need be, for the safety of the troopships. If any desire to withdraw, please do so now."

He looked around the room. No one moved. A salty smile wrinkled the captain's "sideboards":

"In which circumstance, gentlemen, I find nothing further to occupy this conference's attention other than the happier business of joining in a toast to our safe passage together. If you will all step into the lounge, you will find the essential liquids awaiting your pleasure."

FAMOUS CHOIR TO SING HERE

'Wings Over Jordan' Will Be Heard Today At Casino Park

"Wings Over Jordan," the famous nationally known 35-voice choir of the Columbia Broadcasting company, will be heard in person at Casino baseball park, Sunday at 7:30 p.m.

This colored aggregation will be accompanied by its founder, Rev. Glenn T. Settle, pastor of the Gethsemane Baptist church of Cleveland, O. Worth Kramer, former program director of radio station WGAR, Cleveland, and said to be the only white director of a negro spiritual choir in America, will lead the chorus.

The agency of Davis, Young and Powell is responsible for the appearance here. In spite of the full calendar, there are literally hundreds of communities throughout the country where thousands of citizens are awaiting to see in person members of the noted "Wings Over Jordan" radio choir.

This well known musical unit was originated three years ago by the Cleveland, O., minister. It was known originally as the Gethsemane choir. Director Worth Kramer of WGAR became enthusiastic over the organization's work and later scheduled them to provide music for the "Negro Hour" heard each Sunday over his station. Six months later this band of singers, augmented by several of the best singers in Cleveland became the feature of the nation-wide broadcasts of "Wings Over Jordan."

On this program was also inaugurated a distinguished guest speaker prominent in educational, religious and economic progress of the negro race.

Soloists to be featured Sunday night here are Paul Breckenridge and Albert Meadows, tenors; Olive Thompson and Martha Spearman, sopranos, and Willette Firmbanks, contralto.

DIRECTOR

WORTH KRAMER

These singers have been featured in over half a thousand concerts throughout the nation.

The choir passed through Monroe yesterday en route to Shreveport, and stopped at the G. B. Cooley sanatorium and sang several numbers which were highly appreciated by the patients. They sang four numbers at the colored building and three at the white ward. They ended their impromptu program with "God Bless America" amid the cheers of the patients.

YOO-HOO BATTALION RECEIVES CHALLENGE

WATSONVILLE, Calif., July 12.—(AP)—Non-coms of the 250th Coast Artillery at Camp McQuaide today challenged the 110th (Yoo-hoo) battalion, Camp Robinson, Ark., to a 15-mile march.

The Yoo-hoo battalion was ordered to hike 15 miles because its men whistled and yelled at a group of shorts-clad girls while passing a golf course.

Seventy non-coms of the 250th composed the letter to their fellows-in-arms.

"Dear Yoo-hoos," it said. "Out in this wild and woolly West our fighting men are fighting men, not panty-waists. Out here the girls yoo-hoo at us."

MURDER IN CONVOY

BY A. W. O'BRIEN

COPYRIGHT, 1941, NEA SERVICE, INC.

"I regret to state, Gentlemen," said the commodore presiding at Troopship Convoy MX Conference, "that the British Intelligence has obtained positive information that a Nazi agent will be among the 20,000 troops sailing with us tomorrow . . ."

Across the expanse of mahogany table the Sea Dogs' bronzed faces failed to register any emotion. Only by their neglected cigar ashes and strained postures could you detect the suppressed excitement among the gathering of Canadian and British naval officers. Their gold-braided sleeves revealed three held [illegible] rank of captain. The speaker and one other were "Wavy Navy" men—admirals of 1914-18 who had taken voluntary demotion to commodore rank in order to serve again.

"This Nazi agent," the marble-faced commodore continued, "is reported to be a member of one of the units. It is obviously impractical at this late date to start an investigation of the 20,000 soldiers so he'll have to come along. His mission is possibly designed as a suicide chore—most likely to get information that will bring about an attack on the convoy.

Bob Hope, Dottie Lamour Star In 'Caught In The Draft'

Buck Private Bob Hope at your service in "Caught in the Draft," starting today at the Paramount theater. Bob has just landed Dorothy Lamour, the colonel's daughter, and obviously has the situation well in hand.

George O'Brien in "Legion of the Lawless," showing at the Joy theater today, Monday and Tuesday.

'Under Age' Here Today At Capitol

Nan Grey And Alan Baxter Head Cast In Dramatic Thriller

SEARING expose of a vicious new racket, Columbia's "Under Age" opens on the Capitol Theater screen with a melodramatic intensity which makes it one of the season's finest eye-openers in entertainment, a motion picture that possesses everything, thrills, laughter, romance, tears, and meaning.

Brilliantly played by a splendid cast, with lovely blonde Nan Grey and sinister Alan Baxter in the dramatic leads, "Under Age" brings to the screen the refreshing charms of Mary Anderson, petite youngster who gave Martha Scott a run in "Cheers for Miss Bishop," and handsome newcomer Tom Neal, a lad with plenty of talent.

"Under Age" paints in vivid, suspenseful terms the tragedies which befall young girls, homeless and friendless, who finally are forced to aid a mobster ring, solely because they themselves want to live like human beings. Picked up by the gang, operators of a nation-wide string of motels, the kids are given the sweet little job of picking up lone automobilists and steering them to the combination hotel, restaurant and bar. Here the gang takes over, via blackmail, crooked gambling or theft.

Through a series of exciting scenes, the picture reveals how the girls finally turn upon their racketeer bosses, to bring the entire gang to justice. "Under Age" hits a new high in edge-of-the-seat excitement with its smashing surprise climax.

FAMILY REUNION IS HELD IN RAYVILLE

RAYVILLE, La., July 12.—(Special)—A family reunion was held the past week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mack Brown when a barbecue dinner was served.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs Mack Brown and family, Mrs. Jack Anderson and family, Mrs. Martha O'Neal and daughter, C. J O'Neal, Jr., and family, Mrs. Mae Porter and family, Mrs. Mary Welch, Jewel Neatheny and family, Mr. and Mrs. Elvis Neal, Mrs. Jessie Martin and daughters, Mrs. F. B. Nelson and Herbert Nivens.

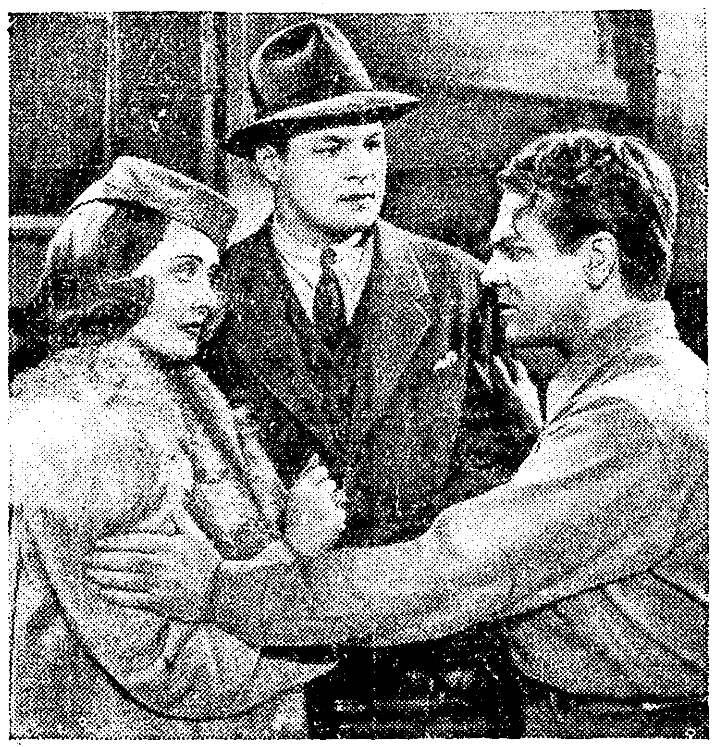
LARGEST PLANT

A bush 75 feet in circumference and 150 years old, located near Salisbury, N. C., is the largest single boxwood plant in the world.

"The Trail of the Lonesome Pine," in Technicolor, starring Fred MacMurray, Henry Fonda and Sylvia Sidney, plays at the Paramount theater Wednesday and Thursday. Also featured in this story of furious family feuds in midnight ambush are Fred Stone, Nigel Bruce, Beulah Bondi and Fuzzy Knight.

Judy Canova, a singin' and a singin' in her latest comedy vehicle, "Puddin' Head," plays Friday and Saturday at the Paramount theater. Helping Judy warble and get both in and out of predicaments are Francis Lederer, Raymond Walburn, "Slim" Summerville, Eddie Foy, Jr., and Alma Kruger.



James Cagney and Bette Davis, the two young people arguing in the foreground, are starred in "The Bride Came C. O. D.," the midnight show special for Saturday at the Paramount. The disgruntled young man in the rear is Jack Carson, who is prominent in the cast, as are also Stuart Erwin, Eugene Pallette, George Tobias, Harry Davenport, William Frawley, Edward Brophy, Harry Holman and Herbert Anderson.

Comedy Of Army Life Here Today

Riotous Sequences Included In Laugh Hit At Paramount

BOB HOPE, the man who always says a mirthful, is a buck private in Paramount's all-out comedy blitz on Uncle Sam's draftees, "Caught in the Draft," which comes to the Paramount Theater today. Dorothy Lamour, co-starring with the popular screen and radio gagsters in their fourth picture together, emerges as a new figure in the fashion world. For the screen's best "undressed" woman wears 22 changes of smart costumes and makes her first bid for another title, "The Screen's Best Dressed Woman."

The sparkling Hope-Lamour team is supported by two new comedy recruits, Lynne Overman and Eddie Bracken, who assist Bob in carrying out his one-man assault against orthodox army discipline and military tactics.

Keystone comedy-style tank chases, potato peeling and a wacky campaign to win Dorothy, the colonel's daughter, are only part of the rookie's gag routine that gives promise of something refreshing and hilarious to look forward to when Hope comes to town.

The Lamour allure, judging from her advance photos, seems to have climbed to a new thermometer high. In her fashion front garb, ranging from a negligee to an idea in bathing suits, she outstrips her nifties sarong, sinjang and "Road to Zanzibar" fern leaf costume. From advance news reports, Dorothy should have little difficulty in converting her screen role as "the sweetheart of the army" to the real McCoy.

Bop Hope has registered the only kick against the film.

"So far as I'm concerned, 'Caught in the Draft' is the greatest picture I've ever worked in—except for the ending," sighed Hope. "I wind up in the picture as a corporal! I wish they'd change it to a sergeant. Look at the corporals: First, we had Napoleon; then Mussolini; now—Hitler! I don't want people to get the idea that Hope is ambitious. I'm just a plain guy. AWL ISSUES TWO BUILDING PERMITS

Two building permits were announced yesterday by Sam H. Awi, city building inspector. C. M. Strauss received a permit to construct an addition to the one-story stucco residence at 1401 North Third street. Building, which includes the extending of the porte cochere to make a two-car garage, will cost $1,500.

A permit was issued to Frank Masling to construct a one-story galvanized iron building at the rear of 207 Apple street. The building will be used as a garage and storeroom and will cost $150.

Patricia Dane, Robert Sterling and Carol Hughes play a festive threesome of the night clubs in "I'll Wait for You," the new attraction playing at the Capitol theater Tuesday and Wednesday. Marsha Hunt plays the feminine lead in the picture, story of a racketeer who flirts with one girl too many.

Press agent Edward Everett Horton tells elevator operator Lana Turner that she has been selected as a potential Ziegfeld girl in a nation-wide hunt for the country's loveliest girls, in this scene from "Ziegfeld Girl," spectacular musical playing Thursday and Friday on the Capitol screen The news is not received with pleasure by Lana's boy friend, James Stewart, who fears that her success will bring about a rift between them

Roy Rogers and George "Gabby" Hayes provide thrills and exciteme their latest teaming western, "Sheriff of Tombstone," which plays S day at the Capitol theater.

Bob Hope, Dottie Lamour Star In 'Caught In The Draft'

Buck Private Bob Hope at your service in "Caught in the Draft," starting today at the Paramount theater. Bob has just landed Dorothy Lamour, the colonel's daughter, and obviously has the situation well in hand.

George O'Brien in "Legion of the Lawless," showing at the Joy theater today, Monday and Tuesday.

'Under Age' Here Today At Capitol

Nan Grey And Alan Baxter Head Cast In Dramatic Thriller

SEARING expose of a vicious new racket, Columbia's "Under Age" opens on the Capitol Theater screen with a melodramatic intensity which makes it one of the season's finest eye-openers in entertainment, a motion picture that possesses everything, thrills, laughter, romance, tears, and meaning.

Brilliantly played by a splendid cast, with lovely blonde Nan Grey and sinister Alan Baxter in the dramatic leads, "Under Age" brings to the screen the refreshing charms of Mary Anderson, petite youngster who gave Martha Scott a run in "Cheers for Miss Bishop," and handsome newcomer Tom Neal, a lad with plenty of talent.

"Under Age" paints in vivid, suspenseful terms the tragedies which befall young girls, homeless and friendless, who finally are forced to aid a mobster ring, solely because they themselves want to live like human beings. Picked up by the gang, operators of a nation-wide string of motels, the kids are given the sweet little job of picking up lone automobilists and steering them to the combination hotel, restaurant and bar. Here the gang takes over, via blackmail, crooked gambling or theft.

Through a series of exciting scenes, the picture reveals how the girls finally turn upon their racketeer bosses, to bring the entire gang to justice. "Under Age" hits a new high in edge-of-the-seat excitement with its smashing surprise climax.

FAMILY REUNION IS HELD IN RAYVILLE

RAYVILLE, La., July 12.—(Special)—A family reunion was held the past week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mack Brown when a barbecue dinner was served.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs Mack Brown and family, Mrs. Jack Anderson and family, Mrs. Martha O'Neal and daughter, C. J O'Neal, Jr., and family, Mrs. Mae Porter and family, Mrs. Mary Welch, Jewel Neatheny and family, Mr. and Mrs. Elvis Neal, Mrs. Jessie Martin and daughters, Mrs. F. B. Nelson and Herbert Nivens.

LARGEST PLANT

A bush 75 feet in circumference and 150 years old, located near Salisbury, N. C., is the largest single boxwood plant in the world.

"The Trail of the Lonesome Pine," in Technicolor, starring Fred MacMurray, Henry Fonda and Sylvia Sidney, plays at the Paramount theater Wednesday and Thursday. Also featured in this story of furious family feuds in midnight ambush are Fred Stone, Nigel Bruce, Beulah Bondi and Fuzzy Knight.

Judy Canova, a singin' and a singin' in her latest comedy vehicle, "Puddin' Head," plays Friday and Saturday at the Paramount theater. Helping Judy warble and get both in and out of predicaments are Francis Lederer, Raymond Walburn, "Slim" Summerville, Eddie Foy, Jr., and Alma Kruger.

James Cagney and Bette Davis, the two young people arguing in the foreground, are starred in "The Bride Came C. O. D.," the midnight show special for Saturday at the Paramount. The disgruntled young man in the rear is Jack Carson, who is prominent in the cast, as are also Stuart Erwin, Eugene Pallette, George Tobias, Harry Davenport, William Frawley, Edward Brophy, Harry Holman and Herbert Anderson.

Comedy Of Army Life Here Today

Riotous Sequences Included In Laugh Hit At Paramount

BOB HOPE, the man who always says a mirthful, is a buck private in Paramount's all-out comedy blitz on Uncle Sam's draftees, "Caught in the Draft," which comes to the Paramount Theater today. Dorothy Lamour, co-starring with the popular screen and radio gagsters in their fourth picture together, emerges as a new figure in the fashion world. For the screen's best "undressed" woman wears 22 changes of smart costumes and makes her first bid for another title, "The Screen's Best Dressed Woman."

The sparkling Hope-Lamour team is supported by two new comedy recruits, Lynne Overman and Eddie Bracken, who assist Bob in carrying out his one-man assault against orthodox army discipline and military tactics.

Keystone comedy-style tank chases, potato peeling and a wacky campaign to win Dorothy, the colonel's daughter, are only part of the rookie's gag routine that gives promise of something refreshing and hilarious to look forward to when Hope comes to town.

The Lamour allure, judging from her advance photos, seems to have climbed to a new thermometer high. In her fashion front garb, ranging from a negligee to an idea in bathing suits, she outstrips her nifties sarong, sinjang and "Road to Zanzibar" fern leaf costume. From advance news reports, Dorothy should have little difficulty in converting her screen role as "the sweetheart of the army" to the real McCoy.

Bop Hope has registered the only kick against the film.

"So far as I'm concerned, 'Caught in the Draft' is the greatest picture I've ever worked in—except for the ending," sighed Hope. "I wind up in the picture as a corporal! I wish they'd change it to a sergeant. Look at the corporals: First, we had Napoleon; then Mussolini; now—Hitler! I don't want people to get the idea that Hope is ambitious. I'm just a plain guy. I'm not campaigning to take over the Chamber of Commerce—even though they do keep on bragging about the weather!"

AWL ISSUES TWO BUILDING PERMITS

Two building permits were announced yesterday by Sam H. Awl, city building inspector. C. M. Strauss received a permit to construct an addition to the one-story stucco residence at 1401 North Third street. Building, which includes the extending of the porte cochere to make a two-car garage, will cost $1,500.

A permit was issued to Frank Masling to construct a one-story galvanized iron building at the rear of 207 Apple street. The building will be used as a garage and storeroom and will cost $150.

BRANTLEY GIVEN CHIEF'S BADGE

Gold Token Presented By Officers In Recognition Of Leadership

It was one of life's big moments for Acting Police Chief B. L. Brantley Wednesday afternoon when the officers of his department unexpectedly presented him with a gold chief's badge, a token of their recognition of his capable leadership and of their respect for him.

For 18 years the genial Brantley had been connected with law enforcement work; he'd seen a lot, but never had he been so surprised as when he received the badge, he declared.

Brantley, who has been connected with the Monroe police department since 1927, was promoted from night captain to acting chief some three months ago when Chief Frank V. Reitzell was called to active duty as an army captain.

Enforcement of law and order is Chief Brantley's very life—that plus his three-year-old granddaughter, Ann Johnson of Monroe. Too, he likes hunting and fishing, though he claims no laurels for either. In fact, the chief is some 250 pounds of modest man, which naturally caused him to appreciate the gesture of his men all the more.

L. T. I. BOYS ARE ENROLLED IN CCC

Five boys at the Louisiana Training institute were transferred to the CCC group on Friday which makes a total of 11 so assigned from the institute since the first of the year, stated Superintendent Elmer Slagle.

Mr. Slagle also stated that since the first of the year a total of more than 50 boys have been given paroles.

The boys are now in the midst of their work on the farm and other duties of midsummer, the superintendent said. They have found the natatorium of great value these hot summer days, Mr. Slagle said. Each dormitory is assigned several hours in which the boys from the building can avail themselves of the use of the pool, which is carefully supervised at all times.

Construction work on the $100,000 project approved by the government which contemplates the complete overhauling and improving of the buildings and grounds of the institute, is expected to start in a few days' time. Only minor details are now required, Mr. Slagle said.

MASTER MASONS TO MEET ON TUESDAY

All Master Masons of Monroe and West Monroe are invited to attend a meeting to be held by West Monroe F. and A. M. Lodge No. 419, in that city, Tuesday at 8 p.m.

Degree work will be given and there will be several speakers of note on the night's program.

Refreshments will be served at the close.

METAL CAMPAIGN TO HELP DEFENSE

Collection Of Spare Aluminum For Defense Needs To Start Here

Plans for the Ouachita civilian defense program are being rushed to completion before the coming maneuvers, Alan H. Black, parish chairman, stated yesterday following a committee meeting.

The first matter to be handled by the civilian defense group will be the aluminum collection campaign, scheduled to get under way Monday, Mr. Black announced.

The nation is appealing to all its citizens for their active assistance for the first time since President Roosevelt's declaration of a full national emergency—it needs aluminum for planes and other vital items in its defense program more rapidly than existing facilities can produce it, the chairman explained. Until the facilities being constructed can produce adequately, the people of the nation can help by donating all used aluminum-ware that can be spared from their households without being replaced, he said. Entire proceeds of the sale of the scrap metal will be used for civilian defense, Mr. Black indicated.

The government needs all discarded or used aluminum-ware that can be spared, without replacements, from homes, institutions, business houses and industrial plants, but does not ask for things that would require the purchase of new utensils, Mr. Black stated.

A central collection center will be designated, probably Ouachita Parish Grammar School, where interested persons can leave their contributions, the chairman said. Boy Scouts will have a leading role in the collection about Monroe and West Monroe, while Home Demonstration and 4-H Club members have pledged their support over the parish, Mr. Black said. Mrs. Jewel L. McQuiller, parish home agent, who is coordinating the activities of the parish clubs in the program, also promised the help of the Pilot Club, women's service organization of which she is head.

The American Legion will have charge of the air raid warning service, according to Mr. Black. Already 13 observations posts have been set up at strategic points over the parish, and some 15 men will be required for each post to man them 24 hours a day in shifts during the August maneuvers, the chairman indicated. Committee members directing the air raid warning service are C. B. Braun, Herman Mickel and Joe Trammell.

Carl H. McHenry, a member of the state committee for civilian defense, and Henry Hinckle also are members of the parish committee.

MR. ROSS BETTER

E. Hope Ross, 314 Thomas avenue, was reported greatly improved yesterday and able to receive guests. Mr. Ross underwent an operation June 26 at Vaughan-Wright-Bendel clinic, but now is at home.

HE'S ONLY 103, SEEKS FILMS

LEE POOLE

Only 103, Ambitious Negro Has Wish To Enter Films

Lee Poole Has Had Five Wives But Fails To Recommend Matrimony

Having lived through the administrations of all but seven presidents of the United States, Lee Poole, now 103 years of age, is ranked among the few centenarians in Louisiana. He is a negro, jet-black in color, residing in Monroe, and surprisingly agile for a man of so advanced age.

He was born in Union county, Alabama, in 1838, on a large plantation owned by a man whose surname Lee adopted as his own. Slavery of course was in vogue and he was one of many slaves owned. His master was kindly disposed and was sufficiently fond of Lee to retain possession of him, he having never been put on the auction block and even after slaves obtained freedom, he remained with his old master as a loyal subject.

He never went to school and hence never acquired knowledge of reading and writing but he was a husky negro and active in mind as well as in body as is still evidenced today, although depleted in physical strength by virtue of age, yet his mind is still active.

He has one desire that is still unsatisfied. He wants to go to Hollywood and appear in the movies. He thinks if his story and picture appear in the newspaper that he may be sought out for such honor.

Many years ago he left Alabama and came to reside in Louisiana, residing for these years in and around Monroe.

He has had five wives in his eventful life, now living with the last one. He resides near the Slagle-Johnson Lumber company's plant on the south side and walks frequently to the city to obtain groceries and then walks home again, a total distance of more than two miles. He is father of two children, he admits, but he does not know their present whereabouts.

He admits that despite the fact that he has possessed more wives than the average man ever acquires, that he is not so keen for marriage. He says that if he were free he would not marry any woman again no matter how opulent she might be.

He says that he is proud to see Monroe such a fine city and he takes a modest degree of credit for its growth, saying he helped the white folks build the city here. He recalls that he worked on construction of the first two bridges here, the railroad and old traffic bridges.

An old age pension in the sum of $8 a month furnishes the groceries that Lee and his wife require. He says that their food is only the plainest and plain food and regular habits are given credit for his long life.

His body is considerably bent with years, but he refuses to stay home, for he delights in getting out and seeing things, he says. And he still harbors a wish that Hollywood may yet seek him out for he really wants to participate in a movie film.

EXPLOSIVE WORKERS' POSTS ARE OPEN

The United States civil service commission announces open competitive examinations for the positions of senior inspector, powder and explosives, $2,600 a year; inspector, powder and explosives, $2,300 a year; associate inspector, powder and explosives, $2,000 a year; assistant inspector, powder and explosives, $1,800 a year; junior inspector, powder and explosives, $1,620 a year.

These jobs are for filling vacancies in the war department, throughout the Birmingham ordnance district which comprises the states of Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana and Mississippi for which applications will be rated as received until further notice. Applications may be filed with the manager of the Fifth United States Civil Service district, Atlanta, Ga., until further notice.

Full further information and application forms may be obtained from the secretary, board of United States civil service examiners, postoffice.

SANTA FE PLANS FOR SUMMER TRIPS

Preparations for handling the largest summer travel movement to Grand Canyon and California since pre-depression days are now being completed by the Santa Fe railway, A. A. Boyle, New Orleans, general agent for the railroad in this territory, recently announced.

The rail officials stated the Santa Fe will soon inaugurate increased rail service from various points on its lines and also introduce new, low round-trip fares to Grand Canyon and the west coast.

"Beginning June 6," he declared, "our service was augmented at several points over the far-flung Santa Fe system in anticipation of what we believe will be the most successful travel season in many years. Low fares to the tourist attractions of the west are also being announced."

He stated the increased rail service will include daily Pullman and chair car service from this territory to the west and will afford passengers en route to California an opportunity to stop off at the Grand Canyon.

"Grand Canyon and California are two of the chief tourist attractions on our line," Boyle declared, "and the number of persons visiting these scenic spots has been increasing steadily each year. Practically all of our passengers for the west include the Grand Canyon on their trip."

The Santa Fe official stated prospects for vacation travel this year appear much brighter than 1940, a banner year, and that in view of this the railroad expects to continue its new accommodations through the entire summer season.

PILOT CLUB IS TO GATHER ALUMINUM

The Pilot Club of Monroe, at a directors' meeting held the past week, voted to cooperate in every way with the Home Demonstration and 4-H Council in securing aluminum for national defense.

The Home Demonstration Council, at Saturday's meeting, outlined places in the parish where aluminum will be received and it will then be collected at some single point in the parish ready to be surrendered for government use.

The council named Mrs. Robert Cann and Mrs. J. S. Sims to represent the Home Demonstration Council at Baton Rouge when the short course is given.

DISCOVERER OF PERU HONORED

Event Most Colorful Held In Lima Since Eucharistic Congress

For the first time in history, the discoverer of Peru and founder of Lima, its capital, has been given due recognition. June 26 marked the fourth centenary of the death of Francisco Pizarro. All Lima, official and civilian—headed by the chief of state himself, Dr. Manuel Prado—turned out to do honor to a hero far too long ignored by history, particularly Peruvian history. The glamorous "City of the Kings" has not seen anything so colorful since the Eucharistic Congress in 1935.

A solemn requiem mass, at which the Archbishop of Lima, Pascual Farfan officiated, was celebrated before a packed cathedral, to the accompaniment of the Lima Symphony Orchestra. The choir sang "Hail Mary" at the tomb of the conquistador—in compliance with his dying request—which is in a chapel in the cathedral. The sarcophagus was covered with the black and red banner of the Order of Santiago, and the escutcheon of the Pizarros, while outside the cathedral two massive floral wreaths in the colors of the Peruvian flag were placed at his monument, gift of a famous American sculptress.

The highlight of the celebration, however, took place that evening at the Teatro Segura, again attended by personages high in government and society. As at the cathedral, the president and first lady were guests of honor, with the foreign diplomatic corps conspicuously present. Here Dr. Raul Porras Barrenechea, Peru's foremost historian and authority on frontier matters, who has spent the last eight years in Spain poring over yellowing documents dealing with the conquest of Peru, unfolded before a jammed, spellbound audience a Pizarro heretofore undreamed of.

Member of an old, distinguished limona family who originated from that part of Spain that runs to blondes and redheads, Raul Porras Barrenechea is a quiet, serious thinker and scholar of modest mien and great personal charm. One could not help being moved by his impassioned defense of Pizarro. Step by step, he went over Pizarro's entire career—from birth to death—repudiating, denouncing, explaining, clarifying the avalanche of stories, legends, distortions and lies that were written and circulated by Pizarro's enemies and followers impatient or envious of his success; as well writers and historians, particularly Anglo-Saxons, who were both misinformed and prejudiced against Spain and the Church of Rome.

Quoting at great length from notes taken from the documents in the archives of the Spanish government, Dr. Porras threw a new light on the history of the conquest of Peru. So convincing is his portrayal of Pizarro, the world may find it necessary to re-write the history textbooks dealing with Peru's conquest. It should be noted that Dr. Porras backs his arguments with conclusive evidence.

For instance, he shows that no figure in history has been so maligned, so treacherously treated by both friends and foes alike, as Francisco Pizarro. No figure in history has had such monstrous legends and fantastic lies woven about him out of whole cloth. Moreover, contrary to popular belief, no figure in history, particularly South American history, has been more humane, more charitable to both treacherous, ambitious fellow-conquerors, and equally treacherous conquered. As portrayed by Dr. Porras, Francisco Pizarro was a "man of sorrow," indeed, "who walked alone," unloved, unappreciated, misunderstood; sacrificing his life for an ideal—and for Peru.

Dr. Porras plans to write a book on Pizarro. Educators will find much valuable material in this new version of the Spanish conquistador. The Spanish government, in recognition of his arduous labor, has conferred on Dr. Raul Porras Barrenechea the Cross of Isabel the Catholic. Meanwhile, Francisco Pizarro, conquer of Peru and founder of the city of Lima, has come into his own at long, weary last.

BAPTIST TRAINING UNION COURSE ENDS

Rev. A. D. Langston, assisted by Miss Ethel Charey of Vivian, closed a highly successful training union study course at the New Light Baptist church, nine miles southeast of Monroe, Friday night.

The closing sessions were climaxed by the cutting of 17 huge watermelons at a picnic party held.

BRANTLEY GIVEN CHIEF'S BADGE

Gold Token Presented By Officers In Recognition Of Leadership

It was one of life's big moments for Acting Police Chief B. L. Brantley Wednesday afternoon when the officers of his department unexpectedly presented him with a gold chief's badge, a token of their recognition of his capable leadership and of their respect for him.

For 18 years the genial Brantley had been connected with law enforcement work; he'd seen a lot, but never had he been so surprised as when he received the badge, he declared.

Brantley, who has been connected with the Monroe police department since 1927, was promoted from night captain to acting chief some three months ago when Chief Frank V. Reitzell was called to active duty as an army captain.

Enforcement of law and order is Chief Brantley's very life—that plus his three-year-old granddaughter, Ann Johnson of Monroe. Too, he likes hunting and fishing, though he claims no laurels for either. In fact, the chief is some 250 pounds of modest man, which naturally caused him to appreciate the gesture of his men all the more.

L. T. I. BOYS ARE ENROLLED IN CCC

Five boys at the Louisiana Training institute were transferred to the CCC group on Friday which makes a total of 11 so assigned from the institute since the first of the year, stated Superintendent Elmer Slagle.

Mr. Slagle also stated that since the first of the year a total of more than 50 boys have been given paroles.

The boys are now in the midst of their work on the farm and other duties of midsummer, the superintendent said. They have found the natatorium of great value these hot summer days, Mr. Slagle said. Each dormitory is assigned several hours in which the boys from the building can avail themselves of the use of the pool, which is carefully supervised at all times.

Construction work on the $100,000 project approved by the government which contemplates the complete overhauling and improving of the buildings and grounds of the institute, is expected to start in a few days' time. Only minor details are now required, Mr. Slagle said.

MASTER MASONS TO MEET ON TUESDAY

All Master Masons of Monroe and West Monroe are invited to attend a meeting to be held by West Monroe F. and A. M. Lodge No. 419, in that city, Tuesday at 8 p.m.

Degree work will be given and there will be several speakers of note on the night's program.

METAL CAMPAIGN TO HELP DEFENSE

Collection Of Spare Aluminum For Defense Needs To Start Here

Plans for the Ouachita civilian defense program are being rushed to completion before the coming maneuvers, Alan H. Black, parish chairman, stated yesterday following a committee meeting.

The first matter to be handled by the civilian defense group will be the aluminum collection campaign, scheduled to get under way Monday, Mr. Black announced.

The nation is appealing to all its citizens for their active assistance for the first time since President Roosevelt's declaration of a full national emergency—it needs aluminum for planes and other vital items in its defense program more rapidly than existing facilities can produce it, the chairman explained. Until the facilities being constructed can produce adequately, the people of the nation can help by donating all used aluminum-ware that can be spared from their households without being replaced, he said. Entire proceeds of the sale of the scrap metal will be used for civilian defense, Mr. Black indicated.

The government needs all discarded or used aluminum-ware that can be spared, without replacements, from homes, institutions, business houses and industrial plants, but does not ask for things that would require the purchase of new utensils, Mr. Black stated.

A central collection center will be designated, probably Ouachita Parish Grammar School, where interested persons can leave their contributions, the chairman said. Boy Scouts will have a leading role in the collection about Monroe and West Monroe, while Home Demonstration and 4-H Club members have pledged their support over the parish, Mr. Black said. Mrs. Jewel L. McQuiller, parish home agent, who is coordinating the activities of the parish clubs in the program, also promised the help of the Pilot Club, women's service organization of which she is head.

The American Legion will have charge of the air raid warning service, according to Mr. Black. Already 13 observations posts have been set up at strategic points over the parish, and some 15 men will be required for each post to man them 24 hours a day in shifts during the August maneuvers, the chairman indicated. Committee members directing the air raid warning service are C. B. Braun, Herman Mickel and Joe Trammell.

Carl H. McHenry, a member of the state committee for civilian defense, and Henry Hinckle also are members of the parish committee.

MR. ROSS BETTER

E. Hope Ross, 314 Thomas avenue, was reported greatly improved yesterday and able to receive guests. Mr. Ross underwent an operation June 26 at Vaughan-Wright-Bendel clinic, but now is at home.

LEE POOLE

Only 103, Ambitious Negro Has Wish To Enter Films

Lee Poole Has Had Five Wives But Fails To Recommend Matrimony

Having lived through the administrations of all but seven presidents of the United States, Lee Poole, now 103 years of age, is ranked among the few centenarians in Louisiana. He is a negro, jet-black in color, residing in Monroe, and surprisingly agile for a man of so advanced age.

He was born in Union county, Alabama, in 1838, on a large plantation owned by a man whose surname Lee adopted as his own. Slavery of course was in vogue and he was one of many slaves owned. His master was kindly disposed and was sufficiently fond of Lee to retain possession of him, he having never been put on the auction block and even after slaves obtained freedom, he remained with his old master as a loyal subject.

He never went to school and hence never acquired knowledge of reading and writing but he was a husky negro and active in mind as well as in body as is still evidenced today, although depleted in physical strength by virtue of age, yet his mind is still active.

He has one desire that is still unsatisfied. He wants to go to Hollywood and appear in the movies. He thinks if his story and picture appear in the newspaper that he may be sought out for such honor.

Many years ago he left Alabama and came to reside in Louisiana, residing for these years in and around Monroe.

He has had five wives in his eventful life, now living with the last one. He resides near the Slagle-Johnson Lumber company's plant on the south side and walks frequently to the city to obtain groceries and then walks home again, a total distance of more than two miles. He is father of two children, he admits, but he does not know their present whereabouts.

He admits that despite the fact that he has possessed more wives than the average man ever acquires, that he is not so keen for marriage. He says that if he were free he would not marry any woman again no matter how opulent she might be.

He says that he is proud to see Monroe such a fine city and he takes a modest degree of credit for its growth, saying he helped the white folks build the city here. He recalls that he worked on construction of the first two bridges here, the railroad and old traffic bridges.

An old age pension in the sum of $8 a month furnishes the groceries that Lee and his wife require. He says that their food is only the plainest and plain food and regular habits are given credit for his long life.

His body is considerably bent with years, but he refuses to stay home, for he delights in getting out and seeing things, he says. And he still harbors a wish that Hollywood may yet seek him out for he really wants to participate in a movie film.

EXPLOSIVE WORKERS' POSTS ARE OPEN

The United States civil service commission announces open competitive examinations for the positions of senior inspector, powder and explosives, $2,600 a year; inspector, powder and explosives, $2,300 a year; associate inspector, powder and explosives, $2,000 a year; assistant inspector, powder and explosives, $1,800 a year; junior inspector, powder and explosives, $1,620 a year.

These jobs are for filling vacancies in the war department, throughout the Birmingham ordnance district which comprises the states of Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana and Mississippi for which applications will be rated as received until further notice. Applications may be filed with the manager of the Fifth United States Civil Service district, Atlanta, Ga., until further notice.

Full further information and application forms may be obtained from the secretary, board of United States civil service examiners, postoffice.

SANTA FE PLANS FOR SUMMER TRIPS

Preparations for handling the largest summer travel movement to Grand Canyon and California since pre-depression days are now being completed by the Santa Fe railway, A. A. Boyle, New Orleans, general agent for the railroad in this territory, recently announced.

The rail officials stated the Santa Fe will soon inaugurate increased rail service from various points on its lines and also introduce new, low round-trip fares to Grand Canyon and the west coast.

"Beginning June 6," he declared, "our service was augmented at several points over the far-flung Santa Fe system in anticipation of what we believe will be the most successful travel season in many years. Low fares to the tourist attractions of the west are also being announced."

He stated the increased rail service will include daily Pullman and chair car service from this territory to the west and will afford passengers en route to California an opportunity to stop off at the Grand Canyon.

"Grand Canyon and California are two of the chief tourist attractions on our line," Boyle declared, "and the number of persons visiting these scenic spots has been increasing steadily each year. Practically all of our passengers for the west include the Grand Canyon on their trip."

The Santa Fe official stated prospects for vacation travel this year appear much brighter than 1940, a banner year, and that in view of this the railroad expects to continue its new accommodations through the entire summer season.

PILOT CLUB IS TO GATHER ALUMINUM

The Pilot Club of Monroe, at a directors' meeting held the past week, voted to cooperate in every way with the Home Demonstration and 4-H Council in securing aluminum for national defense.

The Home Demonstration Council, at Saturday's meeting, outlined places in the parish where aluminum will be received and it will then be collected at some single point in the parish ready to be surrendered for government use.

The council named Mrs. Robert Cann and Mrs. J. S. Sims to represent the Home Demonstration Council at Baton Rouge when the short course is given.

DISCOVERER OF PERU HONORED

Event Most Colorful Held In Lima Since Eucharistic Congress

For the first time in history, the discoverer of Peru and founder of Lima, its capital, has been given due recognition. June 26 marked the fourth centenary of the death of Francisco Pizarro. All Lima, official and civilian—headed by the chief of state himself, Dr. Manuel Prado—turned out to do honor to a hero far too long ignored by history, particularly Peruvian history. The glamorous "City of the Kings" has not seen anything so colorful since the Eucharistic Congress in 1935.

A solemn requiem mass, at which the Archbishop of Lima, Pascual Farfan officiated, was celebrated before a packed cathedral, to the accompaniment of the Lima Symphony Orchestra. The choir sang "Hail Mary" at the tomb of the conquistador—in compliance with his dying request—which is in a chapel in the cathedral. The sarcophagus was covered with the black and red banner of the Order of Santiago, and the escutcheon of the Pizarros, while outside the cathedral two massive floral wreaths in the colors of the Peruvian flag were placed at his monument, gift of a famous American sculptress.

The highlight of the celebration, however, took place that evening at the Teatro Segura, again attended by personages high in government and society. As at the cathedral, the president and first lady were guests of honor, with the foreign diplomatic corps conspicuously present. Here Dr. Raul Porras Barrenechea, Peru's foremost historian and authority on frontier matters, who has spent the last eight years in Spain poring over yellowing documents dealing with the conquest of Peru, unfolded before a Pijammed, spellbound audience a zarro heretofore undreamed of.

Member of an old, distinguished limona family who originated from that part of Spain that runs to blondes and redheads, Raul Porras Barrenechea is a quiet, serious thinker and scholar of modest mien and great personal charm. One could not help being moved by his impassioned defense of Pizarro. Step by step, he went over Pizarro's entire career—from birth to death—repudiating, denouncing, explaining, clarifying the avalanche of stories, legends, distortions and lies that were written and circulated by Pizarro's enemies and followers impatient or envious of his success; as well writers and historians, particularly Anglo-Saxons, who were both misinformed and prejudiced against Spain and the Church of Rome.

Quoting at great length from notes taken from the documents in the archives of the Spanish government, Dr. Porras threw a new light on the history of the conquest of Peru. So convincing is his portrayal of Pizarro, the world may find it necessary to re-write the history textbooks dealing with Peru's conquest. It should be noted that Dr. Porras backs his arguments with conclusive evidence.

For instance, he shows that no figure in history has been so maligned, so treacherously treated by both friends and foes alike, as Francisco Pizarro. No figure in history has had such monstrous legends and fantastic lies woven about him out of whole cloth. Moreover, contrary to popular belief, no figure in history, particularly South American history, has been more humane, more charitable to both treacherous, ambitious fellow-conquerors, and equally treacherous conquered. As portrayed by Dr. Porras, Francisco Pizarro was a "man of sorrow," indeed, "who walked alone," unloved, unappreciated, misunderstood; sacrificing his life for an ideal—and for Peru.

Dr. Porras plans to write a book on Pizarro. Educators will find much valuable material in this new version of the Spanish conquistador. The Spanish government, in recognition of his arduous labor, has conferred on Dr. Raul Porras Barrenechea the Cross of Isabel the Catholic. Meanwhile, Francisco Pizarro, conquer of Peru and founder of the city of Lima, has come into his own at long, weary last.

BAPTIST TRAINING UNION COURSE ENDS

Rev. A. D. Langston, assisted by Miss Ethel Charey of Vivian, closed a highly successful training union study course at the New Light Baptist church, nine miles southeast of Monroe, Friday night.

The closing sessions were climaxed by the cutting of 17 huge watermelons at a picnic party held.

PA IS AMUSED AT THE IDEA OF THE GIRLS "ROUGHING IT" THIS SUMMER!
HAW-HAW! WHEN THEY GOIN'??
IN THE MORNING! -YOU'LL TAKE THEM, OF COURSE-??
OH-SURE! THEY'LL PROBABLY HAVE A LOT O'FUN! GIRL SCOUT STUFF IS SWELL FOR BUILDING CHARACTER!
WE'LL GET AN IDEA HOW OUR FOREFATHERS DID IT, MICKEY!
HAW-HAW- (BLUB)
BE REASONABLE, PA!
WE'LL STALK WILD GAME LIKE THEY DID AND SHOOT THEM
OF COURSE, OUR AMMUNITION WILL BE A LITTLE MORE MODERN!
JUNIOR FASHION EDITORS DIXIE'S NIGHTIE, IN A DELIGHTFUL WILD ROSE PRINT, DESIGNED BY MARJORIE TIMMONS, SOUTH BEND, IND. MICKEY'S GOWN BY ELAINE TISHIM, WAUWATOSA, WISCONSIN, IS A LOVELY EXAMPLE OF WHAT YOU CAN DO WITH APPLIQUÉ, AND YOU'LL BE DOING THINGS WITH IT THIS SUMMER, BECAUSE IT'S MORE POPULAR THAN EVER BEFORE.

BY PRETENDING SHE IS THE WIDOW OF JIM BRADLEY, DROWNED OFF THORSON'S ISLAND, KITTY GAINS ADMITTANCE TO THORSON'S HOME—
THAT NIGHT, THORSON AND HIS SECRETARY WORK LATE—"THANK YOU, SASHA," HE SAYS, FINALLY. "YOU CAN KNOCK OFF NOW. BEFORE YOU RETIRE, LOOK IN ON MRS. BRADLEY, WILL YOU?"
PASSING THROUGH THE HALL, SASHA STOPS TO PICK UP A HANDKERCHIEF--EMBROIDERED WITH THE NAME OF KITTY ST. JOHN! "MRS. BRADLEY," SAYS SASHA, BITTERLY, "SHOULDN'T BE SUCH A CARELESS FOOL!"
MEANWHILE, JIM RECONNOITERS THORSON'S HOME---THE SOUND OF WEEPING CAUSES HIM TO DODGE BEHIND SOME SHRUBBERY---
THE FULL MOON REVEALS A DARK GIRL, SOBBING AS IF HER HEART WOULD BREAK. AS JIM STUDIES HER FEATURES, A SHOCK RUNS THROUGH HIM—"NO!" HE GASPS, "NO--IT CAN'T BE---"
